

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD.

SATURDAY..... SEPTEMBER 10, 1887.

Gen. Tuttle's Record.

In the records of the War Department at Washington is this official report on Tuttle, the Iowa patriot, who founded the custom of insulting the President. The document in question is a report of inspection of the post of Natchez, Miss., where General Tuttle was in command in April and May, 1864, which was made by Major General N. J. T. Dana, special inspector, July 20, 1864. In the course of this report General Dana said:

It is not to be concealed that the frequent change of commanders and the neglect of one of them, at least (Brigadier General Tuttle, lately resigned), whose attention is represented to have been engaged by efforts for personal gain, has operated to effect a destruction of discipline and order in the command, which has resulted in all the evils and abuses consequent on relaxation and on men following the example of cowardly officers. I have mentioned Brigadier General Tuttle—he has resigned—and as his administration here occurred prior to the organization of the military division of West Mississippi, I have not thought proper to take testimony as to his conduct, but it has been offered to me—; the whole command is filled with open talk of his having enriched himself by collusion with an agent of the Treasury Department and by constant misfeasance in office. I am informed by General Brayman, Assistant Adjutant General, that Captain Lorenzo Thomas, Jr., First United States Artillery, can produce at least two witnesses residing here who will make affidavit to have paid Tuttle many thousands of dollars and if it were thought desirable to still pursue the investigation, evidence can undoubtedly be had here in abundance, if not of the payment of large sums to persons in his confidence for the release, at different times, of persons and property held under arrest by him under frivolous pretenses or by an arbitrary exercise of will.

In my investigations of the affairs of the Provost Marshal I discovered that between the 5th of April and the 20th of May, Brigadier General Tuttle, by his thousand receipts drew from Lieutenant J. H. Parker, his local Provost Marshal about all the funds he had—$6,200—and said he owed it for secret services. Col. Farrar, his successor, used in a like period only $125. The latter understood from General Tuttle that $900 was to be paid by him to a man carrying despatches from here to Major Gen. Banks at Alexandria, but it was subsequently discovered that the money was not paid, for the man demanded it, (and after he left here) in accordance with his promise. It is believed that Tuttle carried this money with him and has not rendered an account of it to proper authority.

I mention these matters in order that, if it is thought advisable to pursue the investigation of Tuttle's affairs now that he has left the service, proper measures may be taken secretly to send a suitable person here and elsewhere to collect evidence for the case. I confess my want of experience and aptitude for that kind of work. The case should be prepared with care by an experienced practitioner. The Treasury Agent Hart, with whom he is said to have been in collusion, has been arrested by military authority, and he confessed and confided to Judge Barnett, his successor, and to others his connection with Tuttle and the extent of the swindling operations in which he reports they were jointly engaged.

"The pauper labor of Europe" cry is a bugaboo, except that, in truth, our war tariff taxes favor pauper labor at the expense of American labor. Its products are not fenced out by our tariff laws. They come in because we ourselves destroy our own easy power of successful competition even in our home market. My tariff taxes on raw materials we fence in our own surplus products, making them cost too much to compete at home, and, of course, too much to compete abroad, with manufacturers from untaxed raw materials. In Mexico, Central and South America we can, of course, make no better headway against European competition than at home."—Daniel Manning.

A virtuous writer in the Oregonian on the editorial page, says Mrs. Cleveland married an old rake just because he was President of the United States. A man who would attribute such an act to a good woman would blacken his own mother's character for gain. The "critter," who sees fit to make such an ass of himself should never have appeared on this terrestrial sphere in the shape of a human being. He has the instincts of a brute and should have been born one.—East Oregonian.

While Commissioner Black has greatly accelerated the business of the Pension Office he has pursued pension frauds and protected the Treasury against them better than ever before. The Washington Post gives this as the record made by him:

No. criminal prosecutions begun.....	200
No. cases returned (no indictment).....	2
No. of convictions.....	46
No. of acquittals.....	26
No. of cases pending.....	150

Harper's Weekly is right, we believe, when it says that no friend of reform regrets voting for Mr. Cleveland. We do not know one. There are no regrets on that account. We should be glad to see the cause of civil service reform advance more rapidly, but we did not expect it. All that we expected of this administration was an honest execution of the specific civil service law. We have had that, and a little more.—Boston Herald.

The Iowa Democrats have shown their faith by their works in nominating Mr. Thomas Jefferson Anderson, of Knoxville, Marion county, for governor. Major Anderson was one of the most heroic and devoted Union soldiers sent out by that state. His opponent, Governor Larrabee, found the post of honor to be a bank presidency, while Anderson was at the front.

The opinion prevails in New York that Henry Villard will soon take his old place at the head of the Northern Pacific, O. R. & N. Co., and Oregon Transcontinental. We hope that such will be the case. Henry Villard is a railroad man for the people and the Northwest think much of his energy and liberality.

Mr. Frank McDermott, the new appointee to the office of United States inspector of boilers for the district of the Willamette, has received his commission, taken the oath of office and is now duly installed in the place made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Lotan.

Out of 133 counties which have reported in Texas, the prohibitionists carried only twenty-four by a 4-5 majority, while the "anti" carried 109 counties by 81,593 majority against prohibition.

Harper's Weekly alluding again to the rebel flag incident says: "The result of the whole controversy is increased popular confidence and regard for the president and a livelier general contempt for demagogues."

We acknowledge the receipt of Mr. D. C. Ireland's new paper, the Astoria Pioneer. It is full of news and will succeed, because Ireland knows no such word as fail.

The Financial Chronicle figures the population of the United States at 61,315,387. There are a great many folks this year.

NATURES WILDEST WHIM.

The enterprising S. H. Barrett, not content with pattering up all the remarkable arctic and zoological attractions extant, has embarked in the human phenomena business. His latest acquisition in the latter line is the famous dog-faced Russian boy, "Jo-Jo," who has long been a protégé of the Czar and the reigning sensation of Europe. At the time of "Jo-Jo's" arrival in New York the World spoke of him as follows:

"By far the greatest curiosity that has ever been brought to these shores arrived yesterday on the steamer City of Chicago from Liverpool. This wonderful phenomenon, which has puzzled the most learned medical heads in Europe, was brought to this country for exhibition in the great S. H. Barrett Consolidated Shows, by a Russian named Nicholas Forster, of St. Petersburg, who, together with his young and pretty wife, has been appointed by the Russian Government guardian of the young man who calls him 'Uncle.' "Jo-Jo is nearly five feet high. He is well built, like an ordinary healthy boy, and weighs about a hundred and thirty pounds. The singularity attached to him is that his face, could no other portion of his body be seen, would be taken for a (thoroughbred) skye terrier, because of the hirsute appendages. The neck, shoulders, and body downward, as well as the limbs, are covered with a fine, white hair, about two inches long, while a strip about two inches wide along the length of the spine is three inches or more in length and of a slate color."

It is safe to say that "Jo-Jo" will be the cynosure of innumerable pairs of eyes on the occasion of his forthcoming visit here with Manager Barrett, Monday, Sept. 19. No extra charge is made to see "Jo-Jo."

CALAPOOIA MINES—A Brownsville correspondent writes: At a meeting held here last Thursday night a good sum was raised to cut a trail to the new mines at the head of the Calapooia, and yesterday afternoon a company of fifteen men, with the necessary tools, pack animals, etc., started for the mines, and there is every indication of a good trail being opened and a booming camp being found on the dividing country between the head of the Blun and Calapooia rivers, as it has been known for the past twenty-five years that gold existed in that section.

Ashland Tilings.
The railroad work has progressed as far northward now as John Walker's field, less than a mile from Ashland.

Some two months will probably be required to complete tunnel 14—the 1200-foot tunnel. Everything is progressing satisfactorily there but the rock at the south side is very hard.

Only about 230 feet of rock remain now between the headings of the long tunnel at the summit of the Siskiyou. The drills at either side can be heard at the other side. About three weeks more of work will finish the tunnel.

APPOINTMENTS.—The M. E. church conference, held at Portland, among others, made the following appointments: Presiding elder, Eugene district, S. P. Wilson; Pastor, Eugene, M. C. Wire; Springfield, Israel Richardson; Lowell, to be supplied; Jacksonville, J. W. Miller; Grants Pass, J. S. McCain; Corvallis, J. T. Wolfe; Forest Grove, A. C. Fairchild; East Portland, I. D. Driver. Rev. Wire, the new appointee for the Eugene church has been stationed at Salem for the past three years and is said to be a scholarly gentleman.

The cost of Solomon's temple was so great that we fear the contractors smothered some of the money. A recent estimate gives these staggering figures, in which we think millions are incorrectly represented as billions:

The talents of gold, silver and brass used in the construction of the temple amounted to $34,329,112,500. The jewels are reckoned to have exceeded that amount, but let them be estimated as equal to it. The vessels of silver consecrated to the use of the temple were equal to $2,466,730,000. The vessels of gold, $3,736,481,015; the silk vestments of the priests, $50,000; the purple vestments of the singers, $1,000,000; trumpets, $100,000; other musical instruments, $200,000. Ten thousand men were engaged in hewing timber on Lebanon; 70,000 were bearers of burdens; 20,000 men were overseers, all of whom were employed seven years. Solomon was stowed on them $33,669,885. Food and wages, estimated at $1.13 per day, $469,385,140; the cost of the stone and timber in the rough, $12,726,480,000.

Following is the description of a spurious note furnished by chief clerk Brooks, of the Federal secret service of the treasury at Washington: "A note purporting to be a $2 silver certificate is out in the northwest, printed from a wood cut and bearing no resemblance to any government issue of silver certificates. It has a spread eagle on the right end face of note and two Indians on left end—one standing, the other kneeling. It has a square green back, with the word 'silver' in white capitals in center of back. Its workmanship is so very crude no person should be deceived into accepting it as a thing of value."

To Whom it may Concern.

This is to certify that Joseph Goldstone has no connection whatever with the firm of W. Sanders, and never had. He is just employed as a clerk. W. Sanders is the sole proprietor and pays all debts owing by the said firm of W. Sanders, and also W. Sanders is not responsible for any debts that may be contracted by J. Goldstone
