Wallets for School-Girls.

"The German doctors," says the St. James' Gazette, "profess to have discovered a new danger. They assert that the custom of carrying portfolios to school has a tendency to distort the figures of young girls between the ages of eleven and fourteen. Parents are exhorted to provide wallets for their young daughters, which can be carried like knapsacks on the back In many parts of Germany this equipment is already in use; and to the upaccustomed eye of the stranger nothing is more comical than suddenly to come upon a crowd of little girls trooping out of school, each provided with a knapsack for the march. The next funniest thing to be seen among school-children on the continent is the long pipe or the billous cigarette of the diminutive Dutch boy."
