Mr. W. F. Daley, Advertising Agent of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad, writes: "Inflammatory rheumatism swelled my legs and arms to twice their natural size. I suffered excruciating pain. Your wonderful S. S. S. made a complete cure."

Major Sidney Herbert, editor of the Southern Cultivator and Dixie Farmer, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I have fully tested the virtues of Swift's Specific, both as a rheumatism cure and a tonic. It has done even more than its proprietors claim for it."

Mr. Michael Long, Jr., with the Strohbridge Lithographic Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "I suffered for two years with a terrible itching and painful sores on my neck, arms, hands and fingers. No physician could help me. S. S. S. relieved me perfectly and I feel like a new man."

Mrs. Amanda Ingie, of Gastonia, N. C., writes: "My baby, when four months old, developed scrofula. He had two severe ridings and sores on the neck. I sent for our family physician, who pronounced it scrofula, and prescribed S. S. S. for it. I gave the baby S. S. S., and it soon got the disease under control. The sores are healed, and the baby is well and healthy. I know S. S. S. saved its life, and I told our doctor so. He is a regular physician, and prescribed S. S. S. for the baby as soon as he saw it had scrofula."

What is It?

That produces that beautifully soft complexion and leaves no traces of its application or injurious effects? The answer, Wisdom's Robertine accomplishes all this, and is pronounced by ladies of taste and refinement to be the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Warranted harmless and matchless. F. M. Wilkins, agent, Eugene City.

Delays are Dangerous.

You say, well, 'tis only a slight cold, look out, it may lead to an inflammation of the lining of numerous air cells of the Lungs this is Pneumonia. Or to spasmodic contractions of the fibres of the air passages, which is Asthma; or the inflammation of the lining membrane of the throat and tubes which pass through the Lungs, which in the first stage is called Bronchitis, and may lead to consumption. Santa Abie is delicious in flavor, certain and perfect in its result. A few doses will relieve, a thorough treatment cure the above named diseases. Every bottle warranted by all druggists.

Don't Believe It

When told that F. M. Wilkins, the druggist, is not selling "Wisdom's Robertine" for the complexion, the most elegant and only really harmless preparation of its kind in the world, and giving a beautiful picture card with every bottle.

Eureka.

The motto of California means, I have found it. Only in that land sunshine, where the orange, lemon, olive, fig and grape bloom and ripen, and attain their highest perfection in mid-winter, are the herbs and gums found, that are used in that pleasant for all throat and lung troubles. Santa Abie, the ruler of coughs, asthma and consumption. All druggists sell it under a guarantee of $1 a bottle. Three for $2.50.

Try California Cat-R Cure, the only guaranteed cure for catarrh, $1, by mail, $1.10.

Farm for Sale.

I have for sale 220 acres of land known as the Gillilan farm; 25 acres good timber and the remainder all prairie. All under fence; good house and barn; good orchard and other improvements. The place has an abundance of good spring water and is situated one-fourth mile from the Pleasant Hill school house, one of the best school districts in the county. For further particulars apply to T. G. HENDRICKS.

SCROFULA

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a cure for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength to the body, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used. — E. Haines, North Lindale, Ohio.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. — W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried various remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured. — M. C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured. — Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach. — Millie Jane Peirce, S. Bradford, Mass. It

A Monster Magnet.

One of our leading engineers, says the Safety Valve, has brought before the engineer class of late an experiment of so startling a nature in its inception as to promise wonderful results. It is a monster magnet made of two Rodman guns, which are connected at the breech. Around the magnet thus formed is wound about twenty miles of submarine cable. The cable is some that has been used in the torpedo service. It is wound and fastened in a substantial manner, making a permanent magnet. When electricity is applied some strange results take place. For instance, a bar of railroad iron thirty feet long, if placed in the open cannon's mouth, cannot be drawn out by as many men as can grasp it.

Another instance of the strength of this big magnet was illustrated recently with a 350 pound cannon ball. The shot was placed in the mouth of the cannon on the negative side. On reversing the electrical current it fell from its position, but was attracted to the opposite cannon and clung to its side. The positive current was then reversed alternately with the negative, and the heavy cannon ball played between the poles of a toy magnet. Before many days there will be a public exhibition of this remarkably attractive magnet.

The Pope and the President.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 10.—The President today received a beautiful engrossed copy of the proceedings of a public meeting of Catholics of Richmond, Virginia, held in celebration of the jubilee of Pope Leo XIII., at which resolutions were adopted thanking the President "For the honor which he has paid to our Holy Father's golden jubilee," and at which the following remarks were included in an address made by Bishop Keane of Richmond: "While we are glad to see all tender their marks of congratulation to our Holy Father, our hearts are particularly affected by the tribute of honor and affection forwarded this week by the President of the United States, who has sent his holiness a beautifully engrossed copy of the Constitution of our country. Bigotry may howl at our ultramontanism, Jesuitism, Romanism and the like, but the President, although not himself a Catholic, showed himself man enough to act independently of all narrow-minded influences. All honor to the President, who generously interpreted, by his action, the spirit and letter of our glorious Constitution."

The Parson Stopped It.

"We doubt," says one of our Montana exchanges, "if our people give the proper amount of credit to Rev. Whitette, of this city, for the grand work he is doing in ridding the place of gambling houses and breaking up the monster vice of gambling. Few seem to realize the magnitude of the work he is accomplishing. As an instance we might mention, that one night recently, in the evening about eight o'clock the reverend gentleman took $50 which he had collected for foreign missions the Sunday before, put it in his pocket and went down to the Gold Brick, the most notorious gambling den in the city. Squaring himself before the faro layout, the good man began to earnestly play his system, keeping close up to the limit, and at 8 o'clock the next morning he had broken the bank and got a deed of the premises, while the former proprietor was walking out of town without his breakfast. This is but one instance of the great work Rev. Whitette is doing for our city."

An Aggravating Interruption.

"We greatly dislike to find fault with any of the customs of our beautiful little city," says a Dakota editor, "but we must, nevertheless, insist that people keep their swine out from under the office of this paper. While engaged at our desk writing our leader on 'The Stability of our Territorial Institutions,' for our paper this week, one of Sen. McBride's razor-backed hogs humped up its spine and began scratching its back on the beams under the floor, jarring the whole building and making it necessary for us to stop our work on the editorial, crawl under our office, and wait the critter along the side with a column rule. This interrupted our train of thought, and the editorial is not what we could wish."—Chicago News.

The wreck of the steamer Yaquina City it will be remembered was sold some time since by Capt. Pope to Capt. Lutjens, as agent of Foad & Stokes of Astoria, for $9,000. No deposit was made, and Foad & Stokes repudiated Capt. Lutjens' action. The wreck and appurtenances have since been sold to G. L. Colwell, of Skomokaway, for $8,235.35. The cargo, valued at about $20,000, had only about $3,000 insurance on it. Considerable of the cargo saved has since been stolen, and the losses of shippers will be heavy. Mr. Colwell is expected soon to take charge of the wreck. It is understood that the Yaquina City was under bonds for the value of a schooner she ran down last summer.

"How does it feel to have a mustache on your lip, Henry?" she asked, when she perceived that her lover was cultivating that masculine adornment.

"I can't say," he answered, "how does it feel to have one on yours?"

"Well," she answered, as she struggled from the embrace and drew her breath, "I think it is something to which one could in time become reconciled."

The city of Griffin, Georgia, depended on an artificial ice machine for its ice. Recently a cold snap came and froze up the machine and deprived the city of ice.

FARM FOR SALE.—A farm containing 300 acres, situated 3 1/2 miles from Eugene and 2 1/2 miles from Irving, is offered for sale at $20 per acre. There are 130 acres under cultivation; 80 more is open land. The rest is timber land furnishing abundance of wood of all kinds, close to market. There are three good orchards on the place. The soil is very rich and well adapted to fruit raising. Will be divided to suit purchasers. Apply to J. J. WALTON, JR.

Having perfected arrangements with parties in Portland, I am able now to find purchasers for lands, more readily than heretofore. If you have land for sale, improved or unimproved, you cannot do better than to entrust your business with us. Terms reasonable. Your patronage solicited. E. F. DORRIS.

ANDREW JACKSON ON THE SURPLUS.

His Views on the Tariff and the Danger of Overtaxation.

Extract from Jackson's Farewell Address.

There is, perhaps, no one of the powers conferred on the Federal Government so liable to abuse as the taxing power. The most productive and convenient sources of revenue were necessarily given to it, that it might be able to perform the important duties imposed upon it; and the taxes which it lays upon commerce being conceded from the real payer in the price of the article, they do not so readily attract the attention of the people as smaller sums demanded from them directly by the tax-gatherer. But the tax imposed on goods enhances by so much the price of the commodity to the consumer; and, as many times, these duties are imposed on articles of necessities which are daily used by the great body of the people, the money raised by these imposts is drawn from the pockets. Congress has no right under the constitution to take money from the people, unless it is required to execute some one of the specific powers intrusted to the Government; and if they raise more than is necessary for such purpose, it is an abuse of the power of taxation, and unjust and oppressive. It may indeed happen that the revenue will sometimes exceed the amount anticipated when the taxes were laid. When, however, this is ascertained, it is easy to reduce them; and, in such case, it is unquestionably the duty of the Government to reduce them; for no circumstances can justify it in assuming a power not given to it by the Constitution, nor in taking away the money of the people when it is not needed for the legitimate wants of the Government.

Plain as these principles appear to be, you will yet find that there is a constant effort to induce the General Government to go beyond the limits of its taxing power, and to impose unnecessary burden upon the people. Many powerful interests are continually at work to procure heavy duties on commerce, and to swell the revenue beyond the real necessities of the public service; and the country has already felt the effect of their combined influence. They succeeded in obtaining a tariff of duties bearing most oppressively on the agricultural and laboring classes of society, and producing a revenue that could not be usefully employed within the range of the powers conferred upon Congress; and, in order to fasten upon the people this unjust and unequal system of taxation, extravagant schemes of internal improvement were got up, in various quarters, to squander the money and to purchase support. Thus, one unconstitutional measure was intended to be upheld by another, and the abuse of the power of taxation was to be maintained by usurping the power of expending the money in internal improvements. You cannot have forgotten the severe and doubtful struggle through which we passed when the Executive department of the Government, by its veto, endeavored to arrest the prodigal scheme of injustice, and to bring back the legislation of Congress to the boundaries prescribed by the Constitution. The good sense and practical judgment of the people, when the subject was brought before them, sustained the course of the Executive, and this plan of unconstitutional expenditure for the purposes of corrupt influence is, I trust, finally overturned.

The result of this decision has been felt in the rapid extinguishment of the public debt, and the large accumulation of a surplus in the Treasury, far below the amount originally contemplated by its advocates. But, rely upon it, the design to collect an extravagant revenue, and to burden you with taxes beyond the economical wants of the Government, is not yet abandoned. The various interests which have combined together to impose a heavy tariff, and to produce an overbearing Treasury, are too strong and have too much at stake to surrender the contest. The corporations and wealthy individuals who are engaged in large manufacturing establishments desire a high tariff to increase their gains. Designing politicians will support it to conciliate their favor and to obtain the means of profuse expenditure for the purpose of purchasing influence in other quarters; and since the people have decided that the Federal Government cannot be permitted to employ its income in internal improvements, efforts will be made to seduce and mislead the citizens of the several States by holding out to them the deceitful prospects of benefits to be derived from a surplus revenue collected by the General Government, and annually divided among the States. And if, encouraged by these fallacious hopes, the States should disregard the principles of economy which ought to characterize every republican government, and should indulge in lavish expenditures exceeding their resources, they will, before long, find themselves oppressed with debts which they are unable to pay, and the temptation will become irresistible to support a high tariff in order to obtain a surplus distribution. Do not allow yourselves, my fellow citizens, to be misled on this subject. The Federal Government cannot collect a surplus for such purposes without violating the principles of the Constitution and assuming powers which have not been granted. It is, moreover, a system of injustice, and if persisted in will inevitably lead to corruption, and must end in ruin. The surplus revenue will be drawn from the pockets of the people—from the farmer, the mechanic and the laboring classes of society; but who will receive it, who distributed among the States, where it is to be disposed of by leading politicians who have friends to favor and political partisans to gratify? It will certainly not be returned to those who paid it and who have most need of it and are honestly entitled to it. There is but one safe rule, and that is to confine the General Government rigidly within the sphere of its appropriate duties. It has no power to raise a revenue or impose taxes except for the purposes enumerated in the Constitution; and if its income is found to exceed these wants it should be forthwith reduced, and the burden of the people so far lightened.
