Shot Her Father.

Frank Jarvis was shot Saturday at the court house in Portland by his daughter Josephine Ross. The bullet struck him in the left shoulder and inflicted only a flesh wound. The cause that led to the shooting is substantially as follows: Not long since Jarvis was accused of incest, his daughter Josephine being the prosecuting witness, the case was carried to the supreme court, which ordered the verdict set aside for want of corroborating evidence. The decree was entered that morning. The daughter, seeing her father walking from the court house a free man, shot at him with the above result. She was placed under arrest.

District Attorney McGinnis said in moving to dismiss the indictment against Jarvis he did so with great reluctance, but he was unable to furnish the corroborative testimony required by the supreme court. Judge Stearns, in dismissing the defendant from custody said: "I share the deep regret of the district attorney in dismissing this case, but there is not an alternative for us."

When seen in jail by a reporter after the shooting, Mrs. Ross said: "I shot him because he frequently threatened to kill me should I ever reveal our horrible shame. Knowing him as I do, I firmly believed he would carry his threats into execution. I am afraid of him even now, and I believe he will kill me the first chance he has."

Daniel Ross, husband of Mrs. Ross, was arrested on a charge of being accessory to the offense of trying to kill Jarvis.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs! Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Calf cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

A Little Too Late—to doctor when Bright's Disease has done its work. Take Wright's Kidney and Liver Cure for inflammation of kidneys and liver, pain in back and other warnings of kidney trouble. Sold by all druggists.

What is it?

That produces that beautifully soft complexion and leaves no traces of its application or injurious effects? The answer, Wisdom's Robotine accomplishes all this, and is pronounced by the highest authorities of medicine to be the most delightful, toilet article ever produced. Warranted harmless and matchless. F. M. Wilkin, agent, Eugene City.

Change is one of the irresistible laws of nature, and fortunately the change is almost invariably for the better. As an instance of this, St. Patrick Pills are fast taking the place of the old harsh and violent cathartics, because they are milder and produce a pleasant effect, besides they are much more beneficial in removing morbid matter from the system and preventing ague and other malarious diseases. As a cathartic and liver pill they are almost perfect. For sale by Osburn & Co.

On a recent visit to Iowa, Mr. K. Dalton, of Duray, Russell county, Kansas, called at the laboratory of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, to show them his six year old boy, whose life had been saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has saved cured him of a severe attack of croup. Mr. Dalton is certain that it saved his boy's life and is enthusiastic in his praise of the Remedy. He says it has an excellent reputation in his vicinity; that farmers come fifteen miles to his store for it. For sale by Osburn & Co.

Kimball, South Dakota, Graphic: While the columns of the Graphic are open to any and all unobjectionable advertisements, yet it is quite impossible for us to speak knowingly of the merits of the various articles of merchandise advertised. Particularly is this true of patent medicines. But there are exceptions occasionally and a note-worthy exception is the celebrated Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This now universally known medicine has been advertised in the Graphic four or five years, but not until recently had we any personal knowledge of its wonderful efficacy, which has come about through the prevailing influenza and the stubborn cough that has so often attended it. In the writer's family this medicine has on several occasions this winter cured a cough that baffled any and all other remedies, and the number of families in Kimball and vicinity in which this remedy has been used with like effects attests to its value as a specific for coughs and colds of every nature. For sale by Osburn & Co.

BEN BUTTERWORTH QUOTED.

Extracts From the Ohio Statesman's Recent Speech in Congress on the Tariff.

"We must cut loose from mere partisan politics and local selfishness in dealing with questions of this character and appeal to broad statesmanship which solves problems of state, not merely for the approaching fall election, but for the century and for the paramount and lasting good of the whole people."

"I insist as a republican and a protectionist that if the narrow-gauge policy suggested by some distinguished gentlemen is adhered to, the protective wall all around the United States will be thrown down except for purposes of revenue and we will be brought to a realizing sense that the protective system is to impart the quality of fairness and humanity to competition, and not to destroy it in the interest of combined and aggregated wealth. Unfortunately as the world goes, congress is not likely to take an affirmative action on any given proposition until the wild clamor from the people in its favor fairly lifts members from their feet, and then the sound must be absolutely certain and clear before they will consent to act."

"Gentlemen will discover before my party is many years older that we are fast running upon the rocks by continuing to abuse a policy wise in itself but which may be so prosecuted as to be condemned by three-fourths of the people who thoroughly understand it. I insist, and shall continue to insist, that the policy which has sole reference to certain conditions which impart to the competition, where those conditions exist, the leaven of injustice, inequality and inhumanity, shall not be applied where those conditions are not found. Nor am I, for one, content to remain dead and silent in the midst of this conflict, awaiting for favorable winds to blow me to a harbor of political rest, setting my sail after the current of the trade winds has become obvious and their course and force manifest."

Western Democrats in Advance.

The Democrats of Chicago have taken the bull by the horns and propose to fight the gubernatorial campaign out on a straight tariff issue. Their nominee for United States Senator is the famous war veteran, General Palmer, and he has been placed upon a platform far in advance of the National Democratic platform of 1888. The convention which nominated adopted resolutions which advocated tariff for revenue only—from internal revenue taxation and taxes on luxuries. This, says the New York Mercury, would relieve the workingman, farmer, and men of limited income, and leave the raw material of labor free, and the Democrats of Illinois are supported in this movement by the Chicago Tribune and other Republican free trade journals. It is a bold stand, but it is likely to capture the farmers, and if it results in a victory for the Democrats of Illinois (who in their advanced sentiments only voice the voters) it will compel the Democratic Presidential nominee of 1892 to take his stand on the same platform.

The Popular Vote.

In the tariff debate Smyth, the Republican speaker continually repeats the assertion that the people of 1888 declared in favor of protection. The rapid character of this kind of talk has been well exposed by the Democrats, who have called attention to the fact that 100,000 more votes were polled by Democrats than Republicans, without taking into account the votes cast by the third and fourth parties, which were largely those of tariff reformers. Then there is the further consideration, that of the negro votes polled by the Republicans very few represent any conviction on the tariff question, while the interests of nearly all the colored voters demand tariff reform.

Portland Welcome: On last Sunday a meeting was held at the Jewish Synagogue to discuss the question of wearing or discarding hats during religious services. There was a good attendance of the congregation and the utmost interest prevailed throughout the discussion. Speeches were made, pro and con, the rabbi, Dr. Bloch, being a strong advocate of the no hat question. The interesting contest was finally settled by the taking of a ballot, resulting in the friends of the old custom of heads covered gaining their point by one vote. The result shows that even in the exclusiveness of Jewish religious exercises, orthodox methods are taking a back seat, giving way to advanced ideas and the progressive spirit of the age.

THE HOG LAW.

An Act to Prevent Swine from Running at Large.

The people of Lane county having voted by a large majority against swine running at large, we publish below for the benefit of the public generally, the law that is to be enforced. Probably but few of the voters really understood at the time of the election. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

SECTION 1. That on the petition of one hundred or more legal voters of any county in the state being filed with the county clerk before the time of giving notice of the general election in any year the county clerk shall cause notice to be given that at such election a vote will be taken in such county for and against swine running at large.

Sec. 2. In voting for and against swine running at large, it shall be printed or written on the same ballot with candidates for county officers, and shall read, "For running at large—Yes," or "For running at large—No," and the vote thus cast shall be canvassed the same as those cast for any county officer.

Sec. 3. If a majority of all the votes cast shall be against swine running at large, the county clerk shall give notice of publication in some newspaper in his county for three consecutive weeks that in sixty days from the date of said notice it will be unlawful for swine to run at large, under penalty of five dollars for the first offense and ten dollars for each and every subsequent offense, to be recovered from the owner of the swine by civil action in the name of the State of Oregon, before a justice of the peace of the precinct in which such owner or keeper, or either of them may reside, and such penalty shall be for the benefit of, and when collected paid into the common school fund of the county in which such action is brought, within sixty days after such animal is proved to be at large.

Sec. 4. No prosecution shall be commenced to recover the penalties named in section 3 until at least one day's notice has been given to the owner or person having charge of such swine, if such owner or keeper be known; and it shall be a sufficient defense to such prosecution to show that such animal or animals were at large without the knowledge of such owner or keeper and without his fault.

Sec. 5.—A person finding any swine running at large contrary to the provisions of this act, and any constable of any precinct, or marshal of any city, of his county where such swine may be found, on view or information shall take up and confine the same forthwith, giving notice thereof to the owner if known, and if not known, by posting notices describing such animals therein in at least three public places within the precinct, and if the owner does not appear and claim his property, and pay all charges for taking up, advertising and keeping the same, within ten days from the date of this notice the sale of the animals may be proceeded with under the law relating to strays.

Approved February 20, 1885.

Killed by a Lion.

The Yreka Journal of June 25 gives the details of a horrible affair that occurred near there recently. It says:

The little son of Jos. Daugle, residing at Mugginsville in this county, near the dumping ground of the Campbell hydraulic mine in Quartz Valley, was attacked, killed, and partly eaten up by two mountain lions on last Saturday afternoon. About two o'clock the child asked his mother for the privilege of going up to play with his sister's children, who resided nearly half a mile distant, and on being answered "not to-day," wandered off the gulch about two hundred yards in front of the house, where he was evidently gathering oak balls under a tree and stringing them, when pounced upon by the lions. The savage beasts, an old she one and a yearling, undoubtedly killed the child at once, and dragged him some two or three rods into a small gulch, where he was found about six p. m. by his father, who had been out hunting him. When discovered by the horror-stricken father, the lion was still devouring the body, and had eaten the flesh from the child's face and neck, besides tearing out his vitals and sucking all the blood from the body, an arm picked clean of flesh being also found some distance away, as though snatched by the younger animal from the clutches of the older one. Mr. Daugle secured his gun and alarmed the neighbors, when the lions disappeared, and the distracted father secured the remains of his dead boy, the fearful experience being a terrible affliction to the distressed family, who were in a state of frenzy over the unexpected and terrible calamity that befell their little boy.

A Rare Jewel.

On the grassy banks of the rising Big Neustices is to be found a rare jewel in the form of a young lady. Five years ago this month Miss Mattie Jones, daughter of J. D. Jones, fled on a homestead of 100 acres of the choicest land in the Big Neustices valley, and has made that her home since that time. She has a good frame house and barn, ten acres cleared, sixty apple trees set out and growing, three head of calves and a number of agricultural implements. On the 17th inst. she went before the county clerk of Tillamook county and made final proof, Messrs. J. C. Norris and Louis T.
