A Horrible Butchery.

Lebanon Express: A double tragedy was enacted at the home of Grant Auspugh, seven miles northeast of Lebanon, at 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. Auspugh shot her husband through the right lung while he was lying in bed. The report of the pistol called from an adjoining bedroom the sister of the unfortunate woman, who says that Mr. Auspugh, after being shot, rose up in bed and told his wife that she had shot him. These, the only words the murdered man uttered, were spoken just as his wife, who was standing at the bedside, placed the pistol to her right temple, taking her life almost instantly. The interment took place on Friday. The deceased leave two children, aged respectively about four and a half and two and a half years.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs! Also your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boecher's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

A Little Too Late—to doctor when Bright's Kidney has done its work. Take Wright's Kidney and Liver Cure for inflammation of kidneys and liver, pain in back and other warnings of kidney trouble. Sold by all druggists.

Call a Halt—That tired languid feeling means that your system is in a state to invite disease, and Wright's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla is what you need at once to expel impurities of the blood and build you up. Sold by all druggists.

What is It?
That produces that beautifully soft complexion and leaves no traces of its application or injurious effects? The answer, Wisdon's Robetteine accomplishes all this, and is pronounced by ladies of taste and refinement to be the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Warranted harmless and matchless. F. M. Wilkin, agent, Eugene City.

Change is one of the irrefragable laws of nature, and fortunately the change is almost invariably for the better. As an instance of this, St. Patrick Pills are fast taking the place of the old harsh and violent cathar-tics, because they are milder and produce a pleasant effect, besides they are much more beneficial in removing morbid matter from the system and preventing ague and other malarial diseases. As a cathartic and liver pill they are almost perfect. For sale by Osburn & Co.

On a recent visit to Iowa, Mr. K. Dalton, of Duray, Russell county, Kansas, called at the laboratory of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, to show them his six-year-old boy, whose life had been saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It having cured him of a severe attack of croup. Mr. Dalton is certain that it saved his boy's life and is enthusiastic in his praise of the Remedy. He says it has an excellent reputation in his vicinity; that farmers come fifteen miles to his store for it. For sale by Osburn & Co.

Kimball, South Dakota, Graphic: While the columns of the Graphic are open to any and all unobjectionable advertisements, yet it is quite impossible for us to speak knowingly of the merits of the various articles of merchandise advertised. Particularly is this opinion occasionally a note-worthy exception in the celebrated Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This now universally known medicine, has been advertised in the Graphic four or five years, but not until recently had we any personal knowledge of its wonderful efficacy, which has come about through the prevailing influenza and the stubborn cough that has so often attended it. In the writer's family this medicine has on several occasions this winter cured a cough that baffled any and all other remedies, and the number of families in Kimball and vicinity in which this remedy has been used with like effects attests to its value as a specific for coughs and colds of every nature.

Wednesday of last week the little town of Milwaukee, this side of Portland, was the scene of a shocking tragedy, or rather the neighborhood about a mile east of Milwaukee. Daniel Harvey, aged 35 years, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Chas. Bunnell, aged 65 years, and then shot himself fatally.
Daniel Harvey was an uncle and Mrs. Bunnell the grandmother of Mrs. W. E. McAfee, of this city, and they have gone to the scene of the awful occurrence. It is generally supposed Harvey was insane, as the pleasant relations had always existed between mother and son.—Salem Journal.

The aborigines of New South Wales show great ingenuity in shaping their harpoon heads for spearing fish. Instead of shaving the wood up and down the grain as we are accustomed to whittle, they turn it round and round and chip it off across the grain.

Natural Gas.

Drain Echo: We stated last week, while speaking of what Mr. Harnett, the well known mining expert saw at Mr. Krewson's place during the last week, that he resolved to make a more extensive examination along the banks of Pass creek, from the lower point on Mr. Drain's land, where the derrick for sinking the first well is being erected, to Mr. Krewson's place about nine miles above.
The idea was generally accepted and quite a number of citizens accompanied the expedition as soon as comparative darkness allowed the flames to be more visible than in daylight. On Mr. Drain's ground, at the starting point, the flames of fire, shooting up the earth, wherever a stick was thrust into it, were not as strong or simultaneous as usually seen, but they were sufficiently so to prove beyond doubt, that a large embodiment of gas existed below. The next place tried was between the two extreme points on Mrs. Miller's land. Here the evidences were so strong and simultaneous as to delight all present. Everywhere, around a small area, a thin three foot gas was pushed down into the soft earth and a lighted match applied, a strong rushing flame of fire burst out and continued so to burn until the hole filled with water and exhausted the gas.
The experiments at this point were very interesting and satisfactory to all present. At Mr. Krewson's, a short distance above, two men were sent up in the evening to catch all the gas they could in an old kerosene can, so the ground which made such a brilliant display at noon was barren at night from exhaustion. The kerosene can was then touched off and made a grand exhibition. A large flame shot out and lasted, at least, three or four minutes, at the same time creating a heat which was sensibly felt several feet away by different persons. There, then, was another point for the scientist—viz: Would the ground thus exhausted, become again impregnated and if so, within what time? This of course is an important point to settle in reference both to the existence, quantity, and force of the gas below. So some twenty hours after, Mr. Harnett, with another party of five persons, visited the exhausted spot and found it by the same method, just as full of gas and as brilliant in flame, as when he tested it the day before.
Surely, then, these experiments, made publicly before reputable citizens, should be sufficient to convince the most incredulous that natural gas in principle does exist over town. Now hurry down the drill and let us know in what quantity it exists.

Foreclosures in the West.

In an article in the Political Science Monthly, Mr. L. P. Dunn states, on the authority of the Phoenix Mutual Insurance Company, that "It has loaned a little over a million dollars and foreclosed on 68 per cent of it." A table prepared from the records of the United States courts, says the St. Louis Republic, shows that thirteen companies operating in that state are foreclosing at the rate of $1,500,000 a year. In Michigan the number of foreclosures in a single year is given at 1,667. The aggregate of farm mortgage indebtedness in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan is $617,000,000 according to Republican estimates, which are purposefully below the mark. There are no statistics to show the proportion of foreclosures to the number of mortgages, but from the records published in the country press, the Republic knows that foreclosures are becoming much more general in the West—especially so in Kansas where the court dockets, published in the county papers, are often made up almost exclusively of foreclosure proceedings.

The Lilliputian Child.

The child of Mrs. Hugh Glenross, born on Sunday, May 25th, and which weighed barely eighteen ounces when twenty-four hours old, is still alive and growing, although quite weak. It is a boy and was christened after the father of our country, Dr. Estes is still in doubt as to its life, but as the child takes nourishment well and regularly, he still has hopes. He has never known of a similar case when the child lived as long as this one has. He says that one can realize its diminitiveness best by taking a medium sized doll and placing it beside the baby. He can slip his finger ring over the child's arm up to the shoulder, and says the ring would go over the leg to the hip if the knee-cap was small.—Astoria Columbian. A later report says the child is dead.

Human Remains Found.

Prinville News.
About three weeks ago a young man, the son of Hon. Robert May, of Wasco county, while herding horses on Muddy, in the northeastern part of this county, found what he believed to be the burned remains of a man. Young Mays asserted that the skull was not burned so, but that it was easily recognized as that of a human. The company who were with him gathering horses thought he was mistaken and made light of the matter, but he, young Mays, was positive he believed to be the burned remains of the baby. He can slip his finger ring over
hip if the knee-cap was small.—Astoria
is dead.

Burning Dead Horses and Cattle.

In the vicinity of Sheep rock and Tule lake in this county, and in Klamath lake basin across the California boundary line, where numerous cattle and horses died during the past extraordinary severe winter, their carcasses create an intolerable stench for miles around since the advent of hot weather especially where large bunches exist. The settlers in order to abate this nuisance have commenced burning them up as the best means of purifying the atmosphere. The loss in many places is estimated at 75 per cent, and will average not less than 50 per cent. of loss throughout Eastern and Northern Sitkion and most of Southern Oregon.—Yreka Journal.

Believes in Advertising.

"Put your money in the best local paper" said Allen C. Mason, the leading real estate operator of Tacoma. He was talking to a well known broker. "I never spent a dollar on guides, handbooks, blotters or other illegitimate advertising dodges, but I have always been one of the heaviest advertisers in the local papers. If well managed they appreciate generous patronage and use every effort to give your advertisements the widest possible circulation. Give them every dollar you can raise." Mr. Mason started in Tacoma not many years ago without capital and is to-day a millionaire.
He knew enough about advertising to give the best kind of advice.—Seattle Press.

The Pendleton East Oregonian report that grasshoppers and crickets are overrunning the country press, the Republic of Mr. Plucker, who leased the ranch of the chief of the Indian police, has been totally destroyed and his grain has been destroyed to the stalk, every blade being stripped by the pests. The crickets are of the gray variety and are of immense proportions, while the grasshoppers are clean up in numbers that they look in size. Jacob Reith reports that the grasshopper are cleaning out his garden at his ranch seven miles down the river.

Linkville Star: Jackson county stock men appear to know pretty well where the fine grass is plenty. They are running stock up the mountains to fatten on our green government range, and we may quittely fold our arms and let 'em come. We don't own any government ground. We are not so badly afflicted, however, as the people of Grant county, across whose borders from June until August, pour millions of sheep from Umattilla, Morrow and Gilliam, devouring the land like swarms of locusts.

The editor of the Stayton Sun met John Crabtree up in the mountains. He is ninety years old this month and had been mowing grass with a scythe; last year he made quite a number of rolls. Among other things he told that he moved from Virginia to Jackson county, Mo., in 1833, and moved to Oregon in 1845, and in 1846 settled on the land where he met him. He accounts for his old age largely by the fact that he has always been contented. The sun is about down in the career of himself and wife.

Dallas Itemizer: What Joe Simon don't know about how to get there politically is scarcely worth knowing. When downed, whether by fair means or by foul, he whines not, neither does he complain, but quietly goes to examine the fortifications of the enemy, and at an hour when they expecteth not Sir Joseph is on the inside. Ask Governor Thompson and Jim Lotan if that isn't about the size of it.

A wonderful tree is the cumaba tree that grows in Brazil. Every part of it from its root to its leaves is put to some good use, and altogether it furnishes food, light, lumber fences and medicine for the Brazilians.

The county seat vote in Sherman county resulted: Wasco 161, Moro 120, Kenneth 108, Murray Springs 63, Grass Valley 4.
Wasco and Moro will compete for the county seat two years hence.

A suburb of Portland offers the cost of the buildings for that McMinnville Baptist college, and expects the city to raise $175,000 to
