KNOXVILLE, TENN., July 2, 1888.
The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.:
Gentlemen—I can cheerfully and truthfully say that S. S. S. is the greatest blood purifier on earth. In 1884 I contracted blood poison. Physicians treated me with no good results. I took a half dozen different kinds of blood medicines, but, without receiving any permanent relief! I was induced to try S. S. S. I began the first bottle with the gravest doubts of success. I had been so often deceived. But improvement came, and I continued its use until perfectly well. I have since married, and have a healthy family. No trace of the disease is seen. Swift's Specific did all this for me, and I am grateful. Yours truly,
J. S. STRADER,
115 Dale Ave.

Tariff Reform.

Subjoined is printed the sentiments of leading Republicans on the necessity of tariff reform.

GARFIELD IN CONGRESS, 1870.
"Mr. Chairman, examining thus the possibilities of the situation, I believe that the true course for the friends of protection to pursue is to reduce the rates on imports whenever we can justly and safely do so, and, accepting neither of the extreme doctrines urged on this floor endeavor to establish a stable policy that will commend itself to all patriotic and thoughtful people."

GARFIELD IN CONGRESS, 1879.
"I believe that we ought to seek that point of stable equilibrium somewhere between a prohibitory tariff on the one hand and a tariff that gives no protection on the other. In other words, I would have the duty so adjusted that every great American industry can fairly live and make fair profits; and yet so low that if our manufacturers are tempted to put up prices unreasonably, the competition from abroad would come in and bring down prices to a fair rate. Such a tariff, I believe, would be supported by the great majority of Americans."

PRESIDENT ARTHUR'S MESSAGE, 1881.
"The tariff law also needs revision, but that a due regard may be paid to the conflicting interests of our citizens important changes should be made with caution. If a careful revision cannot be made at this session, a commission such as was lately approved by the (Republican) Senate, and is now recommended by the (Republican) Secretary of the Treasury, would doubtless lighten the labors of Congress whenever this subject shall be brought to its consideration."

SECRETARY FOLGER'S REPORT, 1881.
"A revision of the tariff seems necessary to meet the condition of many branches of trade. That condition has materially changed since the enactment of the tariff bill of 1864, which formed the basis of the present tariff as to most of the articles imported."

PRESIDENT ARTHUR'S MESSAGE, 1882.
"I recommend an enlargement of the free list and a general revision of the tariff."

TARIFF COMMISSION, 1882.
Early in its deliberation the commission became convinced that a substantial reduction of the tariff duties is demanded, not by a mere indiscriminate popular clamor, but by the best conservative opinion of the country, including that which has in former times been most strenuous for the preservation of our national industrial defenses. Such a reduction of the existing tariff the commission regards not only as a due recognition of public sentiment and a measure of justice to consumers, but one conducive to the general industrial prosperity, and which, though it may be temporarily inconvenient, will be ultimately beneficial to the special interests affected by such reduction."

SECRETARY FOLGER'S REPORT, 1882.
"In reading the testimony before the tariff commission, it is to be observed that with scarcely an exception the representative of every industry, while conceding that a general reduction of the tariff is proper and necessary, has claimed that its peculiar product can submit to no reduction of the taxation now afforded. While the views of the manufacturers are to be weighed it is manifest that they will never be able to agree upon a reduction of the tariff duties. All agree that a revision of the tariff is necessary."

SECRETARY M'COLLOCH'S REPORT, 1884.
"This much, however, it may be proper for me to recommend: First—That the existing duties upon raw materials which are to be used in manufacture should be removed. This can be done in the interest of our foreign trade. Second—That the duties upon the articles used or consumed by those who are the least able to bear the burden of taxation should be reduced. This also can be effected without prejudice to our export trade. The tax upon whisky could not be repealed without a disregard of public sentiment, nor without creating a necessity for higher duties upon imported goods."

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM OF 1884.
"The Democratic party has failed completely to relieve the people of the burden of unnecessary taxation by a wise reduction of the surplus. The Republican party pledges itself to correct the inequalities of the tariff and to reduce the surplus."

BLAINE'S FAIR MESSAGE, 1888.
"I would not advise the repeal of the whisky tax. Other considerations than those of financial administration are to be taken into account with regard to whisky. There is a moral side to it. To cheapen the price of whisky is to increase the consumption enormously. There would be no sense in urging the reform wrought by high license in men's tastes if the National Government neutralizes the good effect by making whisky within reach of every one at twenty cents a gallon."

A traveling man, stopping at the Lee House, Campbellsburg, Ind., on learning that a lady in the village was suffering terribly with cramp colic, gave the landlady a bottle of medicine, which he had with him and requested her to take it to the sick woman. The medicine relieved her promptly and she believes saved her life. It was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, the promptest and most reliable medicine in use for Bowel complaints. Sold by Osburn & Co.

Cholera Morbus is one of the most painful and dangerous diseases, many deaths resulting from it each year, usually because it is not properly treated. The most severe cases may be cured by using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Sold by Osburn & Co.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used with great success during our epidemic of bloody flux. I do not know of a case that was lost where this remedy was used. One of my friends, about six miles from here, had a child that was given up by the two doctors who attended it. He then used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and the child recovered. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms. Wishing you abundant success for the good you are doing, I am, Very Truly Yours,—P. E. LANSBEE, P. M., Chestnut, Amherst Co., Va. Sold by Osburn & Co.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen?

For several weeks before the Maine election the columns of the Republican organs teemed with accounts of wholesale desertions of their old party by Maine Democrats on account of the Mill's bill. In one town sixty-eight Democrats in a body had "walked into a Republican meeting and announced themselves for Harrison, Morton and protection." In another thirty had done the same thing, and in another twenty-five. Democratic farmers by the score had declared that they "wanted no free trade in their'n," and would therefore vote the whole Republican ticket for the first time in their lives. Prominent manufacturers, heretofore Democrats, and their employees in large numbers had become enthusiastic converts to Republicanism. Indeed, according to the Republican election reports from Maine, the Democratic party of that State had practically dissolved, and the Republican ticket was certain to be elected by substantially a unanimous vote.

Well, as it turned out, Mr. Putnam, the Democratic nominee for Governor, received the largest vote ever cast for a Democratic candidate in the State. The Republican plurality fell off over 7 per cent from 1884. The Democratic vote increased over 5 per cent; the Republican vote only 2 per cent. The question is: On election day where was the grand army of Maine Democrats who had just abandoned their party on account of the tariff question? Were these Democratic "deserters" lost, strayed or stolen? The people who had been depending upon the Republican newspapers for information as to the situation in Maine are certainly entitled to an explanation.

A Stinging Tale.
You never hear the bee complain,
Nor hear it weep nor wail;
But if it wish it can unfold
A very painful tale.
—Washington Critic.

From well informed parties the News learns that the thief is known who stole the $10,000 package which was deposited in the post-office in Portland destined for New York which place it never reached. It is stated that the only reason the suspected party is not arrested is that the authorities have not all the evidence that they want. It is claimed that Uncle Sam's mail is being systematically robbed by a well organized band of thieves, who have operatives at this end as well as in New York. Who the suspected man is, it is impossible to learn, but sufficient was said to lead one to believe that the arrest will soon take place.

The United States fish commission lately sent to California 600 live lobsters, 350 of which arrived safely at Sacramento. Several attempts had previously been made to send live lobsters across the North American continent, but had failed. In the present instance Col. Mc Donald, fish commissioner, personally superintended the packing of the lobsters. A crate or box devised by the late Captain Chester was used. This was placed within another larger box, the intervening space being filled with pounded ice.

Marshall Bazaine is dead. He died too late, an exile and outcast from his country, hated and hated by the French army, of which he was once a proud and distinguished leader. Had he died before Metz fell he would have been a hero in the eyes of the French nation. Metz fell and he did not die, and his rank and glory faded with the Empire of the weak old left-handed nephew of his uncle—Alta.

The annual report of the North-Pacific was issued on the 20th inst. It shows an increase on the gross earnings over last year of $3,056,880; increase on operating expenses, $2,093,865; increase of net earnings, $983,015; increase of other income, $74,171; increase of fixed charges, $684,248; increase of surplus, $452,978; increase of mileage, 234.

It is stated that M. de Lesseps subsidizes the French press to the extent of at least £100,000, for which nice little sum it is expected to make propaganda for his schemes. The Figaro and Gaulois are said to require about £25,000, the Matin £10,000 and the Petit Journal £50,000 per annum.

It is stated that plans are being prepared in the navy department at Washington for two new monitors, which, if the report is to be trusted, will be marvels of offensive and defensive strength. They are to carry a 110 ton gun, to be heavily arm-ored, and to steam eighteen knots an hour, all on a displacement of 3,500 tons.

The English spelling is the worst in the world. Millions of years are wasted by each generation trying to learn it. Millions of dollars are wasted each year in printing and writing sill-ent letters.
