The Siuslaw Bar Appropriation.

As will be seen by the list of appropria-tions agreed on for Oregon by the House committee on rivers and harbors published elsewhere in this issue of the Guand, an ap elsewhere in this issue of the GUAID, an ap-propriation of $50,000 is recommended for in insprovement of the Siuslaw river bar scooling to the plans prepared by the engipeer. As the Senate very seldom reduces an appropriation made by the House, it is now est an assured fact that the work will be amoest an assured fact that the work will be ammenced. Mr. S. H. Friendly on Monday secived the following dispatch:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 14, 1890. To S. H. Friendly, Eugene, Or.; Have secured in river and harbor bill an pen of fifty thousand dollars to commence government work on the Sinstaw river Congratulations. BINOEU HERMANN The proposed project is to build two high-

Everybody within hail was called to participate excepting an old toper who sat by the barrom stove. He event-ually made his way to the bar, and spoke Saturday afternoon to finish University work with the class of 1890. The Seniors went to meet her and escorted her from the train. Miss Minnie Uren, late of the Freshman class, is teaching school near Grover, Sher-man county. Miss Uren met with a sad bereavement in the death of her mother a short time ago. Miss Anna Crain left for her home in Junction last Tuesday morning. She does not intend to return to college this year, but will be with us during the week of Commencement.

"What strange things we see when we haven't a gun," exclaimed a naughty "subfresh" as he gazed with curiosity at the "stove pipes" which sat on the heads of the Seniors the University made. Mr. Harry Wortman and Ella Gore, of Medford, were recently married. Mr. Wort-man attended the University the first of the year, and Miss Gore went home this vaca-tion. Who would have "thunk" it! The regular monthly meeting of the Freshmen class is to be held on Saturday, April 19, at 7:30 p. m., at the residence of Dr. T. W. Harris, cor. 5th and Charneleton streets. All Freshmen should be present as important business is on the docket.

A murmur of amusement ran through a certain class in Prof. Balley's room last Tuesday, when it was announced that there would be a picnic in Pres. Johnson's room at one. All were invited, especially those who were troubled with clashes. "The Dairy Maid's Convention" to-night at Rhinehart's hall promises to be a particularly pleasing entertainment, as a number of the students take prominent parts. It is for the benefit of a public library. Tickets, including supper and laugh, fifty cents.

made merry by the results of their orders.

An old adage says, "Welcome the coming and speed the parting guest." To those who have entered the University this term we extend a hearty welcome, hoping ere they leave they may gain in knowledge and wisdom. To those for whom this term was the last, we speed with a parting farewell, hoping they will long cherish fond memories.

Monday morning the Seniors came to the University in grand style. On the top of the omnibus sat the irresistible Jimmy, solemnly supporting two flags, while inside were the rest of the nicest, best and dearest class of young people to be found. They comof young people to be found. They com-menced their last term of University work so pleasantly that we predict a happy, fortu-nate time the remainder of the year for them.

In the last Friday Oregonian we noticed an article on the planting of the class tree of the senior class of the Portland High School. This class is composed of young ladies and gentlemen, many of whom we hope will enter the University next year and will add their number to the present Frashman class. By a strange coincidence their motto is, "Ease quam videu," the same as that of the Frashman class.

SEWERAGE.—The city council is going to work on the sewerage question in a business like way. As will be seen by the proceeding of the council published elsewhere, it is proposed that the council as a committee of the whole shall locate the sewer, then secure a competent engineer to prepare plans and make estimates of the cost of construction.
