Want Work at 60 Cents a Day.

Three hundred men advertised in a Philadelphia paper the other day for work at 60 cents a day. Knowing this is true, and believing that the Republicans tell the truth in their campaign speeches, one is led to believe that this must be a "free trade" country. It cannot be true that men have to ask for work in a highly protected country where they are satisfied with 60 cents a day? Alas, it is too true. Protection does not benefit the laborer nor increase his wages. The sole benefit derived from it goes to the corporations, combines, trusts and protected "rings" who are inside of the "charmed circle." The laborer is outside and he is made to feel satisfied with his lot by simply a systematic work now and then from his master, such as "protection to American industry" and a few crumbs from the tables of the rich. Yet the laborer, in every path of life, whether he labors with his brain or muscle, is deluded with the selfish policy of protection. Probably he will awaken from his sleep and delusion to find himself on the edge of starvation; completely in the toils of the privileged class who are in possession of the monopolies.

A Contemptible Lie Contradicted.

Worcester, Mass., June 7.—The charges recently made by Rev. C. H. Pendleton in a newspaper at that place, of disreputable relations between Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, have caused considerable feeling, and prompted Mrs. Margaret Nicodemus, of Worcester, to write Mrs. Cleveland, from whom she has received an autograph letter, as follows:

EXECUTIVE MANSION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6, 1888.
Mrs. Nicodemus—Dear Madam: I can only say, in reply to your letter, that every statement made by Rev. C. H. Pendleton in the interview which you sent me is baseless, false, and I pity the man of his calling who has been made a tool to give circulation to such wicked and heartless lies. I can wish the women of our country no greater blessing than that their homes and their lives may be as happy, and that their husbands may be as kind, considerate and affectionate as mine.
Very truly,
FRANCIS F. CLEVELAND.

Rev. Mr. Pendleton says he was deceived by an unscrupulous reporter who misrepresented what he really said.

The following geographically faraway comment on the result in Oregon, that in the light of subsequent disclosures comes near to the truth, we take from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch:

The two Oregon Senators are Republicans and railroad tools. They were both elected as railroad attorneys, and represent nothing in the Senate but the absolute control of great corporations over Oregon politics. If the election of a legislature to re-elect Delph to the Senate cost a million the money would have been forthcoming, and to anybody who knows anything about Oregon the claim that the Republican success there is a verdict against tariff reform is perfectly absurd. It proves nothing but the inability of the Democrats to break the power of the railroad combination which makes Oregon one of the rotten boroughs of our capitalists and railroad kings.

Andrew Carnegie, driving a coach and four through Scotland while his employees in America suffer a 10 per cent. reduction in wages, is a typical apostle of the modern gospel that high taxes make high wages. Mr. Carnegie has had much lately to say about the beneficence of taxation to create a surplus, but he has thus far failed to enlighten the public how it was that tariff did not save his mill hands that 10 per cent. reduction, especially as it is well known that his mill is the most lucrative property of the kind in the world.

Jay Gould has already put his name down for $5,000 for the Republican campaign fund, "in order," he says, "that we may have protection." We had an idea, which we of course gained from Republican speakers, that protection benefited the laboring man. Jay Gould is doubtless the kind of laboring man who is benefited by protection. Jay has been protected in his rascality all his life, and still his business remains an "infant industry."

Mayor Hewitt, of New York City, is a joker. He said the other day that he would not vote for Cleveland. This was thought strange. Some attached a great deal of importance to it. The Republican press has aided it all over the land. He says he will not vote for Cleveland, but instead will vote for the Cleveland electors of New York State. The hilarious Republican press will please make a note of this explanation.

Norwich, Connecticut, last week was carried by the Democrats for the first time in twenty years. Have you heard from the municipal elections in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut for the past three months, from Albany, Jersey City, Hoboken, Bridgeport, and many other municipalities? They all show heavy Democratic gains.

Republican National Convention.

The National Republican Convention met in Chicago Tuesday June 19th. M. M. Ester, of California, was elected permanent chairman. The platform favors protective tariff, favors abolishing tax on tobacco, favors reducing postage to one cent and condemns the administration. Gresham, Harrison, Allison, Alger, Sherman and Depew were placed in nomination.

Balloting commenced Friday:

First ballot—Alger 84, Depew 99, Fider 29, Gresham 114, Harrison 79, Hawley 13, Ingalls 28, Phelps 25, Rusk 25, Sherman 229, Blaine 33, McKinley 3.

Second ballot—Alger 116, Depew 99, Gresham 110, Harrison 95, Ingalls 16, Phelps 28, Rusk 20, Sherman 249, Blaine 32, McKinley 3, Allison 75, Lincoln 21.

Third ballot—Alger 122, Depew 90, Gresham 123, Harrison 94, Phelps 50, Rusk 16, Sherman 244, Blaine 35, McKinley 8, Allison 88, Lincoln 2, Miller 2.

832 were cast. It will require 417 to nominate.

The convention then adjourned till 7 o'clock Friday evening.

As the GUARD goes to press Friday afternoon we can give no farther report this week.

"A Picturesque Tour."

Mr. A. T. Hawley, in an article entitled "A Picturesque Tour," in the June West Shore, gives Eugene City and vicinity complimentary notice as follows:

"Leaving Roseburg by rail, the tourist is introduced to a sight of the Calapooya range of mountains, interesting as the commonly recognized dividing line between the northern and southern sections of the state. Crossing the summit of this range he finds himself in the far-famed Willamette valley, which, in beauty, fertility and possibilities of supporting a dense and prosperous population, has few rivals in the universe. A few hours run brings him to Eugene City, the seat of the State University. Here let him make up his mind to tarry a while. The town is in every sense of the word a prosperous and active one, from both business and intellectual standpoints. At the same time, it is one of the most restful and agreeable places of sojourn on the Pacific Coast. Embowered in shade, adorned with tasteful and hospitable homes, it challenges admiration, and well deserves it. The University buildings are handsome structures, and the very large geological collection of Rev. Thomas Condon, professor in that department, is one of the most valuable and complete on the coast. If the tourist happens to be fortunate enough to reach Eugene City during commencement week, I can promise him several days of rare and delightful entertainment; and when, from the upper windows of the main building, he looks out upon the exquisite pastoral scene which will greet his eye, if he does not see that all that must have been beautiful in the classic vale of Tempe is here reproduced, I shall think none the less of my own enthusiastic admiration of the scene when I first beheld it, but shall be tempted to call into question the correctness of his taste and judgment.

If the tourist's stay at Eugene is not limited, he will do well to ascend Spencer's Butte, in the vicinity, from the summit of which he will behold a far-sweeping panorama, not unmatchable—for this old earth is full of beauty—but rarely beautiful, and to be remembered with pleasure as long as memory holds her place. A drive out to the forks of the Willamette, among the wheat fields, starred much to the farmer's discomfiture, with myriads of wild pink, with here and there a column of amaranthine lilies, lifting their white chalices on high, will prove another pleasure, which it were not wise to forego. Here, also, another deflection from the main line of travel can be made with profit and pleasure. A camping tour up the McKenzie river, with its wealth of mountain scenery, its rushing rapids and ice-cold waters, its mountain trout and grouse and pheasants and deer and bear, is an episode always to be remembered with delight. The trip can be extended to the base of the Three Sisters, three mountain peaks covered with perpetual snow, or to Foley's springs, sixty miles east of Eugene, the waters of which are fast winning a reputation not second to those of the famous Hot Springs of Arkansas. The Siuslaw river, debouching into the Pacific ocean, is another famous resort of the dwellers of Eugene City and the surrounding country. Taking Eugene City as a base of operations, it is questionable if there is any other spot in the northwest where the material for junketing is more accessible.

One peculiarity of the northwestern flora may be mentioned for the benefit of the botanical tourist. It will be found that the climatic conditions of the country have set their seal upon leaf and flower, shrub and tree. During my first trip through this region this fact had impressed itself upon my mind, and a few months later, meeting Prof. Hawthorne, of the State University, he being at that time on a botanical tour, in the course of conversation, he mentioned the fact, and said that to him it constituted a most instructive object lesson in the manner in which nature cares for her own, and adapts not only the higher, but the lower, forms of life to their environments."

Senator Thurman will visit Washington in a few days and will probably prolong his trip to New York. In the autumn he will make a trip to the Pacific slope, delivering speeches in California, Oregon and Nevada, and making occasional speeches along the route. He is likely to be the liveliest "old man" the Republican party ever encountered.

Not more than 15 or 20 per cent., says the Oregonian, of the amount of lumber is being shipped east from this section as was shipped a few months since, and orders are received only for long sticks or planks more than a foot in width. No other place can compete with this section for such lumber.

Emperor Frederick of Germany died on June 15, 1888. William II. has succeeded to the throne.

Delays are Dangerous.

You say, well, it's only a slight cold, look out, it may lead to an inflammation of the lining of numerous air cells of the Lungs this is pneumonia. Or to spasmodic contractions of the fibres of the air passages, which is Asthma; or the inflammation of the lining membrane of the throat and tubes which pass through the Lungs, which in the first stage is called Bronchitis, and may lead to consumption. Santa Ale's is delicious in flavor, certain and perfect in its result. A few doses will relieve, a thorough treatment cure the above named diseases. Every bottle warranted by all druggists.

Many Of the good things of this life are sorrowfully let alone on account of Dyspepsia. Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation; sold on a positive guarantee at 25 and 50 cents, by Osburn & Co., Eugene.

Goshen Items.

June 21, '88.
Al Keeney has returned to Goshen.

A brother of Willis Holdridge has been visiting him recently.

Rev. McKinley, of Eugene, delivered a sermon at the ball Sunday.

Thompson Morris and wife of Creswell made relatives here a call Sunday.

Miss Agie McClure was severely afflicted with sore throat Sunday necessitating the attendance of a physician.

Died.—At the Dalles, Saturday, June 9, 1888, of diphtheria, the little son of Frank and Rhoda Hampton, aged 21 months.

Through last Friday's Morning Oregonian it is learned that Mr. Geo. Krumrey of this place was discovered insane at Portland. He is a highly esteemed and elderly German, and owns a farm at this place.

Messrs. A. J. and Jos. Hampton and Pete Withers of Paisley arrived here by way of the Military road Thursday last week. They report the road in very bad condition being washed out in a number of places.

Died.—At his parents' home at this place, Wednesday, June 13, 1888, of diphtheria, Fernman, son of John and Mary Hampton, aged 12 years. The remains were interred in the Masonic cemetery at Eugene. The unexpected calling of dear ones from loving relatives and friends is hard to bear, yet there is consolation in the belief that they are where all is love and happiness reigns supreme.

To Her Native Illahes.

On Tuesday evening, old Eliza, relict of the old Indian chief Quinaby, returned to this city, the home of her fathers, after a two years' absence at the reservation at Grande Ronde.

Mrs. Quinaby is now upwards of 80 years of age, it is said, and she tells a pitiful tale of her condition. She says she arrived late Tuesday night, "clatawa" camp, halo fire, halo mukmuck, nika has tickle mukmuck, halo chako sleep; next day sun, halo mukmuck chaco, nika clatawa nanga Boston tillumene, potlatch nika yaqua son mukmuck," pointing to the east. "Nika has anancy, nika halo tillumene middlids. Spoke nika sick, halo tillumene chaco, potlatch mukmuck, halo chako fire, halo chako chuk; nika has wake squaw. Copia reservation, halo flour, halo mukmuck, chako Salem, nanga Boston tillumene, spoke mukmuck mukmuck copo nika." All of which means that old Eliza has a hard time of it.—Capital Journal.

Shooting Affray.

The Heppner Gazette gives an account of a shooting affray at that place, one of the principals in which, Al Larkins, is well known in Eugene and vicinity. It says:

Dee Matlock and Al Larkin became involved in a quarrel last Monday evening and although Larkin was on crutches from the hurt he received last Monday, he agreed with Matlock to fight it out fist and skull. Larkin had barely struck the first blow, when Matlock drew a pistol, of the Bulldog pattern, 44 cal., and fired three shots, one taking effect in the right side of Larkin's neck, just above the collar bone, and barely missing the large artery, and coming out a little above the shoulder blade. The wound is not considered dangerous, but is a close call. Matlock was arrested and fined for violation of the city ordinance, but no complaint being made against him, he was allowed to go without further molestation.

Up to the first inst., the salmon pack on the Columbia was fully up to that of last year to the same time—in round numbers 100,000 cases; since then the pack has fallen off as compared with last season, and it is believed that the pack up to date is not over 125,000 cases. The pack of '88 is now figured at 300,000 or at most 325,000 cases, as compared with 354,000 last year but the aggregate, of course, depends on the July run. The fish are running about ten days earlier this year, and is thought that after July 25, the run will be virtually over.—Astorian, June 16th.

The cunningest fish that ever wore scales and shunted a baited hook, will draw near in thrilled wonderment to an electric light submerged in its native element, and so be allured to his fate. The United States steamer Albatross has been fitted with electric fishing lights for the conduct of scientific research, and preliminary experiments with these lights have revealed the fact that the curiosity of fish to investigate this unwonted radiance brings them to the light.

It is stated in the Omaha World that the ferocious stallion known as the "Man Eater" has been killed in Custer county. The animal left a record of five men killed in four years the last being his owner Peter Moran. Mr. Moran resisted all demands of the neighbors for years to kill the bloodthirsty beast, and finally fell a victim to his deadly teeth and hoofs quite recently. The infuriated people promptly dispatched the animal with shotguns.

A Cloud Burst.

Lexington, Morrow county correspondence Heppner Gazette: About 3 o'clock last Saturday evening a very heavy rain storm passed over this place. It extended about five miles up the creek and took in the entire water shed of Black Horse Canyon. It was by far the heaviest rainfall ever witnessed by the present inhabitants in these parts, and lasted about an hour. Black Horse and Willow creeks came with a mighty rush overflowing the bottom lands and sweeping everything before them. Horses, cows, pigs, chickens, cordwood, stacks of wool, lumber and fences filled the streams. There was nothing drowned but chickens, although some cows had to be pulled out of the current with teams. The small dwelling house of C. C. Boon was carried about 300 yards down the creek when it turned on its side and lodged. It contained the entire earthly possessions of Mr. Boon, which were either lost or ruined. Henry Penland lost 39 sacks of wool, probably half of which will be recovered. The Italian rock workers above town had their entire camp washed away. Considerable of McAllister & Herman's camp and grade was destroyed. Muir Bros. & Saling lost but little. Smith's camp lost some harness, tools, etc., around camp but their grade was not materially damaged. About half the cordwood and loose lumber in town was swept away, and some of the cellars were filled with mud. A movement is on foot to enlarge and straighten the two streams to prevent overflows at the town.

Two Ways. Choose Which!

There are two usual ways of doing what Nature sometimes does incompletely, namely, to relieve the bowels. One is to swallow a drastic purgative which evacuates profusely, abruptly and with pain, the other is to take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the effect of which is not violent, but suitably thorough, and which does not grip the intestines. If the tract is selected, the person employing it need not expect permanent benefit, and he cannot hope to escape the debilitating reaction which leaves the organs as bad or worse than before. If, on the other hand, he resorts to the Bitters, he can rely upon the restoration of a regular habit of body, consequent upon a renewal of a healthy tone in the intestinal canal. Besides healthfully relaxing the bowels, the Bitters arouses a dormant liver, imparts a beneficial impetus to the action of the kidneys, and counteracts the early twinges of rheumatism, a tendency to gout, and malaria in all its forms.

Orders for Spencer Butte fruit trees may be left at the Grange store; also Mr. Brown, on Eighth street will have them for sale. Three year old bartlett pear trees will be $12 a hundred, smaller ones $8. Other trees cheap. ONVILLE PHILLIPS, Prop.
