A Cause for Damages.
The law provides that those awaiting trial for crimes committed must be held in confinement, where bail is not given, until trial. But the county must furnish a suitable place and one that will not injure the health of its inmates. A dispatch from Colfax, W. T., of Feb. 10th shows the trouble brought on Whitman county by having a rotten jail. Lane county would do well to make a note of this affair. Lane county grand juries have condemned our old jail in terms as strong as those used by Judge Nash. The dispatch says:
Yesterday suit was begun by attorney Sullivan, Chadwick & Brown, and R. G. Blair, for Michael Schreck against Whitman county, praying for $10,000 damages. During last summer the plaintiff was confined in the county jail, held by order of the court upon a warrant to keep the peace, which resulted in the total loss of Schreck's health. At the beginning of plaintiff's term of confinement he was a sound and able-bodied man, and he is to-day a physical wreck. These facts were brought to the attention of Judge Nash, presiding at the December term of the district court, who, after hearing the evidence of physicians through out the county, at once ordered Schreck's release, holding the present jail wholly unfit for the confinement of human beings, and saving in addition that the place used by Whitman county for the imprisonment of criminals was like its court house, "a stench in the nostrils of decency."
In an interview with impartial attorneys this morning, a number expressed themselves of the belief that Schreck would undoubtedly receive a large sum.

Don't Believe It

Give Them a Chance!
That is to say, your lungs: Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them: That is to take Beecher's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

What is it?
That produces that beautifully soft complexion and leaves no traces of its application or injurious effects? The answer, W. S. Don's Robotine accomplishes all this, and is pronounced by ladies of taste and refinement to be the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Warranted harmless and matches. F. M. Wilkins, agent, Eugene City.
H. N. Crain is selling off at cost. Call early and secure bargains.

Best of All
Tough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known, as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.
"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a variety of many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hepler, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terre Bonne, La.
"I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy
For Home Use.
I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.
"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.
"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding from the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and sound as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

Mohawk Items.
Feb. 28, 1889.
Roads almost bottomless.
Local laconics are a scarcity.
Mr. Geo. Scott returned this week from Portland.
Mr. Al. Montgomery spent Tuesday night in Eugene.
Mrs. Will Seavey spent a part of last week with relatives in Eugene.
We understand that Mr. C. Arnel intends moving his fence in the near future.
Miss Laura Walker, of Eugene, is visiting relatives and friends at this place this week.
A magic lantern company will show at the Mohawk school house next Saturday evening.
Mr. Henry Baxter, of Corvallis was up last week in attendance at his brother's wedding.
Some from here attended the social hop given at Coburg on Friday night last. They report having had an enjoyable time.
Miss Mae Hammit, who has been staying in Eugene during the past two months, came up Sunday for a short sojourn with relatives and friends.
The Smith saw mill, situated on the McKenzie opposite Mr. Seavey's and in course of construction, is beginning to assume the appearance of a mill. The mill will have a capacity of sawing from twenty-five to thirty thousand feet per day.
Mohawk is well represented in the Eugene public school, among them being Miss Fannie Hammit, Misses Mand and Geneva Stafford, the two Misses Spores, Miss Poll Yarnall and Miss Mand Shelby. Verily our young ladies know the value of an education.
A wedding was consummated at this place on Thursday, Feb. 21, 1889, the contracting parties being Mr. Chas. Baxter and Miss Catherine Root, both of this place. We extend to them our congratulations, and may peace, happiness and prosperity attend as they journey down the path of conjugal felicity.
In this part of the county we do not think that there has ever been more flattering indications of a year of prosperity than those which are thus far manifest. The winter has been very mild and agreeable, requiring little feed to keep the stock in excellent condition. The fall wheat has done well and our farmers are expecting large returns for their outlay next harvest. The hop yards are being put in fine condition and if the expectations of good returns are received Mohawk will this year experience an era of prosperity in the line of improvements unequalled by any year of the past. Land in this section is steadily advancing and with more suitable improvements this small valley is destined to become one of the most desirable and attractive localities in the county.

Shoe your Own Horse.
Boston Herald
The London Times announces an invention which is called "the nailless horseshoe." It is one of the difficulties in the use of the horse that, if he casts a shoe, you are in peril till you reach the nearest blacksmith's, and then are delayed fifteen or twenty minutes till the shoe is put on. The street-car horses and team horses are subject to the same delay, and in time of war, when everything depends upon the certainty of the supplies, the loss of horses' shoes often delays a team wagon at a moment when the detention is fatal to military movements. The invention of a nailless horseshoe removes this difficulty. The shoe is so adapted to the foot that the driver or teamster can put on the new shoe within three minutes, and it will serve every purpose and will remain on as long as a shoe that is held by the old method of nailing. This new shoe pinches the edge of the hoof at certain points, and is held on mainly in this way, no nails being driven into the hoof, the value of this invention, not only in saving time in shoeing, but in removing its perils, will be seen. It is not known that the invention has yet reached this country, but it is claimed that it has been successfully employed in England, and that it will work a revolution in the shoeing of horses everywhere.

Resolutions of Condolence.
At a regular meeting of St. Mary's Episcopal Sunday School the following resolutions were adopted:
WHEREAS, It has pleased God to remove our associate and fellow worker, Edgar S. Hawthorne.
Resolved, That this Sunday School has lost an intelligent and valuable helper, a kind and faithful member, the State University a bright and promising student, and his parents' brothers and sisters a loving son and brother.
Resolved, That, while we mourn and miss him, we believe he has but journeyed before us to the golden shore, where he joyfully waits to welcome the dear ones, whose spirits like his will at last be borne away on snowy wings to Heaven's gleaming city and gardens of light.
Resolved, That we commend the sorrowing ones to the tender Saviour whose tears mingled with His friends who mourned at the touch of Death's icy hand.
Resolved, That as a testimonial of our heartfelt sorrow and respect to the memory of our companion, this room be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days. Also that copies of these resolutions be given to the bereaved family and be given to each of the town papers for publication.

Whitney's Administration!
Secretary William C. Whitney of the Navy Department, is soon to retire from office, with the following testimonials from political opponents given in the U. S. Senate, while having under consideration the naval appropriation bill:
Senator Plumb, of Kansas, complained the present administration of the navy department. He was glad to say in the closing days of the administration that the navy department has been well administered, not only in the sense that there has been a stimulus given, so far as could be given by executive direction, to everything that went to up building of the navy, to the procuring of the best type of ships, and to the stimulation of the highest form of manufacture, but more than that, to the encouragement of the individual genius of the people, and to the doing of the work, not in the navy yards, where political considerations might have influenced, but in private yards. He was glad to say that during the past four years the navy department has been administered in a practical, level-headed, judicious way. The result was that, quoting the remarks made to him by Senator Hale, "he was prepared to believe that within ten years the United States would have the best navy in the world; not the strongest navy, not a navy with the most ships, not a navy with the greatest variety of ships, but a navy with the most modern ships, with ships the best adapted to the work they would have to do." Senator Hale said the secretary has been careful in his methods, he had encouraged American inventions, American enterprise, and American skill, and now the United States has some of the best ships that were to be found to-day on the waters of the globe.
