

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

—It's a pity that the dude can't be allowed the woman's privilege of changing his mind. Perhaps if he were he might possibly make a swap for one that was occasionally good for something.—Journal of Education.

—The reason why so many old families die out is because the younger ones have not been sense enough to swarm. They want to stay together and live on each other until they all starve.—N. O. Picayune.

—She—"Ralph, why did you send me a little red flag to-day?" Ralph (a rejected and dejected suitor)—"I beg you will wear it as a signal of danger. You know, I would not like to see the other fellow's suffer as I do now."—Life.

—"Young man," he said, solemnly, "what would you think if I should put an enemy into my mouth to steal away my brains?" "I would (hic) think, sir," hic-coughed the young man, "that you were going to an unnecessary expense."—N. Y. Sun.

—With $500,000 represented in a single dog show this country has no reason to be discouraged. Twenty years from now we shall be worth many millions in dogs, though we may possibly lose a few sheep.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

—An article is going the rounds of the papers headed: "How to Select a Wife." Its rules are very scientific and interesting, but when a young man falls in love he doesn't ponder over rules. He just shuts both his eyes tight and grabs frantically in the dark.—Sawyer's Journal.

—Prospective son-in-law—"Modern custom justifies me in asking you how much you are going to give your daughter in case we marry?" Prospective father-in-law—"Yes, and modern custom justifies me in asking you how many of your debts you expect to pay with my money."—Texas Siftings.

—Mrs. Chisley—"I see statistics show that forty-five per cent of male criminals are unmarried." Mr. Chisley—"Which shows how many men prefer the penitentiary to matrimony." And the ensuing silence was so deep that Mrs. Chisley could hear herself reflect.—Puck.

—"Is it becoming to me?" she asked, as she paraded in the costume of one hundred years ago before her husband. "Yes, my dear," said he, meekly. "Don't you wish I could dress in this fashion always?" "No, my dear; but I wish," he added musingly, "you had lived when that was the style."

—Lightning-rod agent (to boy): "Is that your father lying there in the shade, sonny?" Boy—"No, sir; pa's away, an' me an' ma is the only ones at home; that's a dead book agent. D'ye want to sell ma any thing?" "Thunder, no!" said the lightning-rod man.

—The day will come in this country when the man who carries a cane under his arm and the man who carries an umbrella on his shoulder, will be taken out and hit with a squash, and hit hard enough to kill. Then the woman with the baby cart wants to look out.—Detroit Free Press.

—Long-haired stranger—"My friend, don't you believe in the grand old maxim that 'Honesty is the best policy?' Citizen—"Well, I didn't use to, sir; but now that I have accumulated a snug fortune and retired from business, I'm beginning to think there's something in it. An honest man, stranger, is a very noble work indeed."—Time.

—According to the Republican, a Springfield market man sent an order to a farmer in a neighboring town for some chickens, but neglected to state whether the fowls should be shipped alive or dressed. Not being "up" on current literature, he was rather surprised to receive a postal the next day, on which was written: "The quick or the dead?"

—"Way, Bilbeck," said Singleman to a friend in a restaurant, "I thought you went to housekeeping a week ago, and now I find you here taking your meals?" "Yes," said Bilbeck, garnishing a fried oyster with ketchup, "two days after we commenced housekeeping our cook was taken sick, and my wife has been filling her place, and you know she took lessons at a cooking school."—Drake's Magazine.

Toilet Recipes of Ancient Egypt. Curious hair recipes occur on some of the papyri, some of which are very absurd. One to prevent the hair from turning gray directs that a salve should be made from the blood of a black calf cooked in oil; in another that of a black bull is preferred for the same object. Evidently the color of the animal was to pass through the salve into the hair. In another place we read of the tooth of a donkey dipped in honey being used for really strengthening the hair; and the ingredients for an ingenious compound are given for injuring the hair of a rival, and the counter-remedy to be used by those who think their hair-oil has been tampered with by a suspicious friend. Cakes of some composition which absorbed oil were always placed on the heads of the guests at least, and from them the oil gradually trickled down through the hair. A most disagreeable practice this may seem to us, but to them it appears to have given great pleasure; and with the Egyptians as well as with the Hebrews, oil was symbolical of joy and gladness. Rouge and other coloring substances were used by women of Egypt to enhance, as they thought, their beauty; the eyes had often a green line under them; the lashes and eyebrows were penciled in black; and, as in modern Egypt, the nails were always stained red with a preparation from the henna plant.—Woman's World.

LOU CABINS are fast going out of style as fashionable residences. Lou Cabins will, however, always have a place in American history, as they were the most prominent feature of our country's early social life. The pioneers were strong, rugged, healthy, Warner's, and their health was maintained by a French engineer has conferred a blessing on all players of stringed instruments by inventing a peg which will not slip.

A Wonderful Food and Medicine. Known and used by physicians all over the world. Scott's Emulsion not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body.

BETTER THAN A HERO. "What a coward that Major Smith is," said Jones to Robinson, "why, the very sight of gun-powder would make him ill. How did he ever manage to be a hero in the army?" "Don't say anything against him," answered Robinson; "he once saved my life."

—To reprove small faults with undue vehemence is as absurd as if a man should take a great hammer because he saw a fly on a friend's forehead.

WIT AND WISDOM. —Two heads may be better than one, but not in one family.—Boston Courier.

—Every medal has its reverse, and every meddler is sure to meet with one. —It does not take an imaginary evil long to become a real one.—Philadelphia Call.

—The fortune-teller is apt to find in her old age some of her palmist days. —Duluth Paragon.

—Men will work harder for a day's pleasure than they will for a week's wages.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

—Reflect upon your present blessings, of which every man has many, not on your past misfortunes, of which all men have some.—Dickens.

—Occasion may be the bugle-call that summons an army to battle, but the blast of a bugle can never make soldiers or win victories.—Garfield.

—When did a child ever look ugly to its mother? And larks, doubtless, think their featherless, discolored, yellow-mantled squabs more beautiful than full-grown humming-birds.

—One rich man wears poor clothes because he is rich and can do anything, while a poor man wears fine clothes because he is poor and wants to create the impression that he is not.

—Let no one suppose that by acting a good part through life he will escape scandal. There will be those even who hate him for the very qualities that ought to procure him esteem.

—One of the most unhappy men in the world is he who, instead of measuring his strength against his work, is always measuring it against the strength of other men.—Christian Union.

—He who gives good advice builds with one hand; he who gives good counsel and example, builds with both; but he who gives good admonition and bad example, builds with one hand and pulls down with the other.—Bacon.

—If there is anything that will bring a young man down with his nose to the grindstone of common sense it is to see his best girl pinning a fifty-cent bouquet, which he had presented her, in the coat of a dude admirer.—Fall River Advertiser.

—Where there are no men, show thyself a man, runs the old rabbinical saying. If it is a vain, babbling crowd that encircles you, a crowd without dignity, and grace and culture, and abiding faith, let them perceive, not through the conscious exhibition of goody qualities, which would display your conceit, not your character, but through the unconscious beauty, purity and simplicity of your life, as effortless as the shining sun at dawn, that your example is worthy of imitation.—Jewish Messenger.

A good draft horse is the most valuable of all horses. It has such a horse keep him and take care of him.

PRUDENCE. In medication, as in attack, prudence is the best guide. Not thousands cost it to the winds. The very bow of every false school has its goals. Every change in the current of humors is rung successfully for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the eczema. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day, the most effective of humors is rung successfully in the treatment of physicians, approved and recommended by physicians, endorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids every where. It is an ascertained specific for the preventive of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a powerful invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

It is a matter of economy, as well as mercy to properly shoe horses that have to work side by side through the heaviest of hard work during the spring and summer.

IMITATORS AND IMPOSTORS. The unequal success of ALCOCK'S FOROUS PLASTERS as an external remedy has stimulated unscrupulous parties to put forth imitations which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of Alcock's. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same cut-glass as the genuine and original porous plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merit unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority to or equality with Alcock's is a pretence.

The ablest medical practitioners and chemists and thousands of grateful patients unite in declaring ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS the best external remedy known.

A YOUNG GIRL'S GRIEF. At seeing her charms of face and form departing, and her health imperiled by functional irregularities, at her critical period of life, was turned to joy and gratitude after a brief self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It purified and enriched her blood, gave a healthy activity to the kidneys, stomach, bowels, and other organs, and brought forth her health and vigor. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be returned. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

O! YES, YES! CERTAINLY! A singed cat dreads the fire. I plead guilty. I am selling a "new-fangled" machine. LOOK AT IT—AIN'T IT A DAISY?

THE "ADVANCE" THRESHERS AND ENGINES. I guarantee the New-Fangled Advance Separator to be the best grain-saving, most efficient and most durable separator ever made. But remember, it is not an experimental machine, as the Old Fogy machines are. You are well aware of the time lost (that Thresher leads the way. The growling and kicking of the Old Fogy agents is only equalled by the amount of grain kicked out in the straw by the Old Fogy machines. Of course, if you wish a cheap machine, Old Fogy will supply you at your own price; but their machines are not to be taken into buying a machine because it is cheap and Old Fogy look. Ask the Old Fogy agents if they will set beside the new-fangled machine and let you see which is the most efficient machine, and sold on its merits. I have never yet had to call on any court to help decide the merits of the new-fangled machine. Please crane the court records in reference to the Old Fogy's plan. Many years ago a man built a new-fangled machine, called a steam engine. Old Fogy then, as now, stood back and said they would ruin the country. Do you not want to be ruined in the same way? Remember, the new-fangled machine is just all experimenting, while Old Fogy's machines are being experimented with all the time, and at your expense. Do not fool with them any longer, your grain is going to waste.

Remember the new-fangled machine is sold on its merits entirely. Remember, your whole dependence is upon your crop proceeds, and if you allow Old Fogy machines to waste your grain, you are just that much out of pocket. To prevent this, see that the party that does your threshing procures a new-fangled ADVANCE Thresher, as they are constructed so as to save your grain, and have a better record than any old-fogy machine. Write for further particulars. I am prepared to prove all my statements—L. O. THE ADVANCE machine will do more and better work than any other.

I hereby challenge any old fogy agent to name ANY case where the ADVANCE machine has failed to do as represented since its introduction on this Coast, show up or shut up.

Remember that old fogy agents saying the contrary does not make it so. It will pay you to investigate. I can prove all I say.

I also sell the well known DINKER WOODBURY POWER. A number of manufacturers make them on a royalty but I do not know of any imitations, but am always inclined to look out for those that talk of imitations. I also deal in Laundry and Marine Machinery, Farm, Church and School Bells, General Machinery, Swift Oilers, Orme Safety Valves, Miller Pumps, Hancock Insulators, Park & Kennedy Injectors, Arms and Amalgamators, Washers, Blacksmith Drills, Self-heating Bath Tubs, the Westinghouse Engines. See the prices: 10 horse on wheels, $500; Traction, $100; 15 horse Traction, $100. Special discount for cash. General Agent for Columbia's Dynamoes and Lamps for Electric Lighting—3 to 200 lights.
