White Swelling.
Mr. M. S. Hamlin, one of the best known insurance men in North Carolina, writes from Winston, as follows: "Ever since I was seven years of age I have had what the doctors call hip disease, and which I call white swelling. My hip was drawn out of place. There was a swelling at the knee-joint, where there is a profuse running, which has been there for years. Of course this has greatly depleted my system, together with surgical operation on the leg bone. I tried every known blood purifier to build up my system, but none did me good until I took S. S. S. I use it every spring. It always builds me up, giving me appetite and digestion, and enables me to stand the long, trying, energetic, hot summer days. To me there is no such medicine for purifying the blood and building up the wasted system as S. S. S. On using it I soon became stronger and my face of mine. My color changed from a pale, worn look to a healthy, robust complexion."
G. S. Frazier, of Farmersville, Texas, writes: "About August 1st, 1865, an eruption appeared on my arms and legs, which pained me much and seemed to affect my physical condition generally. On the advice of a physician, at this place, I finally commenced using Swift's Specific. I am glad to say that after using three large bottles the sores have all healed."
I treatise by Dr. J. C. Smith, of St. Louis, Mo., called "The S. S. S. Specific Co., Dr. J. C. Smith, St. Louis, Mo."

What is it?
That produces that beautiful soft complexion and leaves no traces of its application or injurious effects. The answer, my dear Mother, is accomplished all this, and is pronounced by ladies of taste and refinement to be the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Warranted harmless and matchless. F. M. Wilkin, agent, Eugene City.

A Common Cold
Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pain in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was Speedily Cured.

I am satisfied that this remedy saved my life.—Jno. Webster, Pawtucket, R. I.
I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Bronchitis, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.
Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it

The Best Remedy for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family.—Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.
Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who know me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ff

Egg Lake.
A correspondent sends us the following communication which we present to our readers, without comment. It requires none:
March 4, '88.

EDITOR GUARD:—Your readers will probably be surprised at the idea that nestling in the midst of the Cascade Mountains there is a lake having a subterranean connection with the Pacific Ocean. And yet, I verily believe such is the case. Twelve or fifteen years ago a party of five or six prospectors were engaged in exploring the aforesaid mountains at a point not more than a thousand miles from Three Sisters Mountains. In the course of their explorations, they reached a body of water, called, I believe, Egg Lake, on account of certain peculiarities, which lake has been for an unknown time, a source of terror to the Indians, who ascribed this region to hunt, fish and dig gold. For let me tell you, dear reader, that this is a wonderful place for gold. From time immemorial the Indians of the valleys of the Willamette and Des Chutes rivers have taken gold from this section of the country. Where did they get it? This was the problem that vexed the minds of the early settlers, and the question is not now satisfactorily disposed of. But it is in the vicinity of this lake, for our little party of prospectors found rich indications of the precious metal.

But discussions prevented them from enjoying the fruits of their discovery. While here they made many wonderful discoveries of strange things and events, some of which will be given in this article. The Indians believe that this lake is the abode of His Saviour Majesty, who makes known his presence by strange whistlings and whirrs, which take place at stated times, but which, however, do not last long at a time. These occurrences the Indians could account for on any other hypothesis than that "The Evil One" was at work. But in the light of modern science we can safely attribute them to natural causes. As the lake was of considerable size, our little party concluded to build a raft to cross on rather than climb the hills skirting the lake. Having finished their raft and cut poles to propel it, two of the party concluded to try their little craft. A short distance from shore one of the men thrust down the pole, he held in his hands, into the water, and there seemed to be a strong draft downward, which drew the pole out of his hands. Filled with astonishment, he watched the descending pole, and as he watched, thoughts of Platonic influence entered his mind and he called his companion's attention to the strange event. His companion, having some doubts about the matter, performed the same act. The pole disappeared from view and the two men now thoroughly satisfied as to the Saviour character of the proceedings, hurriedly poled their raft to the shore and none of the party dared again to embark. While on board the raft large fish sported around them, while they gazed on in wonder, not expecting to see such large specimens of the funny tribe. The party also noted during their sojourn in the vicinity of this lake, that the tide rises to a considerable height. This fact leads me to think that this lake has a connecting channel with the ocean. If it has none, how are we to account for the tide rising and falling, presumably in unison with that of the ocean. Then, again, we can account for the presence in the lake of such large and apparently salt water fish in the same way. And we would also dissipate the fears of the Indians with regard to the whistling sounds and the whirlpools by saying that when the tide was going out, it would naturally cause, by suction, such whirlpools and the wind rushing into the funnel of the whirl, would make the whistling noise referred to above and it was probably this suction that drew down the poles, as stated earlier in this article. Having reached this point in our researches, let us now consider the question of the subterranean channel through which the tidal waves of the ocean could affect the height of the water. Let us examine the coast line of Oregon to see if we can find such a water way as will answer our purpose. Nearly due west of this lake such a channel is found in the neighborhood of Cape Perpetua and seems to possess all the essential for such a waterway. From all the information I could obtain, while exploring the country near this channel, I am fairly satisfied that it runs for a long distance under the cape. From the wall under which the channel flows out to the sea, is, I believe, about one-fourth of a mile. Taking all these facts into consideration, I am constrained to believe that the lake by its location and for the reasons hereinbefore given, has a connection with the channel that mingles its waters with those of the ocean in the neighborhood of Cape Perpetua. Very Truly Yours,
BONNIE DUNDEE.

Real Estate.
I shall continue to push the real estate business with all the vigor its profits will justify reports to the contrary notwithstanding. I shall continue to do all in my power to advance the interests of Lane county. My head office will remain at the old stand on Willamette Street, Eugene City and Prof. C. F. Houghton will have charge of the business in my absence.
GEO. M. MILLER.

Coyote Items.
Having perfected arrangements with parties in Portland, I am able now to find purchasers for lands, more readily than heretofore. If you have land for sale, improved or unimproved, you cannot do better than to entrust your business with us. Terms reasonable. Your patronage solicited.
B. F. DORRIS.

WHO IS YOUR BEST FRIEND?
Your stomach of course. Why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair, honorable chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will tell on you less. If your food ferments and does not digest right—if you are troubled with Heartburn, Dizziness of the head, coming up of food after eating, Bloatingness, Indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, as no person can use it without immediate relief.

Blue River Mines.
The Albany Herald of a recent date has interviewed one of a company of miners interested in a ledge in the Blue River mining district, situated between the headwaters of Blue river and the Calapooia. A number of citizens of Eugene are also interested in mines in the same vicinity. The Herald says:

Mr. G. A. Dyson, of Brownsville, who is one of a mining company which has recently made some rich discoveries on the Calapooia, was in the city recently. He exhibited to a Herald reporter some specimens of gold bearing quartz, and some free gold taken from the quartz which required no mining expert to attest to its richness. The quartz is of a semi-decomposed character, and small particles of free gold can readily be seen without the aid of a glass, thickly imbedded in the surface of the rock.
The mine, which is a well defined ledge 75 feet wide, is owned by Messrs. G. A. Dyson, N. B. Standish and J. W. Moore, of Brownsville, and M. H. Williams, a miner of Idaho. Four claims have been located upon the ledge, and a tunnel 92 feet in length has been extended into the mountain. About twenty feet more, Mr. Dyson states, will be required to reach the ledge proper at a depth of 85 feet. The mine is situated six miles from a wagon road, and a trail has been cut into the ledge.
The owners of the mine are confident of success, and the specimens which have been taken out certainly indicates that gold is there in no inconsiderable quantities, the only question being a method of getting it out in paying quantities.

Oregon Military Wagon Road Grants.
The committee appointed to examine the Oregon Military roads including the road from Eugene to the Southeastern part of the state, has reported. A Washington dispatch of March 14th gives the following information:
The secretary of the interior to-day sent to the president for transmission to congress, the report of J. B. McNamee relative to land grant wagon roads in Oregon. The report shows that grants of land were made by Congress in 1864 and 1866 to aid in the construction of these roads, in all over 2,500,000 acres. The report shows that some of these roads were ever constructed, although several governors of the state certified to their completion. On these certificates of the governors, patents have been issued to these companies for 1,000,000 acres. Immediately on securing certificates of completion, the patents were sold, with a view of putting the land in the hands of nominally innocent purchasers. One grant is now claimed by Alexander Well, the second by the California & Oregon Land Company, of San Francisco, and the third by the heirs of Edward Martin, of San Francisco, and the Eastern Oregon Land Company, also of San Francisco. With the report the secretary submits a draft of a bill to be presented to congress repealing all of said granting acts, declaring forfeited all rights and titles and claims thereunder, and restoring to the public domain all lands granted, excepting such as may have been sold to innocent purchasers, who are actual settlers to the extent of one section to each of said purchasers. The bill directs the attorney-general to institute suit to cancel all patents and certifications under said acts, with the exception stated above.

From Grant County.
BEAR VALLEY, Grant Co., March 12.
EDITOR GUARD:—As I have seen several notes from places around I thought I would write you a little sketch of Bear Valley. It is quite a nice little valley about 10 by 20 miles, fine timber section, no underbrush at all, well watered, three streams run through it, Bear creek, Stillits river and Scotta creek; Back of the valley are big bald hills and back of them pine timber, plenty of good grass and several hay ranches. All the stock look well. Some horses have wintered themselves back in the mountains and are in good shape. We had only about twenty inches of snow in the valley this winter, and it is all gone except some spots. In the valley there are about 40 settlers and there are some more coming in as soon as they can get in. There were a few bands of sheep in here last summer and a few talking of coming in this summer, but they will have to stay out when the water is all taken up. One or two sheep men own land in this valley. One man by the name of Jim Small summered sheep in this valley for sixteen years. I understand that is long enough for one man to control the whole country but now the settlers are taking up the water that will keep them out. Harrah for Bear Valley settlers.

BEAR VALLEY SETTLER.
