A Distinguished Clergyman's Testi-

Rev. H. M. Pickens, President of the Methodist Protestant Church of South Carolina, writes from Greenville:

"About four years ago I was attacked with what the physicians pronounced neuralrio rheumatism, accompanied with erystreias. My appetite failed me entirely, and I had an intermitting pulse and very irregular pulsations of the heart. A terrible pain soon came into my chest and shoulders, and I became so helpless that I could attend to no business at all. The pains were movable, and would sometimes pass from one part of my body to another. Finally the crysipelas broke out on my left hand and arm, and produced much swelling. I was for eighteen months afflicted in this way, and of course used a great many kinds of medicines, but nothing gave me relief. Friends finally persuaded me to try Swift's Specific I noticed a decided improvement while taking the first bottle. I continued its use until I had taken about one dozen bottles, when I found myself sound and well again, with no sign of disease left except a stiffness in my hand, a result of the crysipeas. While taking the medicine I gained on an average two pounds of fiesh per week. I think S.S.S.

a valuable medicine, and I frequently recommend it to my friends."

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever. — Mrs. as healthy and strong as ever. — Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, M. D. D. D. S., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians, and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vita, 'ess the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—

Cut His Own Leg Off.

[Fond du Lac Reporter.] A woodsman belonging to a little town in Wisconsin was caught while felling trees in a wisconsin was caught while felling trees in a neighboring forest by a falling trunk, and one of his legs was pinioned and held as if in a vice just below the knee. The unfortunate man was alone, and too far from the nearest camp to make his voice heard. His axe had been dashed from his hands and he could not reach it. Night was approaching and honory ways were commonly to could not reach it. Night was approaching and hungry wolves were commencing to howl about him. He recognized that to remain there was to dis, and the prospect of becoming a helpless victim to wild beasts nerved him to desperation. Removing his suspenders and binding them as tightly as possible about his imprisoned leg, he inserted the blade of his jack-knife at the knee, cut away his clothing and flesh, sovered the joint and raised himself from the deathly trap, leaving the lower limb as the chartly trap, leaving the lower limb as the ghastly evidence of his cool determination.

He managed to crawl to his axe, with which he cut a sapling and made a rough crutch. With its aid he made his way slowly to camp, nearly four miles distant, frequently lying down in the snow to rest. It was a long and very painful journey, and he hobbled into camp just as his strength was about to leave him. Medical aid was secured and the self-amputation was given proper dressing. The man is still alive, and the detailed statement from his own lips of what he suffered physically and mentally during his experience in that relentless tree-clasp and of the thoughts that nerved him up to carving his own leg, are of an exceptionally thrilling nature. The morning following the injured woodman's arrival in camp some of his companions visited the spot where he met with his accident. The wolves had been there, torn the covering from the foot and leg and gnawed away the flesh, leaving a smooth polish on the bones.

A Future Life for Animals.

Our Dumb Animals. Our Dumb Animals.

John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, thought there was a future life for animals. So did those eminent Christian Bishops, Jeremy Taylor and Bishop Butler. Coleridge advocated it in England, Lamartine in France, and Agassiz in America. Agassiz, the greatest scientist we ever had on this continent, and a man of profound religious convictions, was a firm believer in some future life for the lower animals. A Professor of Harvard University has com-piled a list of one hundred and eighty-five European authors who have written on

Among the leading clergy of Boston, who have publicly expressed their belief in a fu-ture life for animals are Joseph Cook, Trin-itarian, and James Freeman Clark, Umtarian. Some ten years ago a man left by will to Mr. Bergh's New York Society about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Rela-tives contested the will on the ground that ho was insane because he believed in a fu-ture life for animals. The Judge, in sus-taining the will, said he found that more than half the human race believed the same thing.

Female Labor in Germany and Here.

It appears from comparative statistics, just complied on this subject, that in the Potsdam District of Germany the employment of female labor amounts to 35 per cent., in the Kingdom of Saxony it is 33, in Upper Swabia 31, and in the Breslau district a little over 30 These figures do not differ greatly from the Amounts of the State of the Amounts of the State of the S from the American statistics, which gives 37 per cent. for New Hampshire, 33 for Rhode Island, 32 for Massachusetts and 31 for Maryland. The states just cited, however, include a smaller proportion of the total population of the United States, and there is population of the United States, and there is no other American State with a percentage of fémale labor of over 27. The agricultural districts of Germany, as might be expected, show a much large proportion than similar districts in the United States. Particular industries also show a higher percentage of female labor in Germany than in the United States. For example, the percentage in the textile mills of the Black Forest district is 73, while in Reuss, a small principality south of Leipsic, it actually rises as high as 90 per

A Circus Man Before King Umbandini:

[St. James Gazette.]

[St. James Gazette.]

It is not often that circus "artistes" find their way into the realms of a South African native chief, but when they do it would seem that their reception is likely to be very enthusiastic. A "strong man" from a Cape Town circus recently jeurneyed to the far-off regions of Ama Swaziland, and there gave a display of his power and skill before the Chief Umbandini at his "great place." So pleased was Umbandini at the performance that he forthwith dictated a testimonial gratis. Here it is: "We gladly certify that you have performed at our Royal Kraal, Swaziland, on rings, poles chairs and sticks; that you have also played with an iron tree, and also carried a large cannon on your back and fired it off your back in our presence. We were astonished and gratified at the wonderful acts that you and your little son have performed. We do not believe that you will ever die. Given at our Reval Kraal this 9th day of December, 1887. Umbanding this Verstle King of Swaziland." Kraal this 9th day of December, 1887. Um-bandini, (his X mark) King of Swaziland."

He was born nearly 9000 feet above the level of the sea in the city of Bogota, South America, where his father, once a Senator from Illinois, was U. S. While the Governor is not "to the manor born," strictly speaking, he is sligi-ble to the presidency, if that kind of light-ning should ever strike him. In a talk with his half-brother Hon. L. B. Misner, of Calffornia, the ger deman said: "I was four-toen years of age when Edgene was born. I well remember that his father ordered the flag run up on the consulate earlier than isual that day, and the stars and stripes were flying on the Andes when he came into

Lake Superior's ley Waters

St. Louis Globe-Democrat. How cold the dark water of Lake Superior is. One evening when we were steaming across the lake I arked the mate what was done when a man fell overboard. He coolly replied, "Nothing."
"Why," I saked, astonished at his heart-

"The water of Lake Superior is so cold that a man cannot live in it during the time it takes to stop a rapidly moving vessel and lower a boat he replied. Then he added: "I have sailed on this lake for twenty years. During that time I have known one man only who escaped death. He was saved by a scratch. The others were apparsaved by a scratch. The others were apparently killed by the shock produced by falling into such cold water."

He picked up an empty can, to which a long string was attached, and cost it overboard. The can skipped from the crest of one wave to another for an instant, then dipped and filled. The hoary-headed mate drew that full can up and handed it to me, drew that full can up and handed it to me, saying: "Take a drink of that, and then say what you think of your chances in swimming in Lake Superior for ten or filteen minutes." I drank deeply, and it was as though liquid ice flowed down my throat.

"It is alleged," the mate said, "that this lake never gives up its dead; that to be drowned in Lake Superior is to be drowned for all time. I do not know whether this is true or not, but I do know that I have never seen a corpse floating on the lake," I won-der if that is true? I doubted it, but I could find no sailor who had ever seen a dead oody floating on the lake.

Fruit Growing.

Dr. Plummer writing to the Oregonian relative to fruit growing as a money making business in California, says:

business in California, says:

"In regard to returns, my nephew, from his prune trees realized $1081.35 in 1886,
and in 1887 sold 60,154 pounds of prunes, 474 of plums, 47,854 pounds of apricots all for 2 cents a pound delivered at a fruit dryer two miles away by a level road. Then he sold 1000 pounds of cherries for 4 cents and some peaches besides what he gave away and reserved for his own use. The total outlay for labor in nicking was $175.85.

outlay for labor in picking was $175.85.

Some orchards but six years old did not probably pay as well, as this one shows that it has had good care, and the return has paid well for it, with the almost certainty of argely increased returns in the immediate

As an example of the revenue from orchards in full bearing, I learn that Mr. Henry Boekson, Sr., has an orchard of thirty acres in the same district, the trees consisting of peaches, apricots and egg plums, which re-quired the employing of fifty-seven men through the picking season and yielded 400 tons of fruit, which he sold for the princely revenue of $14,000.

Sample Yields.

An idea of the productiveness of the North Pacific soil may be gleaned from the following: The Horticulturist published at cema, says A. J. Burr, of Olympia. V

T., raised five barrels of cranberries on a bed fifty feet square.
W. T. Wright of Milton, Or., sold this season 12,000 pounds of grapes from one and one-half acres of land. One acre of strawberries produced 3600 pounds; 1000 pounds of blackberries grew on one-third of an acre. Robert Locke of Hillhurst, W. T., raised over 500 bushels of potatoes to the acre.
A. W. Hidden, Vanconver, W. T., bas a three-acre prune orchard that gave him a net income of $1800 in one season.

James Biles of Olympia, W. T., has raised

James Biles of Olympia, W. T., has raised the Royal Ann cherry that produced from 400 to 500 pounds to each tree, after they were twelve years old, and peaches that produced as high as eight baxes to a tree.

Seth Lewelling of Milwaukie, Or., has 24 cherry trees from which he gathered in one season 11,000 pounds of cherries.

Beginning Young.

"Mamma, if you were to be taken very ill, I should feel awfully bad." "Would you, dear?" replied the mother, drawing her boy to her heart. "Yes, and if you were to die, I would die

"O, Johnny, do you love mamma so?"
"Yes, Mamma?"
"What, darling." "Gimme ten cents."

BURIED IN ONE GRAVE .- Pilot Malcolm who went over to Gray's Harbor last week to look after the body of Chas. Johnson, the unfortunate pilot of the Abercorn, has returned to Astoria. The body of Johnson was given decent interment by the people living near there, and will probably be taken to Astoria in a short time. The remains of the captain and twenty-one of the crew were haried in one grays on the heach, which will buried in one grave on the beach, which will long be marked as a reminder of one of the most awful disasters which has happened on this const for many years.
