Gun Riason, of Florence, has been visiting in Eugene this week. The dependent pension bill has passed the House of Representatives.

Bricklaying will begin on the second story of the Johnson-Williams block today. Several Eugene people are attending the races at Portland.

Marshal Stevens has had some tramps cleaning up the street around the public square. A good idea.

The advance agent of the John Robinson circus was in Portland several days this week. He will soon visit Eugene for the next 90 days in the Daily Oregonian.

A fund of $800 has been subscribed by our citizens to advance Eugene for the next 90 days in the Daily Oregonian.

Knob Huston, a well known former resident of this county, was elected surveyor of Crook county on June 23 by majority.

J. M. Holton was in Portland this week. It is said that he will receive an appointment as a clerk in the Custom House when the same changes officials.

Mr. E. O. Potter returned from Portland Thursday evening. He passed a very successful examination before the University law school and the Supreme Court of Oregon.

The damage suits against the Southern Pacific for the deaths of Engineer Jack Miller and Fireman Quitt Gubrie are being tried at Salem this week.

The grand jury of Marion met in Portland this week. Several Eugene delegates were present. Among the jurors elected were James F. Robinson, deputy grand master, and Christopher Taylor, grand master.

Commencing on Sunday morning we will run carriages to and from the University. Parties wishing to ride will leave orders at the stable, and they will receive prompt attention.

The census enumerators are now hard at work, and they report it slow and tedious work. Under a fine of $300 they are prohibited from making known any fact, therefore we will be unable to give any figures until word comes from Washington.

The only woolen mill in the state is located at Oregon City, running 12 mills. By comparison, the Albany and Salem concerns, two and four sets, are one horse affair.

A twenty seven set mill, the property of San Francisco, may move to Oregon City and the state will then have two woolen mills.

The following is a report of the Spencer creek school, district No. 22, for the month ending April 23 and ending May 23: While 130 pupils were in school during the month, average daily attendance, 25; number of pupils enrolled, 27. Names of those who were not absent from school during the month: W. H. Adams, Arthur J. Allen, L. L. Anderson, Bertie and Archie Bailey, Frank and Robert Ware, John, Charles and Thos. Callaway.

Report of the school in district No. 55, for the month ending June 6: Number of days taught, 13; number of pupils, 488; average daily attendance, 25; number of pupils enrolled, 27. Names of those who were not absent from school during the month: W. H. Adams, Arthur J. Allen, L. L. Anderson, Bertie and Archie Bailey, Frank and Robert Ware, John, Charles and Thos. Callaway.

Mr. E. J. Davis, who is surveying the water ditch for the Myrtle Creek Gold Mining Co., informs us that he has now located 16 miles of the ditch from the river to the river, and says the soil is very good for ditching and that the water can be brought to all the mines beyond any question of doubt, as the survey has proven the fact.

The Grand office turned out some large posters for the Harrisburg Fourth of July celebration this week. J. Mitchell has just received a nice line of the popular Garland Stoves and Ranges. A nice souvenir given with each one.

Isabel Items. A social picnic at the Mill Creek grove on the 21st inst. Isabel once more enjoys the blessings of religious services.

Considerable traffic has commenced in lumber, since the bridge has been replaced. Several from here are in attendance at court this week.

Married, May 30th, at Vancouver, Wash., Mr. J. D. Harold and Miss Emma Stewart, both of Lane county.

The honorable patrons of our school have at last awakened to the needs of the rising generation and supplied our school with suitable apparatus.

A petition should be circulated for the purpose of remodeling our system of mails. As it is now, our correspondence is a week old before it is received again.

The fourteenth annual exercises of the University of Oregon will be held the ensuing week, commencing Sunday. A class of fifteen will graduate this year.

Sunday, June 15—11 a. m., local conference, Rev. John Jordan, D. D., Portland. Monday, June 16—3 p. m., address of students in music course.

Tuesday, June 17—2 p. m., recital before the literary societies, Rev. Archbishop Gross, re-union of literary societies.

Wednesday, June 18—10 a. m., graduating exercises of the law school, 2 p. m., planting class tree, 3 p. m., address before the university, Hon. Geo. H. Williams, Portland.

Thursday, June 19—9:30 a. m., exercises of the graduating class. Fourth in the Race. McMinville cast 638 votes at the election Monday. It has been claimed that she was the largest city on the west side, and this seems to prove it.

Corvallis, which is the only town that could possibly dispute the claim, failed to come up to that figure. Hurray for McMinville, the metropolis of the west side of the Willamette valley.

You are too fast, Reporter. While Eugene is in the center of the valley, she is on the west side of the river and cast 1022 votes on the second day of June. From returns received Eugene is fourth in the race of Oregon towns, Portland, Salem and Astoria ranking above her in the order named.

Elevator System. The Pacific Elevator Company has made arrangements to build elevators along the line of the Southern Pacific railroad to handle the grain crop of the Willamette valley.

Eugene will be a prominent part of the system, and facilities will be provided whereby the grain may be handled in bulk thereby saving the cost of sacks amounting to two or three cents per bushel.

This amount is a large per cent to the farmer, who, when he pays all costs of sacks, transportation and intermediate charges, the Elevator company should be encouraged.

Mr. S. H. Friendly will be the agent for Eugene and Lane county. Notice. A new landau was received from Portland Wednesday evening by Ed Bangs. The vehicle is of the best quality of workmanship and is fitted with curtains and windows.

Mr. Bangs has the reputation of keeping the best of teams, and this acquisition to his stable will render it more desirable. The husband will only be furnished on order from his stable one-half block west of the Hoffman House.

ATTORNEYS IN ATTENDANCE.—The following attorneys have been in attendance upon the circuit court this week: Prosecuting Attorney Hamilton, Roseburg; J. L. McArthur, B. B. Beckman and E. B. Watson, Portland; W. S. McFadden, Corvallis; Judge R. S. Bean, Geo. B. Dorris, L. Bilyeu, J. J. Walton, A. C. Woodcock, Geo. A. Dorris, E. A. Gallagher, S. W. Condon, Geo. A. Skipton, Geo. M. 30. J. H. Doughty vs Robt Johnson; to recover money. Judgment for plaintiff for $35.90 and interest at 10 per cent. 36. James N. Laper vs Southern Pacific Co; to recover money. Continuing case.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

Column of the Etartian Society

MELBA HENNING, Editor. MARTIN DENNING, Asst. Editor. Miss Mabel Gray is expected next week.

The Seniors had a "mass picnic" last Thursday. The newest term in Geometry is the "Kadinos rector". Remember everyone is to help on Baccalaureate Sunday.

What is called the composite is the latest Senior puzzle. Misses Emma Chase and Carrie Hall visited the University last week.

Mrs. Tenny and daughter, of California, visited the University on Monday. The Misses Anna and Kate Powell will spend Commencement week in Eugene.

Mr. Charles Moore, of Prineville, a graduate of the University, is in Eugene visiting friends. Misses Lulu and Beale Sawyers have graduated in music at Wolfe Hall, in Denver, Colorado.

Prof. Condon delivered a lecture before the Pioneer Association of Lebanon on Thursday last. Miss Finkle, a teacher of the State Normal School of California, visited the University Friday and Monday.

We were not a little surprised at the heading written by a member of the Optics class at the beginning of a chapter on Heat. This column closes our work in this line for the year. Wishing our readers a pleasant vacation, we gladly resign the editorial pen during the summer.

What is the difference between a certain Senior course and the class pin? Answer: The latter is placed on a Senior, and the former is pinned for a Senior. As the school year draws near its close, each student compared, as a matter of course, his year's work with the preceding years of his life. Very few of us would part with the knowledge gained, and the pleasures enjoyed during 1890.

Many visitors will be with us during the next week, and for our own interest, and for the interest of our school, should do all in our power to prove that we are students, that we are men and women. Don't fail to hear Locks Richardson, Shakerpinner, reader this evening at the M. E. church. Mr. Richardson is one of the best interpreters of that poet now living. This is a change of life time. Admission, fifty cents.

The Latin class in Fables have finished, and passed examination last Saturday. The majority of the members of the other classes took their examination Tuesday and Wednesday, this President Johnson had the last of the week in which to make out the yearly reports. We remember during commencement last year how many students were late to the exercises. Indeed nearly every exercise was delayed from a half to an hour on this account. Can we make any improvement here. If each student is prompt the friends are very apt to be, and in this way we can help remedy a very bad custom.

The new catalogues are ready. They contain much information concerning the University. It would be a good plan for each student to see that they are distributed where the University and its workings are not known, as well as to furnish friends with them. There is a large stock on hand and they can be had by calling on the librarian. Through the kindness of Mr. Cornell the Seniors spent Friday evening in a very profitable manner, observing the several planets which are now visible. During the evening, Saturn, Venus and Jupiter were viewed. On the left of the disc of Mars was seen the supposed snow flees. Saturn presented a most wonderful and beautiful appearance surrounded by its brilliant rings, which were plainly visible during the whole evening.

As this is our last issue it becomes our unpleasant duty to say a word of farewell to our Senior class. We say unpleasant because farewells are always painful. Not in the memory of the majority of our present students has so large a class gone from the University as in this year. How we will miss them, but this we know, that success will follow them wherever they go. Extending a most cordial invitation to attend our graduation exercises in the name of the Etartian society, we bid you farewell.

We have been criticized by our contemporary editor for setting before our sisters the all important question of abolishing our column. We are accused of presenting a lamentation rather than an argument. We do not versed in the tactics of argument as is one will be lawyer contemporary, no doubt did not plan the matter before the public in the best manner. Still we fail to see where we expressed any sorrow, uttered any cry of grief, or bewailed our lot. We only intended to give a few reasons for our deep convictions. We wonder our brother did not show vehemence our argument was "weak and whimsical." Is it weak to argue with such a man as President Beckley of the University? Is it whimsical to say that a little well done is better than a great deal attempted? The Etartian society is surely worthy of an existence, but the question is, does its proceedings interest the public. Trace the preparation of the column; attend the meetings, but does it afford as good discipline as can be found with all the advantages of the State University. As for shrinking from perplexing difficulties, we deny the charge. We do not wish to boast, but we think we can say with all truth that we are not afraid of work. We may be "weak and whimsical" in the extreme, but we are not afraid of work. Our aim in presenting the "Flea" was simply to agitate the question in order that at our next election we might be prepared to vote after a study of the subject.
