The weekly news and the advertising patrousge of the Guano have grown to such an extent that we shall enlarge in a couple of weeks. A great deal more reading matter will be supplied our readers and supplements can be dispensed with. That advertisers appreciate the value of our large circulation may be seen by the crowded con dition of our columns.

Protection for the Farmer. .

Protection for the Farmer.

The facuer must be protected, whether he fancise it or not, and to ensure him the benefits of protection the infinite, twins trust was devized. It is ornanized for the philanthropic purpose of controlling the supply and price of an indispensable article. The vast wheat fields of the west consume in harvest time enourmous quantities of this twins on which the present tariff exacts a duty of thirty-five per cent ad valorem, and from which the Mills bill proposes to take off ten per cent.
The twins men, encouraged by the unconscionable increase of duty proposed by the senate bill have combined to take the fullest advantage of the epportunity which will be afforded them handle the senate bill become a law in the next congress. According to the Republican rosthol of protecting the farmer, the duty is to be forty per cent and valorem on the most expensive kind of twins, and about two hum dred per cent on the least expensive. The manipulations of the trust may send the price of binding tuming treated the protection that is harvest to obtain a supply of a surticle that is indispensable for his work.

Sax Francisco, March 16.—A special from Washington says that the majority of office seekers have quietly forsaken the high priced have sought lodgings at second rate bearding houses on back streets. But they continue to lounge about their former abiding places, first to keep up appearances and secondly to enloy each other's companionship. They illustrate in a striking degree that "misery loves company," for a more miserable lot as a class it would be difficult to find entside of the walls of the penitentiary. They came to Washing ton with their sous filled with hope, and with purses not tos well supplied with cash. Both have steadily diminished, especially the cash. There is a gloom and sadness among them. Many of the applicants talk vaguely of their services to the party, and threaten, in case they are thrown over, to make it unpleasant for the administration at the next election. There is already great diseatisfaction will break out, presumably, with much greater force, when the places are filled.

Terrific Hail Storm.

Herald, March 15: Farmers living in the vicinity of shedd state that the hall storm which passed over that section Wednesday was one of the most severe ever experienced in Oregon. The storm was heard roaring as it approached for several minutes before the hall began falling. It passed from the southwest to the northeast and extended over a width of about 15 miles. Hall stones fell fully two inches in diameter, and to some of them long icides were attached, while others resembled that sheets of ice. Many window lights were broken and peach trees were stripped of their blessoms. It is thought, however, that the most of fruit trees were not sufficiently advanced to receive material injury. At Lohanou the storm was also severe, and the hall fell to the depth of neveral inches, breaking out window lights. Stock suffered considerably, but no material damage is reported.
