of Chief Bushyhead. "Indians who visit Washington almost invariably come to have their pictures taken," said the photographer who gets most of this copper colored patronage to a reporter. "Hanging over there on the wall you may see a rather interesting series of portraits illustrating the evolution of the red man in the matter of habiliments from his primitive condition to the likeness of the newest London fashion plate. The first picture, as you observe, represents him in aboriginal togs complete. In the next he has on a pair of pantaloons—always the first white man's garment adopted by the Indian. He wears the trousers with his ordinary tribe costume in other particulars, including beads, feathers, etc., until, as is shown in the third photograph, it occurs to him to add a waistcoat and 'biled' shirt. The feathers and beads disappear at this stage, and Mr. Lo goes about in his shirt sleeves, feeling very enlightened for some time has a lation of the Union was not 4.000. for some time before the coat is put on. Then, as you see in the fourth picture, collar and cuffs and silk hat are assumed, and Mr. Lo sprouts out very likely into men and gods."

"All the portraits in this series seem to be of the same man."

"Yes, that is Chief Sorrowful Ghost, of the Crows, who are the most elaborately dressed of all Indians in their native attire. The pictures were taken of him at different periods. By the way, Chief Bushyhead, of the Cherokee nation, was here a while ago, and seeing him crossing the lobby at Willard's I asked a friend who was with me, named Van Wyck, if he would like to be introduced.

"'Why,' said Van Wyck, astonished, 'you don't mean to say that handsomely dressed and distinguished looking man over there is an Indian?"

" Decidedly, yes, I replied. 'Here he comes now. Mr. Bushyhead, let me introduce my friend, Mr. Van Wyck.'

" 'Certainly. Here is a picture of my own wigwam. "And the calef drew from the inside pocket of his coat a photograph of a beautiful Queen Anne cottage, which

"Tie Your Necktie, Sir?"

Some genius discovered that when men reach the theatre and remove their topcoats their neckties do not present that geometrical nicety of position that all well regulated neckties ought. Even if the wearer be conscious-which is seldom-that his tie is not as it should be, it is awkward to pose be re the mirror, if there be one, and get red in the face in a fruitless struggle to rearrange the the bride in the chancel. Blades of this fore six o'clock in the evening. character are not entire novelties, but have been known in modified forms for some years, says The American Machinist. As a general thing, however, their use has been much decried. Still they appear to have some advantages worth considering, and many claims of superiority are made for them. Among them is that of reduced blade friction, due to reduced area of rubbing surface; less tendency to heat, because of the circulation of air through the holes, and economy in power. The holes further prevent the dangerous extension of cracks in saw blades, and in general make it a com paratively easy matter to keep the saws in good running order,-New York Tele-

MR. JOHN W. FURBUSH, An Army Veteran, OF WAKEFIELD,

OF WAKEFIELD, who has probably suffered more than any man or woman in America to-day. Taken sick while in the Army, he has endured untold agonics since. Describing his first symptoms he said: "My head ached and my appetite was poor. I felt a faluness at the pit of the stomach, and bad taste in my mouth, while my skin was sometimes hot and sometimes cold. I next felt pains in my back and around the lower portlen of my body, and noticed a pesuliar oder and color in the water I passed, which was scanty at one time and free at others. Sometimes it pained me to void it, and again it was aimest impossible to do so at all. Fimully I began to pass clear blood accompanied with the greatest strain and agony." No less than 20 cminent physicians attended Mr. Furbush at various times, but not one of them could help him. He was near death's door. And yet he says: "I am alive and well to-day, wholly through the wonderful power of Hunt's femely which took me from the verge of the grave."
This Great Remedy obsolutely cures all

THE SAILOR'S DARING.

"Man overboard! Stand by to lower away the boats!" With what alacrity every man on board springs to his post at the dread cry, knowing a fellow creature's life is at stake! Yet that life is in no more danis at stake! Yet that life is in no more danger than that of the man or woman who trifles with what may soom "a simple blood disorder," but which in reality is fast sowing the seeds of a fatal disease, when the early use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would cleanse the blood, restore impaired digestion, tone up the vital organs and ward off consumption. It should take the place in the family corresponding to that occupied by the life preserver on shipboard. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, "Golden Medical Discovery" is guaranteed to cure. This it will do if taken in the earlier stages of consumption, but after a large part of the lungs have broken down, no medicine can stay its fatal progress. How important then that the earliest promonitory symptoms be heeded! Short breath, spitting of blood, occasional chilly sensations creeping up the spinal column, hacking cough, variable or poor appetite, feeble digestion, with gradual loss of flesh, cold feet, lassitude or general debility, should admonish one that all is not right. You can't afford to fool away precious time if suffering from any considerable number of the above significant symptoms of approaching danger! It's madness to
