EUGENE CITY, OREGON.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The town of Addison, in Maine, has seventeen couples who have been married fifty years and over.

One of the suggestions for the Chicago world's fair is a gigantic iron tent covering 200 acres, with an iron tower in the center 1,500 feet high, corresponding to the tent pole.

It is estimated that from $30,000 to $100,000 worth of nitrate of silver and gold is used every year by the photographers of the United States in making the millions of photographs.

A Canton, China, paper estimates that 750,000 people die every year in China by fire and flood, but it is not satisfied. "The facts," it remarks with cold-blooded cynicism, "the great need of China is the sudden removal of 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 inhabitants to make elbow-room for those who are left."

It is said that Chinamen on the Pacific coast lease property for twelve months, and then lease it to Chinamen for thirteen months, that being the number of months in the Chinese year. The Chinaman is rapidly learning to be a good American business man.

It has been estimated that more than 400,000 human mummies were made in Egypt from the beginning of the art of embalming until its discontinuance in the seventh century. Herodotus and Diodorus agree in the statement that there were three grades of embalming. The first cost about $1,225, the second about $375 and the third was very cheap.

"Funny thing about one of the hospitals last month," said an undertaker. "What was it?" "O, a doctor who loves to see his name in print had a long account of a delicate surgical operation he had performed—removing a tumor, I believe. The whole thing was minutely described, and the doctor was praised highly. But no mention was made of the fact that my services were required, for the patient died the next day. Any one reading the item would have supposed that the sufferer had been restored to perfect health."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

A young hunter and guide of the upper Aroostook region in Maine, gets his living wholly in the forests. In summer he acts as guide for certain New York sportsmen who spend the summer regularly in the forests about the headwaters of the Aroostook. During the winter he carries on all alone throughout the season the business of trapping. He is most of the time fifty to seventy miles from the nearest settlement. His traps, about two hundred in number, are stretched from the headwaters of the St. John to the headwaters of the Penobscot southward.

In a recent report on the prevalence of diphtheria at Enfield, England, Dr. Bruce Low, of the Medical Department of the local government board, gave some striking instances of the long-suspected fact that infectious diseases may be spread by domestic animals. Cats, being the most common household pet, are especially liable to carry disease to children. Dr. Low mentions a number of cases where these domestic animals were afflicted with diphtheria during the epidemic in Enfield, and were evidently the agents for conveying it to children who fondled them. Under these circumstances, Miss Pusey can hardly be considered "harmless," however necessary she may be in other respects.

THE MILITIA REVIEW.

Why I Threw General Viscount Melville in a Towering Rage.

There was to be a review of the Lanarkshire militia when the commander of the forces in Scotland was General Viscount Melville. He was a strict disciplinarian, an excellent soldier, but most particular as to detail. It was said he could detect a missing button on a private's coat. He was the inspecting officer. The review was to take place in the park of the palace. Luncheon was prepared for the whole company. A large party was invited in honor of Lord Melville, who arrived at the palace the previous day to meet Lord B. the Colonel of the militia regiment. There were few people as popular as Lord B. His geniality equalled his hospitality, and his residence was a house widely known and highly considered; but he was very forgetful, and displayed all those military details which Lord Melville considered of the first importance—so much so, that at dinner the General expressed himself very strongly as to the attention the Colonel should give the next day to the equipment of the corps, and above all, to his own personal appearance. "Trust to me," said Lord B. "you will see how well I shall turn out to-morrow."

However, it was evident that the commander in chief was full of doubt; nor were his apprehensions unfounded. The next day was beautiful. Crowds assembled in the park and at the entrance of the palace; but the regiment arrived without its Colonel. Lord Melville was purple with rage. There he waited half an hour. At last appeared the Colonel, and in the most motley guise—no cocked hat, his waist slung rather than tied round his waist, his trousers without straps, half way up his legs. He jogged along in perfect indifference as to his appearance. Lord Melville was too overcome with indignation to speak when Lord B. said: "Well, General, I hope you think me all right to-day."

Low-muttered anathemas were the only reply to this salutation. However, the review proceeded, but very slowly, for the Colonel had to read the word of command from a paper which he did not even try to conceal. Lord Melville dashed about in a frenzy. At length the last maneuver and final blow came. The regiment formed square. "Make ready, present, fire!" was the word of command. Not a sound but the click of the locks.

"Colonel, what does this mean?" shouted the General.

"They have no powder," replied the Colonel.

"No powder, Colonel, for a field day?"

"The fact is, General, sometimes the horses don't stand fire; mine is very fatigued, and I thought it just as well the review should go off without an accident."—Blackwood's Magazine.

A project to build a festival theater at Salzburg, Mozart's birthplace, is on foot. A site has been purchased on the Moenchsberg, a wooded hill overlooking the town. It is hoped to complete the structure in the course of next year, in order to celebrate the centenary of Mozart's death.

The Columbia river is rising very rapidly.

Vancouver, Wash., has voted bonds for a new court-house.

Many interior towns are beginning preparations to celebrate the Fourth of July.

The Yuba and the Hualapai Indians are to hold a pow-wow in the Hualapai mountains.

The National Silver Committee of Nevada will hold a free convention at Carson May 29.

It is thought that the preliminary trial trip of the cruiser San Francisco will be made some time next month.

Fourteen sailors of the cruiser Charleston, who were allowed ashore, have failed to appear on board ship again.

It has been decided to put the United States steamer Marion, which recently arrived at San Francisco from China, out of commission and repair her.

Articles of incorporation of the Tacoma, Olympia and Gray's Harbor railway have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State at Olympia, Wash.

The Oregon Improvement Company will soon place on the market its lands adjoining the terminal grounds of the Southern railroad at Port Townsend.

Fifty laborers at Los Angeles have formed a co-operative company and taken a sewer contract at Los Angeles. The men get 15 cents an hour for eight hours and an equal division in the profits.

The Chinese under examination at Los Angeles for having crossed the line from Mexico are seeking to prove that they had been deposed across the line by United States Marshals and arrested as soon as they had passed over.

The people of Portland are beginning to be alarmed at the reorganization by the Chinese of the old highbinder societies under the charitable cloak. There is a belief that trouble among those people of a murderous character is brewing.

The citizens of Salt Lake have held a meeting in favor of free coinage of silver. One of the resolutions adopted was: "An silver was beaten down, not by the law of demand and supply, but by cruel legislation, we demand that the letters placed upon it by that legislation shall be broken."

Huntington's proposition to the Astoria-South Coast railway to build a road from Astoria to the transcontinental connection with the Southern Pacific for $200,000 in cash, terminal facilities and all the property at Astoria, which the South Coast company will be accepted.

Formal application for space at the World's Fair has been made on behalf of the State of California. At a meeting of the State Board of Trade on the 20th ult., at San Francisco, the kind and character of the exhibit which should be made and the measures to be taken to raise money will come up for consideration.

The carpenter strike at Portland is still on. The Builders' Exchange will make no concessions and every day sees the carpenters' chances of winning grow smaller. An effort to arbitrate the fishermen's strike was made at Astoria, but was unsuccessful, the men conceding a fish, instead of $1.25, which had been asked, and the canners declining to offer more than 75 cents.

Considerable guessing is going on as to the successor of S. W. Eccles as freight agent of the Union Pacific at San Francisco. The appointment of his successor rests with General Freight Agent Campbell of the Pacific division at Portland, and it is understood among railroad men that J. G. Woodworth, at present assistant general freight agent at Portland, will be transferred to this position.

All the farmers and berry-raisers in the vicinity of West Compton, Los Angeles county, have concluded to in future dispute with Chinese labor during the strawberry-picking season. It has been the custom in the past to work about 300 Chinamen for two months, they receiving $1 a day. The producers have concluded to employ white children to do the picking from now on at the same rate of wages.

Complaint has been filed in the United States Circuit Court by the Union Loan and Trust Company of Los Angeles against the Southern Pacific Motor Road Company. The trust company asks for a foreclosure of the mortgage of the company's road to secure payment of $3,700,000. The Southern Pacific motor road runs from San Bernardino to Arrow Head Springs. Plaintiff also asks for the appointment of a receiver pending the action of the court and for an injunction to restrain the motor company from continuing the operation of its property.

The project to establish a new ferry line between San Francisco and Oakland is causing quite a stir and talk on both sides of the bay, the consensus of opinion being that the new company only contemplates doing what should have been done years ago. John R. Glavick, Mayor of Oakland, was seen and said he thought the scheme a grand one: "Anything which tends to unite this side of the bay more closely to the metropolis will have my support. There is a sufficient traffic between the two cities to make another line pay, though, perhaps, not quite at the start, but as soon as people get used to it."

The following have been appointed fourth-class postmasters for Oregon: Dolph, Tillamook county, Alice Carey, vice Carrie E. Hill resigned; Huntington, Baker county, C. Ross, vice E. K. Ross resigned; Sandy, Clackamas county, F. E. Hatch, vice S. B. Hatch, deceased; Falkner, Benton county, A. H. Duven, vice J. D. Spencer resigned; in Washington: E. L. Field, Clatsop county, King county. A new postoffice has been established at Harlem, Clatsop county, Mont.; Charles Smith, postmaster.

A special says news has been received from San Jacinto, in the northwestern part of San Diego county, Cal., that Ben Ferguson, who is at the head of an organized band of horse thieves, has been terrorizing the ranchers in that section and in portions of San Bernardino county. Recently one Tawno, an Indian, who was Ferguson's chief lieutenant, was lynched at Banning, Cal., by a mob. Ranchers are thoroughly aroused over the loss of their stock and are prepared to give Ferguson a warm reception. Indians and Mexicans generally sympathize with the latter and aid him in escaping the officers of the law.

EASTERN ITEMS.

Speaker Reed Anxious for Adjournment of Congress.

A Batch of Interesting News From All Parts of the Country Beyond the Rockies.

The relief grant Kemmler, awaiting election at Auburn, says the final taking off of four murderers at Sing Sing.

The Postmaster-General is considering the adoption of a letter-box which can be furnished to housekeepers at a comparatively small price.

The General Grant fund at New York has finally reached $150,000, not over one-half of which was contributed in that city and State.

A recent decision of the Iowa Supreme Court places the responsibility for the safe transportation and delivery of perishable freight upon the railroads.

It is reported from San Antonio, Tex., that a Chicago syndicate has purchased all the street railroads in that city, the purchases amounting to $1,500,000.

A number of New Yorkers are to take part in a testimonial to be presented to Cardinal Manning on the silver jubilee of his episcopal consecration on June 8.

The Attorney-General of Kansas fears that the late decision of the Supreme Court in the Iowa original-package liquor case will prove "a serious if not a fatal blow to prohibition."

A wasteful slaughter of moose is said to be carried on near the Upper Ottawa river in Canada. The animals are killed merely for their hides, and their carcasses are left in the woods.

Secretary Tracy's residence at Washington, the one where the catastrophe occurred, has been sold for $50,750. It cost him $80,000 a year ago. The residence of the late Justice Matthews was also sold for $51,500.

The will of George S. Pepper, late President of the Academy of Fine Arts at Philadelphia, disposes of an estate valued at $2,000,000. The sum of $1,007,000 is divided among public institutions, which are to receive a further portion of the residuary estate.

The employees of the Santa Fe general office at Topeka are making a big kick because President Manuel ordered the sum of all increases in salaries last month to be refunded to the company, on the ground that the advances were made by officers without his authority. A row is expected.

Chicago's City Council has directed the Corporation Counsel to bring suit against every City Treasurer during the past ten years, to recover the money which these officials received from banks as interest on city deposits. These sums have ranged from $50,000 to $500,000 per annum.

Thirty-five leading manufacturers of window-glass in the East held meetings at Chicago the other day. An agreement was signed to go out of blast June 1st, instead of July 1st. Production of factories represented amounts to about 400,000 boxes per month. When they shut down it will throw out of work 5,000 men.

Governor Hill of New York has sent to the Legislature a message suggesting a change in the method of contesting elections. He suggests the passage of a concurrent resolution, submitting to the people an amendment to the State constitution, which will take from each House the power of judging its own elections and confer jurisdiction upon the courts.

The following applications have been filed with the Controller of the Currency for authority to organize national banks: National Bank of Commerce of Seattle, at Seattle, Wash., by R. R. Spencer, Seattle; National Bank of the Platte, at Omaha, Neb., by Dr. John Black, Platte; National Bank, Blaine, Wash., by H. W. Wheeler, Seattle, and associates.

Captain Celso Cesar Moreno, who made argument before the Senate and House Committees on Immigration, said: "If the Italians should be permitted to come here they will make this country as filthy as the Hudson river to the Mississippi, as filthy as the climate is adapted to the growth of grapes, and every kind of fruits, vegetables and flowers, which would grow here as they do in Italy. In California they are free. There now is not one slave to a patron, and they are the best agriculturists, gardeners and fishermen in California. They grow the wine grape and they grow olives and all kinds of fruits."

A prohibition organ in New York has sent circulars to the Nebraska delegation in Congress soliciting contributions of $100,000 toward a campaign fund, which the newspaper says must aggregate $15,000 from Washington, to be used in the approaching election in Nebraska in the interest of prohibition against the popular prohibition of high license. It is proposed to spend a large sum of money in Nebraska this fall for the purpose of making the prohibition question successful there, and the campaign is to be conducted upon "improved political methods." It is not likely that there will be a very large sum of money sent from Washington. Solicitations up to this time have not resulted encouragingly.

Gorman has introduced in the Senate a bill to amend the interstate commerce act by adding a provision requiring the roads in adjacent foreign countries to obtain license from the interstate commerce commission, before they will be allowed to exchange business with railroads in this country. This license is to be obtained by filing an agreement to abide by the terms of the interstate commerce act as though it were the law of their country. If the commission on investigation shall find at any time that the provisions of the act are being violated it is to have power to suspend the license for not exceeding three months, and if, at the end of that time, a second violation shall be proved, to suspend it for another term not exceeding six months. When the license is suspended the various officers are to be notified and they are to prevent any traffic from that road passing into or out of the United States.

Count R. T. Zulo, whose financial exploits in Boston created a sensation when they were first made public, has been ejected from his Claremont Park apartments by his landlord, Professor C. B. Fry, for the non-payment of a $45 rent bill.

In October last Agnes Boucicault, wife of Dion Boucicault, secured an absolute divorce in London and obtained an allowance of £36 per month. Boucicault has disavowed the order, refusing to pay anything, and Mrs. Boucicault has brought suit in the Supreme Court to compel payment of the alimony.

There is a cry of fear in Paris lest dancing may be forced out of fashion. One reason assigned is that women with selons no longer encourage it. Another is that the waltz, which has for some years almost monopolized dancing, is too boisterous and exhausting. It has disappeared from many Paris salons. A revival of the art is called for.

The new German army budget proposes a substantial increase in the army, and includes seventy new batteries and the arming up of two new Prussian army corps to their full strength. The chancery story of his dismissal from the Chancellery, together with the events which led up to it, has greatly enraged the Emperor. In order to prevent any such outbreak on the part of the ex-Chancellor, the Emperor has sent a personal letter reminding the Prince that he is liable to severe punishment under an amendment to the Penal Code of his own making if he makes public or causes to be published any knowledge regarding State matters gained by him during his official life.

Armstrong & Co. have some new gun mountings that may be of great importance. They allow the gun to be fired at an angle of 41 degrees instead of 20, as formerly, a change which will enable ships to attack almost any coast battery from short range.

PORTLAND MARKET.

During the week business among the wholesale houses is reported as having been extremely good, and what is better the fall trade promises to show even brisker activity. Experts predict enormous cereal crops throughout the Pacific Northwest, but are slow to assert much improvement in prices for the farmer. The only cloud that temporarily darkens the prosperity of the city is the unfortunate prolongation of the building trades strike, which delays the construction of many substantial blocks of brick and stone that have been commenced or are in contemplation. The salmon fishing difficulty has been satisfactorily fished over, and since back East numerous compromises in all parts have been agreed upon between builders and their mechanics, it is earnestly to be hoped that each side will give way a little here, so as to bring about a general reconciliation with the least possible delay.
