CHANGE OF VENUE -Statesman Feb. 19th: Yesterday morning in the Circuit Court, counsel in the case of G. W. Belt, district attorney, vs. Spaulding et al, moved for and obtained a change of venue to Multnomah county, that being where the defendants reside and where services were had. This is the suit, it will be remembered, wherein Mr. Belt seeks to recover for the State the two thousand dollars upon the bond in which the defendants, Spaulding and Rockwell, were held for the appearance of the Cham-poeg abortionist, Dr. G. H. Davis, at the last term of court. Davis skipped, and the suit was instituted. Friday a demurrer made to A desirable residence property. Apply to increasing and affords the best medium for the complaint that the bond states that this office or to J. Davis the tailor. Davis was held for abortion, which is not a crime (the technical definition being manslaughter by abortion) was overruled by Judge Bean who held that the information filed in the justice's court and the indictment against Davis defined the crime sufficiently, and it made no difference what the bond stated; the understanding and intent of the parties at the time of sighing the bond should govern them. On just what not clear, especially in view of the fact that they once stated, or caused to be stated, that they would suffer no loss by Davis jumping the country, as they were fully indemnified.

We Dissent.

A dispatch from Washington dated Feb. 18th says; "Capt. Charles F. Powell has made a report in which he says that Wood river and Link river, both in Southern Oregon, are not worthy of improvement by the government. He makes practically the same report on the Siuslaw river and bar.

and the Nehalem river and bay, in Oregon."
We believe that the report so far as the Siuslaw river and bar is concerned has been made without due examination by the government engineers. From the statements of two years, we are copyinced that no better bar exists on the Pacific Coast for vessels of light draught, while for twenty miles from the ocean no finer river ever flowed unvexed to the sea. A river that has sent out 20,000 cases of salmon, as the Siuslaw has done ies of timber skirting her numerous tributaries which in the near future will attract sawmills, with rich and fertile bottom lands capable of producing all the products of the temperate zone in profusion, such a river we say deserves a better report and one founded upon a careful examination of the facts. We are aware that to secure appropriations for aid some commerce must be shown, and we belive that within the next two years Siuslaw will make a record that will compel Congress to recognize her claims.

He had gone to Sichel's store and went to bed in the morning, and when some one went to wake him a few hours later, he was found dead. He first at-tempted to kill himself by stabbing in his breast, but this was unsuccessful, when he cut his left arm near the elbow severing the artery, when he bied to death. The fatal leed was done with a common pocket knife. The deceased had been drinking heavily for about ten days prior to the sad tragedy, and it is thought that that his reason was unseated Mr. Folsy was liked and respected gloom over the entire community at Prineville. PETITION FOR RAILROAD EXTENSION .- A letter from Lorane, Lane county, says there is a petition in circulation in that section askng the Southern Pacific Company to extend the west side railroad from Corvallis to Drain station, in Douglas county. The ex-tended road would follow up the valley of the Long Tom river, thence from its headwaters through a gap in the Siuslaw moun-tains on to the Siuslaw valley; thence through to Pass creek through a gap at the head of Rock creek, and down Pass creek to Drain station. This route was once surveyed by Ben Holiday, and, it is said, was deemed the best route, but Eugene attracted the road to the Pass creek route. This extension would require about seventy miles of railroad, and will open up a fertile agricultural country to better transportation facili-ties, also to a valuable lumber district. The petition is in circulation from Corvallis to Drain and will be signed by all.-Oregonian.

The Eutaxian Society is rapidly growing in members. Nearly every meeting increases the ranks. It is evident by the way these new members are improving in Rhetorical exeraises and debate that they do not join the society to be ornamental, but they are seeking the mind's improvement. It would be well if all the young ladies attending the University, who could spare the time would join the literary society, for in wending life's thorny pathway they very often versity, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon commencement week of the State Univerfind it convenient in their frequent contact the sterner sex to be versed in parlia-liamentary language which can only be ac-quired and perfected by frequent practice. The debate at the Eutaxian Society last Friday was quite interesting; as the hour waxed later the discussion waxed warmer. One colleague read the written testimony of a certain Junior in favor of Loizette's system of cultivating the memory which was answered by the leader on the affirmative.

She repeated the verbal testimony of a certain senior who had sent for Loizette's system of cultivating the memory and although he hadn't tried it he pronounced it a failure,

but the written testimenial of the Junior evidently had the stronger influence with the chair for the question was decided in favor of the negative. It has been suggested that the old habit of universal gum-chewing once prevalent among the young men of the University, be revived. the young men of the University, be revived. Such a habit, although disagreeable, would probably furnish profitable employment for some of the student's jaws while they congregate about the postoffice. If this habit was in practice among the young men they would never forget it. In after years when they looked back on the happy scenes of their school-boy days, prominent among them would be the familiar crowd at the postoffice, their mouths moving in one perpostoffice, their mouths moving in one perfect harmonious concert, then a recess of five minutes, during which time an occasionno salmon shall be taken during March and during the fishing season no fish shall be taken between 6 o'clock Saturday evening and 6 o'clock of the Sunday following.
