The Cecilian Operatic Company.

There is a rare treat ahead for Eugene The Cecilian Operatic Company, one of the best and strongest attractions on the road, make their appearance here on the 77th of this mouth under the suspices and for the benefit of Company C. The opera chosen is "Pretty Galates," a gem among operas. The story is that of a sculptor who makes a beantiful statute, falls in love with it, and then prays Venus to give it life. She does then prays Venus to give it life. She does so, and Galatea creates a sensation by ron-ning things with a high hand She finally Son's omes so much of a bother that Pygmalion -well it would not do to spoil it. See the opera. Miss Caroline Millzner as Galatea is hurd to equal. She possesses a wonderful voice and is the best soprano on the Pacific Coast. For some time she has been a great Coast. For some time she has been a great social favorite in San Francisco, where her appearance at Baldwin's theatre was the d for an ovation. Mr. E. D. Crandall an old Oregon boy, possessed of a rare tenor voice, takes the part of Pygmalion. Mr. G. B. Mills, the basso, takes the comedian role Medas, and Miss Helen Judson plays the Grecian youth Ganymede. The perform-ance will be a banner event, the boys of Company C will appear in uniform, and those who want scats must look sharp for the house will be jammed.

No Advance in Price of Lumber.

EUGENE, May 13, 1889

Eprron GUAND -- An opinion prevails in and around Eugene that lumber is now much higher than heretofore, and that intending builders are deterred from operating by scarcity of material. Such reports have even found their way into print. Allow me to say that both of these opinions are mistaken At the yard of the Upper Willamette Lumber Manufacturers Association, in this city, the same schedule of rates that has been in use for more than two years still prevails. Neither is any advance now contemplated. There was a time during the winter owing to impassable roads and unusual de mand some orders were not filled so promptine. ly as desirable, but even then no order ctually placed with this Association was long delayed.

At this time the resources of this Association are more than equal to all probable demands of this market, to say nothing of the numerous other mills that market the whole or some portion of their product in this city. Yours Respectfully.

The Freshman class are talking seriously of perfecting an organization in the near future, and adopting emblems by which the members can be distinguished from the rest of the students without any great mental effort. We hear it whispered that the young gentlemen of the class intend adopting white "unoversite hata" " while the young ladies "stove-pipe hats," while the young ladies will wear bonnets as near like Anna's prize as can be obtained.

At the spelling bee, last Friday evening, given by the ladies of the Episcopal Church, J. B. Greenfield received the prize awarded 7. Is Greenheid received the prize awarded to the best gentleman speller, and Miss Anna Roberts the prize for being the best lady speller. The first prize consisted of a pair of the latest style blue jeans overalls, and the second prize a fashionable (?) spring bonset, both of them being useful as well as ornamental.

At our last meeting to vary the usual order of debate, it was decided to make the debate for the day a general one. The question was, Resolved, "That Boulanger should be puniahed by the French government," with Nadie Holcomb leader on the affirmative, and Neilie Straight on the negative. Nearly all of the members present spoke on the question, making the debste quite interest-ing. After making a brief summary the President rendered her decision in favor of the affirmative.

Last Saturday night we were suddenly aroused from our peaceful slumbers by one of the best scremedes we have ever had the pleasure of hearing. You don't know, Lau-reans, how refreshing it is to be awakened from that deep sleep which comes to the "burnars of midnight oil," by such sweet strains of music. "Orpheus himself might haug his lyre Upon the willows, after this; Nor henceforth impionsly aspire, To lap the senses all in bliss. For he who heard that thrilling strain, Would find all other music vain.

Sister Eutaxians, because the days are so pleasant and there are so many agreeable ways to spetid Friday afternoons, we should not forget that our first daty is to our society. We cannot help foeling very much encour-aged over our success of the past year. Many new names have been added to our roll, and new names have been added to our roll, and every meeting has been one of interest to all present, but for several weeks we have noticed a tendency on the part of some of our members to shirk from duty, devote the the afternoon to amusements, and send some trivial excuse to the society. The time is so short, until vacation, that we should take advantage of every meeting.
