At the last meeting of the Eutaxian Society, Miss Matthews favored us with a recita tion by Moore, "Farewell, but Wheneve You Welcome the Hour," and Miss Shar pless 'a reading, "Imprisened for Dobt." Both were well rendered. The society in-dulged in a "miscellaneous" debate, and some exceedingly interesting questions were discussed.

A number of our students have enlisted

A number of our students have enlisted in the book business as canvassers for the sammer. Many find canvassing both agree-able and profitable in a pecuniary point of view while nothing can be engaged in which so recuperates the students. The time has passed when this vocation was considered a lazy man's work, and it is now recognized as a business of nultire and discrime. a business of utility and dignity. It has given employment to many of our brightest men. Geo. Washington, Webster, Long-fellow, Grant, Bret Harte, Hayes, Blaine, feilow, Grant, Bret Harte, Hayes, Biaine, Bonaparte, Columbus and many others were at one time book agents. It has to-day at-tracted and enlisted a class of men and wo-men who have lent to the work character, intelligence and business ability. Among soms of whom are the following: Geo. Norris, who will canvass Lane Co.; O. C. Norris, who will canvass Lane Co.; O. C. Wilson and Todd, Coos: Waite and McClure, Jackson; Bronaugh, Douglas; Greenfield and Davis, Colorado; Brattain, Lake; For-ward, Klamath; Mulligan, Klickitai; Miss Crain, Baker; Masturs, Yakima; C. Veazio, Grant; A. Veazie, Crook; Woodworth and Miss Galloway, Marion. Most of them take a new work, "The Story of Americs."

DIED .- Miss Hattie Lawrence dist in Eagene Wednesday, of consumption, aged 18 years. The deceased was a daughter of J. W. Lawrence, and was an estimable young lady. The interment took place at the Masonic cemetery.
