

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

BUSINESS SUITS, FROCK COAT SUITS AND DRESS SUITS FOR MEN.

How Pet Dogs Wear Harness when Out for a Walk—A Pretty Indoor Costume Which Represents in Its Cut and Garniture New Styles.

The cut here given illustrates an indoor costume that represents in its fashion and its garniture, leading styles. The skirt of this costume is of heavy brown cashmere, braided with the same color and trimmed with a flounce thirteen inches deep, laid in box pleats.

BRAIDED COSTUME.

For the front drapery arrangement, a breadth of material on yard and a quarter wide and one yard five inches long is pleated into the band at the upper edge and caught up on the left side. The back breadth, which is two yards ten inches wide and one yard six inches long, is pleated into the band. The material being arranged in a large box pleat in the middle and in smaller flat ones at the sides and then caught in the middle.

Harness for Dogs. The dog has come to be an important feature in the world of fashion, and what he shall wear and how to make it is therefore a question of more or less interest.

The harness here illustrated is not only intended for ornament, but also to prevent the collar from pressing into the neck of the dog when a leader is attached to it. The latter, in the arrangement shown, is put through a ring let in the middle of the belly band of the harness. The harness from which the illustration is taken consists of four straps, each three-quarters of an inch wide and long enough to reach around the body of the animal.

NEW YORK FASHIONS FOR MEN.

The following New York styles in men's clothing were recently described in Harper's Bazar: Business suits are of dark mixed suitings and checks and stripes that are not conspicuous—indeed, are almost invisible—producing dark gray shades, brown and red mixtures, black and brown checks, etc.

These dressy morning suits that are worn in the afternoon as well have a cutaway coat and vest of black or dark blue corduroy cloth, or of diagonal that is not very wide, or else of the crape finished cloth.

The frock coat suit is accepted as the correct day dress suit for formal receptions in the afternoon and for day weddings, alike.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Health of American School Girls—Skin Troubles—Benefits of the Bath.

A society of collegiate alumnae has issued some interesting literature on the subject of the health of school girls. Among some of the causes of the semi-invalidism and increasing number of nervous diseases that exist among even young girls, it enumerates the following:

- 1. Social dissipation and excitement. 2. Habitual loss of sufficient and healthy sleep. 3. Irregularity and haste in taking food, the omission of breakfast and the use of a stimulating, inauspicious diet, such as condiments, pastries, etc. 4. Tight, heavy or insufficient clothing. 5. The ambition of parents and daughters to accomplish much in little time.

It states that inquiries made in school rooms revealed great neglect of the laws of health on the part of the pupils. In a New York academy a class of sixty girls between the ages of 12 and 18 years chanced to be asked by a visitor at what time they retired the night before. The average was found to be twenty minutes before midnight, but no surprise was manifested by teachers or regret by pupils.

Pimples and Blackheads. On the face are occasional, says Herald of Health, by the torpid state of the skin; or, in other words, by the inability of the skin to perform its proper functions.

Every human habitation should contain some convenience for a complete bath in water. In the long catalogue of diseases, says a well-known physician, scarcely one can be named in the treatment of which a bath is useless.

To those blessed with good health, a bath gives thrift and growth to healthy functions, a brightness and delightful serenity, a clearness of mind and buoyancy of spirit. It is certainly a blessing to both mind and body.

Over Stimulation of Young Brains. The practice of giving tea and coffee to young children cannot be too strongly condemned. Childhood is the period when nervous activity is very great. The brain is ever busy in receiving new impressions.

Remedy for Sleeplessness. A physician prescribes one simple remedy for sleeplessness. Compose the mind as much as possible and confine the thoughts to one subject, or a number, or individual, and close the eyelids, rolling the eyes continuously in one direction.

One Thing and Another. Juniper berry tea is good for sick headache. A diet of frogs is considered advantageous for those suffering from pulmonary complaint.

To make a soap for whitening the hands, mix thoroughly two ounces each of camellia and lemon juice, with six ounces of powdered brown Windsor soap.

As much bicarbonate of soda as one can put on a five-cent nickel, dissolved in a small glass of water and taken before breakfast once or twice a week, sweetens the breath and relieves dyspepsia.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE

Manners and Customs Practiced in Polite Society. A gentleman always lifts his hat when offering a service to a lady, whether he is acquainted with her or not.

When a gentleman accompanies a lady upon whom such an attention is bestowed, he always lifts his hat and says "Thank you."

A gentleman opens a door for a strange lady, holds it open with one hand and lifts his hat with the other while she passes through in advance of him.

A gentleman always raises his hat when he begs a lady's pardon for an inadvertence, whether he is known to her or not.

Graceful Speech. The value of no other social accomplishment can be compared to that of a thorough knowledge of one's own tongue.

Where Bride and Groom Meet. It is now the fashion for the bridegroom to meet the bride at the altar, whether she is escorted by her father, brother or nearest kinsman.

The Philadelphia Park. Fairmount park, Philadelphia, is nearly four times as extensive as Central park, New York, having an area of 3,000 acres, while the latter has 854 acres.

Directions for Taking India Ink Impressions of Ferns—Information about American Indians in General, and the Ute Tribe in Particular.

The name of Indians was first given to the red men of America from the mistaken notion of the early voyagers—Columbus himself included—that the newly found continent was in reality a part of India. This was soon shown to be an error, but the name of Indians thus wrongfully applied to the inhabitants continued to be used in every narrative of voyage and discovery, and has descended to our own times, only that we now qualify it to some extent by speaking of the red men as American Indians.

UTE SQUAW AND PAPOOSE.

There are many tribes among the American Indians, but year by year their numbers are decreasing. The home of the civilized and partially civilized remnants of the once powerful and warlike Indian tribes is known as the Indian territory, and contains what are called reservations, on which the various tribes live. Agents representing the United States live among these tribes with a view to their further advancement and protection.

India Ink Impressions of Ferns. Procure some smooth cartridge paper, then take the ferns or leaves and arrange them in position. If ferns, they look well put in groups; if ivy, it will look well as a border; but whichever it is, put a pin through a leaf here and there to keep the fronds from moving—very fine pins, or the hoies will show.

The Elephant as a Nurse. In India, where the elephant is treated by its owner almost as one of the family, the grateful animal makes a return for the kindness shown it by voluntarily taking care of the baby. It will patiently, says St. Nicholas, permit itself to be manhandled by its little charge, and will show great solicitude when the child cries.

A Tame Gray Squirrel. A young gray squirrel found by a party of children at Ivoryton, Conn., was cared for until it had grown large enough to help itself, when it was set at liberty.

Thanksgiving Day. Oh! happy children, here behold One who is poor and weak and old, With not the smallest scrap of meat, Or ought but crusts of bread to eat, Thanksgiving Day, When thousands lay A feast in bountiful array.

Oh! children, happy children, blessed With all things that the world holds best, Look on the picture of these two And try some kindly act to do, Thanksgiving Day, To light the way Of some one poor and lone as they.

Long Bridges. Of suspension bridges, the Brooklyn bridge is the largest, and that across the Ohio river at Cincinnati probably the second.

Comets With Long Tails. The comet of 1858 was larger than any comet that has appeared since, though the comet of 1801 spread from the northern to the southern horizon.

The Greek God of Love. Eros was the servant of whom Antony demanded a sword to kill himself, but instead of giving it to his master he killed himself in Antony's presence.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP.

Birthplace of Lincoln—His Childhood. The Books He Read.

A concise statement of the birth and boyhood of President Lincoln is as follows: Abraham Lincoln was born in Hardin—now Larue—county, Ky., on Feb. 12, 1809. His ancestors were among the early settlers of Rockingham county, Va., whither they had gone from Berks county, Pa., and from which his grandparents removed to Kentucky about the year 1781.

There are places in the ocean very near to the most frequented shores, like the gulf stream off Cape Hatteras, where it has been found impossible if not impracticable to determine the depth of the water with certainty, owing to the rapidity of the current, combined with its great depth; and the same stream, within a few miles of the north shore of Cuba, where the depth is less than 1,000 fathoms, for a long time baffled the skill of the best officers of the American navy in their efforts to obtain a section across the straits between Cuba and Key West.

Color. You will find in the study of light and colors that the color of an object depends upon the reflection of rays of light from that object, according to the peculiar character of the atomic constituents composing the object.

The Darwinian Theory. According to the Darwinian theory whenever any body of animals becomes too numerous, i. e., when they threaten the extinction of some other species of animals they are destroyed by the workings of a law called natural selection.

The Equatorial Telescope. An equatorial telescope is a telescope mounted upon a fixed axis parallel to the axis of the earth, and turning also upon a second movable axis parallel to the equator.

The Twenty-seven States of Mexico. Their names are as follows: Aguascalientes, Campeche, Chiapas, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Colima, Durango, Guanajuato, Guerrero, Hidalgo, Jalisco, Mexico, Michoacan, Morelos, Nuevo Leon, Oaxaca, Puebla, Queretaro, San Luis Potosi, Sinaloa, Sonora, Tabasco, Tamaulipas, Tlaxcala, Vera Cruz, Yucatan, Zacatecas.

Apparent Satellites. By looking at the planet Jupiter in a mirror one may see what appear to be "moons" alongside of the image of the planet. These so-called moons are only multiple reflections of the planet itself from the front and back surfaces of the glass.

Curious Things of Life. A young colored man of Atlanta, Ga., laughed so hard over the defeat of prohibition in that city as to permanently dislocate his jaw.

A California farmer at Pasadena cut open a pumpkin to feed his cow the other day and found within a nice little pumpkin vine-growing. One of the seeds had sprouted inside of the mother pumpkin.

A runaway team in Hamilton, Ont., knocked down and ran over John Smith, and three of his ribs were broken. One rib pierced his lung, and the air coming through the hole made by the rib, but confined by the skin which was unbroken, has puffed him up like a balloon from head to feet.

There are en route for various Baptist mission fields of the world at present twenty-two missionaries.

The agents of the Bible society in Tokio, Japan, can scarcely meet the demand for the Bible in that city.

Toward the £20,000 which the United Presbyterian church is raising as a special foreign mission fund, the sum of £7,438 has been contributed.

The Church Missionary society has received an anonymous donation of $25,000, to be devoted to strengthening the work in Japan and the Punjab.

The Carmelite monks on Mount Carmel offered their 20,000 acres in Galilee to the Roman Catholic Palestine society, which already has established a colony on Lake Tiberias.

It is estimated that there are over 700,000 Poles in the United States. They are almost universally Romanists, are very clamorous, and can be reached only by a native ministry.

Missionaries from Japan now visiting in this country say that never before has the outlook for Christian missions been so encouraging as it is now.

The Indian Right association has protested against the Indian commissioner's order, which excludes the Bible printed in Dakota and other Indian tongues from the schools, and precludes the teachers from giving instruction to Indian pupils in their own tongue.

Jack Gleason will return to the diamond next year. Dunlap asked the Pittsburg club $7,000 for next year's salary.

Clarkson says that he will not play in Chicago next season. Ewing will do the bulk of the catching for the New Yorks next season.

There was not such a rush for southern players this year as was the case last season. Kansas City captured one of the best players of the Southern league.

Eugene Van Court, of California, formerly a league umpire, will renounce baseball and go in training as a jockey. He will ride for Taggart's stable next year.

There will be any number of complications among scorers over the rule giving an error for a base on balls and at the same time allowing the run to be earned.

During the five years' existence of the Brooklyn Baseball association their club trophies played 700 games; won 388, lost 318 and had 19 drawn games. Of these 274 championship games were won and 296 were lost.

CREATION'S LOWER ORDERS. A bear at Carter's ranch, near Mangus, N. M., has killed more than 100 goats, and sludes all pursuers.

Twenty thousand pigeons were started at once on an aerial flight at Liege the other day. The experiment is to be repeated at Brussels.

The young sons of John Burdick, of Alledo, Ill., found thirty snake eggs and hatched them in the sun. They now have thirty little spotted adders, all as tame as kittens, which they feed on milk.

George Tarey, of Moscow, Idaho, took aim at a small black bear, but his gun would not go off. He threw it aside, and grappling with the bear, held on to it until another man shot it. The shooter was not a cross-eyed man.

A curious fish was pumped out of the water works well at Charlotte, Mich., recently. It was two and a quarter inches long, had keen, bright eyes, but no fins or scales, and its back was fringed with a row of bony spikes.

Eastern sportsmen are advised to go to Whatcom, Washington Territory. On the islands opposite deer are so numerous as to be a positive nuisance, destroying orchards and grain crops not protected by high picket or wire fences. Quail, too, are very plentiful, Orcas island being fairly alive with the little fellows.

A California farmer at Pasadena cut open a pumpkin to feed his cow the other day and found within a nice little pumpkin vine-growing. One of the seeds had sprouted inside of the mother pumpkin.

A hot weather storm that comes rather late in the season from Buffalo Gap, W. T., is that a patch of pennants growing in a garden there were matured and roasted by the sun's rays one hot day during the latter part of the summer.

A runaway team in Hamilton, Ont., knocked down and ran over John Smith, and three of his ribs were broken. One rib pierced his lung, and the air coming through the hole made by the rib, but confined by the skin which was unbroken, has puffed him up like a balloon from head to feet.
