THE CHARTER COMPANY, 77 Murray Street, N. Y.

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Do you still like our Charter Oak Stove as well as when we first got it, Mary?
 SERVANT—Oh, every bit as well, Ma'am.
 LADY OF THE HOUSE—I am expecting a friend to take dinner with us next week, on purpose to show her how nice our stove cooks everything, and I want you to have a nice dinner for us.
 SERVANT—Indeed I will, Ma'am. There's no trouble to cook nice with that stove. The Fire Glaze Oven Door makes it so much easier than other stoves I have been used to, and I have so much more time to make everything just right. Just look at that roll! I never have had luck with bread, biscuits or cake, now.
 LADY OF THE HOUSE—Why, how do you explain it?
 SERVANT—Well, I don't have to watch everything so close for fear it will burn. You know how careful you have to be with a baked custard, it is so apt to burn on top before it is baked through. The Charter Oak bakes it perfectly without any danger of burning. And then its biscuits are without being hard and tough. You always praised my biscuits, but if it wasn't for the wire gauze oven door I know they wouldn't be near as nice. I hope I'll never have to cook anywhere again where they haven't got a Charter Oak Stove or Range.

Give Them a Chance!
 That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boesch's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

What is it?
 That produces that beautifully soft complexion and leaves no traces of its application or injurious effects? The answer, Widdon's Lohortine accomplishes all this, and is pronounced by ladies of taste and refinement to be the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Warranted harmless and matchless. F. M. Wilkins, agent, Eugene City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
 Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is invaluable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhoea, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25c a bottle.

Take Notice.
 That A. Goldsmith has the largest, finest and best stock of Queensware, Crochery and Glassware ever brought to Eugene. Give him a call and he will prove it to you.

Suicide of a Young Man.
 Prineville Review, Oct. 26.
 Last Monday morning Henry Stevens came to town after the coroner, stating that his brother, Emor, had shot and he supposed had killed himself at the residence of his father who lives at the foot of Grizley Bluff, about 15 miles from Prineville. Dr. Belknap, coroner of Crook county, went to the scene of the tragedy and found young Stevens yet alive, though in an unconscious condition. He learned the following particulars of the tragedy: Emor got up just before daylight and stated that he had not slept any during the night, and that he believed he would shoot a dog that had been barking. At the same time he was noticed writing on a slate. He stepped out of the house and presently a pistol shot was heard. Other members of the family who had got up by this time went to the door and saw him lying about 10 feet from the house. He had placed the pistol to the right temple and fired, the ball passing through the front part of the brain, lodging under the skin on the left side of the head. Examining the slate on which he has been writing just before leaving the house, the following note was found: "I am of no use to anybody here, and I am too wretched to live any longer, so I will end it with my own hands. Goodbye. Don't fret about one who is not worth it."
 The unfortunate young man lingered until Wednesday, when life departed and his death which he had counted at his own hands came. He was almost 21 years of age, and was of rather more than ordinary ability, was a constant reader and well informed on general topics, but for a number of years has been of a morose disposition; avoided society and seemed averse to strangers. He never had any trouble, and had shown no signs of a deranged mind, so the cause of his self-destruction is a mystery.

The Dalles Sun says: About the most flagrant scheme to sell poor climate and worse land thoroughly mixed is the placing of town property, in Pasco, Washington, on the market to catch suckers. If there is a more desolate, dirty or thoroughly nasty place in the United States than Pasco, it can take first premium. It is said that $30,000 worth of Pasco real estate was sold last week indicates that it is moving rapidly. The last time we were there it had a rapid movement—caused by the wind.

Geo. W. Kinsey, Auctioneer.
 When you want your goods, household furniture or land sold at auction, call on Geo. W. Kinsey, the pioneer and most successful auctioneer in Lane County. He will attend to all sales on a reasonable commission.

Change is one of the irresistible laws of nature, and fortunately the change is almost invariably for the better. As an instance of this, St. Patrick Pills are fast taking the place of the old harsh and violent cathartics, because they are milder and produce a pleasanter effect, besides they are much more beneficial in removing morbid matter from the system and preventing ague and other malarious diseases. As a cathartic and liver pill they are almost perfect. For sale by Osburn & Co.

The highest cash price will be paid for wheat by F. B. Dunn.

The Protectionist's Catechism.
 Q. What is "British Free Trade?" A. A tariff for revenue.
 Q. Does Great Britain tax imports? A. Yes. She averages $100,000,000 yearly from her custom houses.
 Q. What was our highest revenue from custom-houses during our civil war? A. In 1864, $102,000,000.
 Q. How long has Great Britain had "free trade?" A. Since 1850.
 Q. What did she have before that? A. Protection from the Norman Conquest up to 1850.
 Q. What did she have between 1850 and 1860? A. It was a transition stage from protection to a revenue tariff.
 Q. Did she prosper under protection? A. No. In 1850 years of protection her greatest wealth per capita only reached $825. From 1850 to 1860 an era of thorough protection, it declined from $825 to $750.
 Q. Did other countries prosper under protection? No. A. They were poorer than England, after a long experience of it.
 Q. Why did she cast it off? A. Because she believed the prosperity of the United States was due to its revenue tariff.
 Q. Was there any reason for such a belief? A. There was. The United States increased in wealth between 1850 and 1860, under a revenue tariff, $235 per capita, or more in ten years under a revenue tariff than Great Britain increased in any two centuries under protection.
 Q. Can you give any other example? A. New South Wales has a revenue tariff. In fifty years she has acquired per capita wealth of $1,205—double Great Britain's wealth after 800 years of protection ($750) and exceeding the wealth of the United States (2940) by 30 per cent.
 Q. Has Great Britain prospered under "British free trade?" A. Her prosperity has been wonderful.
 Q. Give the exact facts. A. Her wealth per capita in 1877 was $1,320, an increase of $600 since 1840. Her increase under 17 years of a revenue tariff exceeds her total increase under protection for the 800 years between the Norman Conquest and 1812.
 Q. Has Scotland prospered? A. In 1840 her wealth was $665. In 1877 it was $1,385 or nearly three times as much.
 Q. What is Great Britain now doing with all this wealth? A. Lending money on mortgages of American farms and railroads, buying American land, stock, breweries, factories and shops.
 Q. Has a revenue tariff helped the rich of Great Britain? A. No. The average wealth of the rich class in England has declined $15,000 since 1840, but its numbers have trebled.
 Q. Has a revenue tariff helped the middle class? A. No. Its average wealth has declined $2,170 since 1840, but its numbers have more than doubled.
 Q. Has it helped the poor? A. YES. Their average wealth has DOUBLED, increasing from $220 in 1840 to $430 in 1877. Over 1,000,000 workmen's families have joined the middle class, rising in wealth from $220 to $5,025.
 Q. Are the working class increasing? A. Not perceptibly in numbers, only in wealth. The middle class rose from 782,100 families to 1,924,400 by accessions from the working class.

As the result of what? A. "British free trade" for twenty years.
 The legal notices in the Tillamook Headlight have put half the newspaper men in the State into a very bad frame of mind. For their information a McMinnville paper states, on reliable authority, that the Headlight charges for the same only $5 and that the balance of the $10 has gone into the great sack held by the U. S. government officials. The Watchtower, the administration paper, has reduced the price to $4.50. This reduces the fortune made by the Headlight one-half.
 Walla Walla ladies, whose votes were accepted, as a matter of courtesy, but not counted, have begun proceedings against the election officers for $5,000 damages.
 Parents should be careful that their children do not contract colds during the fall or early winter months. Such colds weaken the lungs and air passages, making the child much more likely to contract other colds during the winter. It is this succession of colds that cause catarrh and bronchitis or pave the way for consumption. Should a cold be contracted, lose no time but cure it as quickly as possible. A fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold in a few days and leave the respiratory organs strong and healthy. For sale by Osburn & Co.

One of the largest and most valuable Indian potlaches will take place at Fort Rupert, near the northern end of the island about Christmas day. The potlatch will be given by Captain Jim, an aged Indian, who is known from one end of the province to the other. The articles to be given will comprise 6500 blankets, 300 pairs silver bracelets, (Indian make) 40 large canoes and muck-a-muck galore, in all valued at $10,000. For this $10,000 Captain Jim, according to native custom, will receive within two years $30,000. The potlatch will embrace nineteen tribes residing between Qualicum and Fort Rupert. This will make the hundredth potlatch that Captain Jim has given, and he intends to eclipse all former efforts in that line, and judging from the value and the quantity of the articles to be "donated" it will be the biggest thing on record. The hero of the potlatch is about 65 years of age, of fine physique, and speaks English with remarkable fluency. A law has been passed by the Dominion Parliament putting a stop to these potlaches, but the old Indians do not understand this infringement on what they justly consider their hereditary rights.—Alaskan Free Press.

CANTONVILLE, Or., Oct. 23.—This morning Mr. Robert Stewart called at the residence of Mr. Geo. Bruno. No one appeared to be about the premises. Noticing a door partly opened, he looked in and on a bed in one corner of the room lay the form of Bruno, now still in death. Stewart immediately returned to a neighbor's house and they both went into the dead man's house and made an examination. In front of Bruno's body lay a revolver on a box; also a knife, Bruno was a Hungarian, given somewhat to drink, and an old resident.
 The profits in telegraphy as harvested by that huge monopoly, the Western Union Telegraph Company, are exorbitant and unfair to the public who support it. The revenue of the company last year was $20,783,193; expenses, $14,965,152, leaving a profit of $6,218,042, or nearly thirty per cent. of the gross income. The number of messages sent last year is 54,108,826, costing on an average about thirty-two cents each. Twenty years ago the number of messages was 7,934,633. The stock of this company has been watered so many times that it would be difficult to ascertain its actual cash cost. It is high time that our Government assumed the telegraph business of the country as a branch of the postal service. The actual cost of a telegram would not then exceed ten cents.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds and cannot be sold in competition with the unwholesome low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. Borden's Malted Powder Co., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

A Just Rebnke.
 The Sunday Mercury exorciates the great Mogul of Oregon Journalism as follows:
 As a groveler in the fifth of partisan slavery the Oregonian will descend a little below any other newspaper printed in the English language. The New York Mercury of September 15 and October 13, published the letters to Chauncey M. Depew of several hundred applicants for free transportation over the lines of railroad controlled by him. Among the applicants were U. S. Grant, the editor of the New York World, the Brooklyn Eagle—that wanted a pass for a reporter going away to be married—a minister of the gospel who boasted that he had traveled 13,000 miles a year in free passes, the celebrated Corporal Tanner, Lillie Freeman Blake, Ross Malone of Virginia, Bishop Hurst of Buffalo, Thurlow Weed Barnes, one of the New York Republican general committee, Rev. Dr. Deems, Brick Pomeroy, the New York Herald, the New York Tribune, congressmen and senators of both political parties, members of the New York legislature and the city government, irrespective of politics, General Ains of Michigan, a standing candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency, and hundreds of others known all over the Union as being connected with both political parties and religious and charitable institutions, and out of the great mass of correspondence between the New York Central and its citizens who fain would enjoy his hospitality, or the hospitality of his road, the Oregonian singles out Congressman Scott, of Erie, Pa., as a target at whom to fire its daily charge of malicious abuse. The paper publishes a spurious telegram, purporting to come from New York, as the foundation for its editorial exhorting Scott for asking for a pass on the New York Central, and this merely because Scott is a Democrat. Republican offenders are granted immunity from punishment in the columns of that bitterly partisan organ, and the clergy likewise. But Scott, because a Democrat, comes in for the venom of a writer as bereft of all the instincts of a gentleman as he can see evil only in those not of his politics and who view the welfare of the country from a different standpoint. The mesh talked of Democratic newspaper, which several contemporaries have said, will soon be established in Portland, does not materialize. Until such a publication does appear, that party will contribute to the support of a journal without conscience—to a newspaper that will wallow in the mire of falsehood, deception and scurrility to serve its masters and belittle its opponents.

Oregonians who wish to "cuss" in high toned style and at the same time hide their profanity are recommended to carefully peruse the following: The name of God in old Egyptian is Teo, in Armenian Teuti, in Schv Buch, in Polish Bog, in Polacca Burg, in Finnish Jumala, in Japanese Hain, in Chinese Prassa, in Japanese Goetzer and in Purvian Puche camuse.

The Democrats in the late Sunset Cox's district have nominated Amos J. Cummings for Congress. He is a printer by trade and a journalist, and has served a term in Congress. He was a gallant soldier during the war for the Union.
