

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1887.

NEW YORK.

In six successive State elections the Democrats have carried New York, and in the last twelve years every Presidential election has been decided by the vote of New York. No proposition in politics is surer than this: That whichever party gets the vote of New York next year will elect the President next year. It must be recognized, too, that a State which has gone Democratic six times in succession is a Democratic State.

These are facts, stated in moderate language and alike known to intelligent men of all parties. The Oregonian recognizes them when it says the election in the Empire State is sic fixed, and it is, of Republican defeat and Democratic victory next year.

A stronger anti-Democratic coalition could not be formed than opposed our ticket in New York this year. Governor Cleveland can beat any man the Republicans put up in New York State, and he can do it by 50,000 majority.

JOHN R. FELLOWS.

John R. Fellows, "the most eloquent Democratic orator in the Union" as ex-Governor Hooley says of him, is elected Prosecuting Attorney of New York county by 25,000 majority. The New York World, the leading Republican paper reproached him with being poor; but the Democrats condoned that, as it was the surest evidence he was an honest man, since had he been corrupt he would have been wealthy, occupying his public office.

John R. Fellows was First Assistant District Attorney of New York county, and when Randolph B. Martine, his chief, was nominated for Judge of the General Sessions by the United Democracy of New York, Col. Fellows was nominated for District Attorney. In every case of the boddle alderman that Fellows summed up a conviction followed and he made an incomparably brilliant speech urging the conviction of Jake Sharp. The only case against a boddler that failed Fellows did not appear, and it was conducted by Nichols, the dude candidate of the Republican party and Judas Iscariot Pulitzer.

The local paper that said Mr. Martine was not nominated by the Democrats, either made a mistake or published a falsehood. It seems the editor is honestly ignorant, as the assertion was made in other papers prior to the time it appeared in the organ here.

In the meantime the Democracy is neither in fear of the devil or Joe Pulitzer.

In the State elections Tuesday the following are the results:

Democratic majorities—New York, 15,000; Maryland, 7,000; Democrats hold the Legislature in Virginia and gain a United States Senator.

Republican majorities—Pennsylvania, 35,000; Ohio, 20,000; Massachusetts, 15,000; Iowa, 7,000.

From the latest returns it appears that all the amendments voted on Tuesday are defeated. Prohibition by about 7,000 majority, change of election, 2,000; salaries of state officers, 20,000.

A majority of 16,000 in New York for the Democratic ticket makes the whole world look jaundiced to the Republican editorial eye.

The New York election was a hard blow on the "son of the father."

Press Comments on N. Y. Election.

The Times, commenting on yesterday's state election, says: The vote yesterday serves a notice on the Republican party that Platt and Blaine, who for the time being were represented, must be given up or all hope of success in the presidential campaign next year must be abandoned. That such notice has been served is a great gain for honest government, not only in this state, but in the nation.

Under the head of "Three Things Settled," the World says: The result of the election in this state settles three points as thoroughly as any political event can be settled in advance. President Cleveland will be renominated by his party. Blaine will not be renominated by the Republicans. George will not control the election next year. New York is a pivotal state. Cleveland's friends have had a complete triumph. It seems that the German Republican vote very largely came over to the Democratic side, and, with the increase of the prohibition vote, much more than made good the disaffection caused by the labor movement.

The Sun says: Due credit for the cohesion and confidence that brought about the glorious result of yesterday should be given to Grover Cleveland, whose sensible letter was as timely as it was wise.

The Herald says: The elections are a complete triumph for the administration. Victory is assured along the whole line. National, state and municipal administrations were alike on trial and the verdict, as regards President Cleveland, Governor Hill and Mayor Hewitt, is "well done good and faithful servants."

It is surprising, reasons the La Crosse Journal that the State of Oregon cannot have a Democratic daily paper. The matter can only be explained, perhaps by the statement that the right man has not yet undertaken the enterprise. A good live and energetic man is wanted who has sufficient capital and perseverance, combined with ability, to put a daily upon a proper footing, and it would take a few years until it could be made a paying institution. The Democrats of Oregon are willing to subject a daily worthy the name, and one which they have reason to believe will be a permanent enterprise.

The little concern in the shape of dailies which have been started from time to time in Oregon have all died an ignoble and deserved death, merely from the fact that they were not what the Democrats of the State wanted, and which they were not willing to support. These have only had a detrimental effect. It is to be hoped that the next venture of a Democratic daily in the State will be worthy the name, when a hearty response from the Democracy of Oregon may be looked for. It is not creditable to the leaders of the party that it has been so long without an organ. Will some enterprising Democrat or Democrat take the matter in hand before the next election?—Welcomes.

McMinnville has been selected as the county seat of Yamhill county over Lafayette by 40% majority.

* Acting Secretary McMillow Saturday rendered a decision rejecting the lists of selections made by the Northern Pacific railroad company of about 75,000 acres of land in Washington Territory, on the ground that the lands in question were not included in the grant to that company under the joint resolutions of congress of 1870. The acting secretary holds that the lands in question have been included in the prior grant to the Oregon Central railroad company, which grant was forfeited by the act of January 31, 1885, and they now are part of the public domain.

The political contest in Maryland is simply one between the state and Jay Gould for control of the Baltimore and Ohio railroads.

The board of public works of the state appoints directors in the road. Gould wants them.

That is what young Garret meant when he called out of his car window, "don't let Gould capture Maryland."

This is the whole extent and complexion of the reform movement which the New York World has seen so industriously aiding. Perhaps Mr. Gould has the run of the financial article in that paper.

At the physicians' congress in Vienna Dr. Corradi, rector of the Parma University, discussed statistics on longevity. He said that more than two thirds of the contemporaries are women, and that the sex which we usually call the weaker is longer lived than the other. In Italy in the year 1880, there were 380 persons of 100 years of whom 217 were women and 133 men. The more valiant and quiet life of women is no doubt an important factor in producing this result.
