

THE EUGENE CITY GUARD.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1888.

Democratic Ticket.

For President: GROVER CLEVELAND, Of New York. For Vice President: ALLEN G. THURMAN, Of Ohio. For Presidential Electors: W. H. EFFINGER, Of Multnomah. E. R. SKIPWORTH, Of Umatilla. W. R. BILLYE, Of Lincoln.

Indiana.

The people who think Indiana is a sure Republican State this time may be mistaken. At the present time, all indications are otherwise. T. C. Crawford, the well known Republican correspondent, called from Europe last week that Judge Gresham had said in private conversation that Harrison could not carry Indiana. And ex-Gov. Porter, on declining to run for Governor of Indiana, gave this to the press: "I do not want to be quoted as saying it is certain to go Republican. I said Indiana was a very doubtful state." The S. F. Alta thus exposes a Republican rooster concerning Indiana, which has appeared in the Oregonian.

The following is a specimen of a number of paragraphs floating around the Republican press:

Among the 500 members of the Republican Club at Evansville, Ind., there are over 40 Democrats, who have left their party because of its attitude on the tariff question. This is said to be a sample of the way things are going in the State.

The paragraph became the subject of energetic debate between a Republican and a Democrat in Dubuque, Iowa. It was at last agreed between them that the Republican disputant should write to a Republican residing in Evansville for the exact facts, the Democrat to have the privilege of seeing the letter and the reply. The answer was brief and to the point. The Evansville Republican said that no forty Democrats, nor one-tenth of that number, had signed the roll of a Republican club. He said he wished the paragraph was true, for the Republicans needed votes had enough in Indiana, but signs of Democratic defection are lacking. He further added that he had only been able to find two Democrats in Evansville who spoke favorably of General Harrison, and neither of these would signify any intention to vote for him. Nine out of ten of the Republican "campaign straws," when traced up, are found to be of the same character.

A Splendid Showing.

A prominent citizen of Eugene has handed us a copy of the Chicago Wholesale Price List, a mercantile journal, of July 14th, 1888. It contains a report of the treasury department on July 1st, 1887, and July 1st, 1888, which shows that on the latter date the circulating medium of the country, had been increased by $55,000,000 over the amount in circulation July 1st, 1887. The following important table of changes in separate items will prove of unusual interest:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Gold coin increased $15,000,000; U. S. notes decreased 18,000,000; National Banks notes decreased 31,500,000; Silver certificates increased 58,000,000; Silver dollars and fruct. cur. inc. 3,000,000; Gold certificates increased 28,000,000. Excess of increase $55,000,000.

Importing Pauper Labor.

It has been supposed by good Republicans that Levi P. Morton stays awake of nights thinking how he can improve the condition of the poor workmen. Mr. Morton, it is proved, paid a few years ago less wages than his neighbors. Being dissatisfied with his laborers, he imported contract labor from Europe, turned his American laborers away, and made a considerable saving in wages. Mr. Harrison voted thirty four times in the Senate to allow pauper Chinese labor to enter the United States and not once against it, and in 1876 counseled the shooting of railroad strikers who wanted a dollar a day for work. That was the year under our blessed Republican tariff, when two million men were out of employment, and not a Mills tariff bill in sight.

A Rampant Free Trader.

Levi P. Morton voted in Congress to put salt, printing type and printing paper on the free list. If he had been a Democrat and proposed to make these things free, he would have been denounced as a "free trader." It makes a difference, you see.

Mr. L. P. Custer, secretary of the Henry George club said: You can say for me that as one who was reared a republican, and cast my vote in 1884 for James G. Blaine, I am opposed to the Republican party this year because it represents monopoly in its most brazen and aggravated form. I am opposed to Ben Harrison especially because he is a cor-ocean attorney and the figurehead of a party backed by and dominated by the specially legalized privileged classes; the would be aristocracy of America, and the American tycoons, who are working along the same line for the oppressing of the masses that the Tory party in England is pursuing toward the masses in her own country and especially those of Ireland. Who will dispute my assertion? There are many other charges against Mr. Harrison that will put him on the defensive from the start. I am for Cleveland and Thurman, and am going to work for their election, and while not speaking by authority for my friends and of leagues, all, with very few exceptions, like myself ex-Republicans who voted for Blaine, hold the same sentiments that I have here expressed.

Now that the Mills bill has gone to the Senate an interesting work might be compiled containing the public declarations of the Republican members of that body in behalf of tariff reduction. Senator Dawes of Massachusetts, Hawley of Connecticut, Hale of Maine, Allison and Wilson of Iowa, Evans of New York, Sabin of Minnesota, Sherman of Ohio, Plumb of Kansas and Paddock of Nebraska—every man of them has expressed himself in favor of a more radical measure of tariff reduction than that which the Senate is now invited by the representatives of the people to consider.

The Philadelphia Press which has howled its ribs loose against reducing taxes to get rid of the surplus, now says: "If Congress does nothing to relieve the surplus there will be a financial pinch when Fall trade opens." Mr. Cleveland saw that last December.—Alta.

Ex Governor D. D. Farnsworth is among the West Virginia Republicans who have declared their determination to support Cleveland and Thurman.

John Boyle O'Reilly on the Tariff.

John Boyle O'Reilly is the editor of the leading Irish paper in America, which recently said:

Let any one who doubts the working of protection go into the mining and iron manufacturing districts of Pennsylvania and Ohio, and see whom protection protects. Let him go and ask the unfortunate workmen who went on a strike last Saturday to the number of a hundred thousand, President Cleveland is a right, bold, able man, and his party is wise and courageous. We are of the working people. We want the tariff revised just as he suggested, and the Democratic platform demanded.

The returns from the vote on the Mills bill are coming in rapidly. The labor organizations of the eighth Iowa district, as soon as the vote was announced Saturday, endorsed Congressman A. R. Anderson, the independent Republican who voted for the bill. Congressman Knute Nelson's position was announced months ago, and his congressional district convention some time ago declared:

"We highly appreciate the services of our congressman, Knute Nelson, and are proud of the honorable distinction so justly attained by him. We heartily approve of his earnest efforts to secure a reform and reduction of the tariff, and his action therein has been in accord with the plainly expressed will of the Republican party of this district, enunciated in the platform upon which he has been elected."

Congressman Knute Nelson has now been put in the field by his friends for United States Senator for Minnesota, to succeed Dwight M. Sabin. Congressman Ashbel P. Fitch, of New York, has received a letter from 2,800 constituents, including many Republicans, endorsing his position.

Henry D. Hotchkiss, a prominent lawyer of Brooklyn, has sent the following letter of resignation to the First Ward Republican Association of that city:

I beg to offer my resignation as a member of the First Ward Republican Association. Although driven from the support of the Republican candidate for President in 1884, the tariff plank in the Republican platform of that year induced me to still count myself a Republican, in the hope that the party would ultimately return to the high and patriotic standard it once maintained both in its policy and candidates. It was because of this hope, but with a sanguinity scarcely justified by my observation of the course of the party since 1884, that, as a member of the legislature of 1886, I entered the Republican caucus and voted with the Republicans on all party questions. But the time has come when further hope is neither justified nor possible, and when those who believe that the party no longer represents either its principles or theirs, should withdraw their support. Respectfully yours, HENRY D. HOTCHKISS.

One of the latest accessions to the ranks of tariff reform is Judge Frank T. Reid, a leading Tennessee Republican, and the nominee of that party for Governor in 1884, when the Republican ticket received the largest vote it ever received in Tennessee. He says he will vote for Cleveland; that he still believes in the creed of the Republican party, with the exception that he no longer believes in the doctrine of a high protective tariff, but as that is the distinctive, if not the sole issue in the present campaign, he deems it his duty to vote against the party that maintains it. Judge Reid will take the stump for Cleveland and revenue reform.

The rainfall of Eastern Oregon is about one-half that of interior valleys. Along the coast from 62 to 78 inches fall annually. In the Willamette valley from 42 to 56 inches fall annually. In the Umpqua valley 35 inches fall annually. In the Rogue river valley, Klamath and Lake counties, and on the plateau east of the Cascade range of mountains, known as Eastern Oregon, from 13 to 25 inches falls annually. The rainfall in Oregon, as well as in California and Washington Territory, increases from south to north. Rain falls from 100 days at Ashland to 160 days at Portland in a year. The average for the state would be about 125 days.

D. S. Early, of Harrisburg, Pa., Greenback-Labor candidate for Congress in 1888, and for Auditor General in 1885, has come out for Cleveland. He says the Democratic party has kept its promise, while the Republican party has failed in that respect. Several prominent Greenback-Labor people, in addition to Mr. Early, have declared their purpose to vote for Cleveland.

The Democratic House sent to the Republican Senate a bill forfeiting 52,000,000 acres of unsecured land grants. The Senate repudiated this measure and passed one returning to the Government about 5,000,000 acres. And yet the Republican party is in favor of preserving the national domain from land grabbers! Platforms are curious things.

One Summer Resort.

[Sunday Welcome.]

Yaquina, and Newport, its immediate neighbor, are considerably exercised over the disruption of two of their prominent families and the collisions preceding, a few days since. Alvosa Case, one of the principals, finding W. S. Hufford, late candidate for district attorney, sauntering along the beach with Mrs. Case, dealt her escort a furious blow and proceeded to administer such punishment as laid him hors de combat and caused an estrangement between Mr. and Mrs. Case, which had at last accounts had not been healed.

A battle royal between Mr. Dillon, the Yaquina undertaker, and Mr. Tittman, was the second toothsome sensation that gave the gossips an opportunity to wag their ever-willing tongues. Dillon's avowed friendship for Mrs. Tittman was abhorrent to the latter's spouse, who voicing his objections was beaten by Dillon and badly disgraced about the face, one of his optics being closed. The result of this rencontre was Dillon's impromptu disappearance from home leaving his wife and children in ignorance of the cause of his departure. It is conceded he will return when the excitement waxes and the affair is forgotten.

ARTISTIC PORTRAITS.—The neatest campaign publication to hand, so far, is the artistic portrait of the Democratic nominees, Cleveland and Thurman, sent out by Messrs. Siegel, Cooper & Co., of State and Adams streets, Chicago. The Democratic platform is shown surrounded by a wreath with 39 stars, in the center of each of which is the number of electoral votes cast by the particular state represented. The price by mail, including postage, is 50 cents each. Send for one.
