Enormous Debt of France

The public debt of France is estimate at $6,200,000,000 thus making it the heast of any country in Europe. To add the burden, the expenses of the current of are set down at $700,000,000, and the inenue at only $600,000,000, and the govament has been forced to fund the accus lated deficits in a new loan for 200,000,0 goes to the support of the army and ney, and the poorest peasant has always lin willing to pay it; but an annual decreasely in revenue, increased taxation and new loss will unquestionably tend to injure the ladustries of the country, and ultimate prove dangerous to the existence of the Resolute.

The luxurious habits of Oxford undergraduates are unknown in Leipsic, and Jena, or even in Berlin. The general characteristics of German sudents are, "plain living and bright thinking." Many youths are even known to cultivate the muse on a little oat meal. The following fact may illustrate the comparative poverty endured by the man who labors for an education in Germany: Mr. A. and Mr. Arrangements have been completed for a B. were chums. So poor were they that they could only afford to wear one suit of special excursion train from Corvallis and Albany to the eastern extension of the Oreclothes between them. Their lectures came at different hours of the day and hence it was possible for both to gather the fruits of the lecture room with the same pair of trousers. The one chum staid in bed while the gon Pacific railroad company's track on the Fourth of July next, leaving Albany about 7 a. m., and starting back about 4:30, makother was acquiring the lore of the lecture room. But this was not the worst. Mr. A., who was about seven inches shorter than Mr. B., was obliged to cut off a fresh fringe every week. In this way you will easily see that their communistic trowsers kept growing shorter and shorter until B. grew ashamed to wear them. They hit upon an ingenious plan, however. They obtained on credit a pair of high-topped boots of their average fit and henceforth wore the trousers tucked up in the fashion of franticrsmen. In this way they worried through the winter. Lew then opened fire on Morg., firing five shots, four striking Morg. from the effects of which he died Sunday. Two weeks before the parties had quarreled over a line-fence and Morg, chased Lew with a gun. "A sacreligious son of Belial, who suffered bronchitis, having exhausted his finances, in order to make good the deficit, resolved to ally himself too comely, lenient and docile young lady of the Malay or Caucasian race. He accordingly purchased a calliope and coral necklace of a chameleon hue, and securing a suite of rooms at a principal hotel, he engaged a head waiter as a coadjutor. He then dispatched a letter of the most unexceptional caligraphy extant, inviting the young lady to a matinee. She herself sacrificable to his desire, and sent herself sacrificable to his desire, and sent a polite note of refusal; on receiving which he procured a carbine and bowie knife, said that he would not now forge letters hymen-eal with the queen, went to an isolated spot, severed his jugular vein, and discharged the contents of the carbine into his abdomen. The debris was removed by the coroner.
