HALSETT, Or., Aug 1, 1890.

An old soldier's story: In the late war I was a soldier in the First Maryland Volunteer Company G. During my term of service I contracted chronic diarrhea, since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found one that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy was brought to my notice. I gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow. I take pleasure in recommending this preparation to all my old comrades, who, while giving their services to their country, contracted this dreadful disease and did, from eating unwholesome and uncooked food. Yours truly, A. E. Hensley, Halsey, Or. For sale by F. M. Wilkins.

Applegate's Troubles.

The Ashland Record of a recent date gives a version of the causes that led to the removal of Applegate from the Klamath Indian reservation. It says:

Word was received this week that President Harrison, at his summer resort at Crescent Springs, Pa., had on Monday removed Gen. E. L. Applegate as Indian agent of Klamath reservation, and appointed D. W. Mathews of Salem, formerly in the drug business at Ashland, in his place. Gen. Applegate was appointed a year ago at the instigation of Senator Mitchell and the Oregon delegation, and right at the start became disgusted with the way the administration was conducting Indian affairs. Every week seemed to add more disgust, and the general became very good with his pen, kept the department at Washington well posted with his views. During Cleveland's administration the Indian department was regularly divided among the different denominations, and the head of affairs being of a liberal turn of mind things went smooth. When good Mr. Harrison went in with his infant damnation and can't-go-to-heaven on anything but a Calvinistic shingle doctrine, he appointed to the heads of Indian departments a lot of fanatical sectarian bigots—better grounded in bigotry than himself, if that could be— who have been conducting the department on that narrow line, fighting the Catholic church with the venom characteristic of sectarian jealousy, and rooting out as near as possible all Christian ideas that do not conform to the bell fire damnation orthodox pattern. Add to this mixture the fact Agent Applegate is generally termed an infidel, and you can see what a monkey and a parrot of a time they have been having. Gen. Applegate was asked to resign some time ago by the Indian commissioner. He was disgusted enough to quit willingly but would not do so if it gave his fanatical enemies any pleasure. He will now expose the administration and its management. He says the department officers who have called there thoroughly ignore the government and conduct themselves as if the church was their guiding star, and that the work now going on will soon produce worse results than the dark ages ever saw.

Profits of Banking.

The Mexican Financier gives the following table showing the amount of capital invested and average dividend rate of a large number of banks all over the world, which will interest students of financial questions:

	Capital in thousands	Average dividend rate
111 English banks.....	$770,000	11.3
10 Scotch banks.....	45,000	11.5
9 Irish banks.....	35,000	10.2
30 Australian banks.....	85,750	11.7
23 Canadian banks.....	57,500	8.0
3 South African banks.....	6,250	10.0
6 Indian and Eastern B.....	21,500	5.9
6 South American B's.....	14,500	9.0
3 Mexican banks.....	9,500	17.0

In the United States the percentage of profits on banking capital varies greatly, the banks in the older and more thickly settled eastern states showing a comparatively low rate of dividends, while in the western states where the current rates for money are much higher, the banks earn large profits. For example, a five years' average of banking profits in the eastern state of Maine is 6.34 per cent. while during the same period in Kansas the banks earned an annual average of 15.92 per cent. and in states farther west, like Washington, the rate was 18.04 and in Oregon 23.88. In this country the more favorable laws regarding circulation enable the banks, in the face of a somewhat slow business movement, to earn satisfactory dividends.

That McKinley Bill.

(From the Pittsburg Dispatch.)

"I tell you, the affairs of this country will never be run right until women take a hand in 'em," said a newly-married citizen. "The other afternoon a fellow got me into a discussion over the McKinley bill and went home to supper feeling hot. In the course of the evening my wife remarked, very sweetly and innamintly: 'John dear,' she said, 'I saw an only too lovely piece of goods to-day, and I intend to order a dress off of it to-morrow.' 'I knew that meant a fifty at least, but I said nothing for a long time. I had an idea, though, and finally I decided to risk it. 'I wish that chap would quit bothering me with that McKinley bill,' I said, 'the wories the life out of me with it.' 'O pay it, John, dear, pay it,' said my wife. 'Don't let it worry you any longer. I'll wait till next month for my dress. Pay it, won't you, dear?' 'I promised to pay it the very next day, and I tell you right here that unless we have a woman at the helm pretty soon the ship of state is bound for the rocks.'"

P. J. Sullivan, the fiend who assisted the notorious Carrie Bradley to murder old man Brown and throw his body in the Willamette at Portland, was arrested recently at Sisson on complaint of a woman from whose ill-gotten gains he was living, for assault and battery. When the case came in court and the woman was testifying the brute Sullivan jumped at her and with both feet kicked her in the abdomen. The trial was postponed until he served out a term of thirty days for contempt, but the superior court released him on account of a legal technicality.

Coffee promises soon to be such a high priced luxury as to be totally beyond the reach of many of its present partakers. The coffee crops of Ceylon, Arabia and other localities are so constantly failing that planters are going out of the business and directing their attention to tea and fruits. There seems no longer a chance of making a profitable crop in the coffee growing districts and the countries where it will grow are about exhausted. The result will be that we must stop drinking this palatable beverage.

Blank mortgage deeds for sale at the Grand office.

A Grande Ronde Ranch.

A reporter of the Scout has been exploring the big ranch of J. Q. Shirley, in Grande Ronde valley, and among other things says: Altogether, Mr. Shirley has about 2,500 acres, 1,300 of which are under cultivation.

The first place visited was his immense wheat field, two miles and a half long and containing 800 acres. The average height of the grain is about up to a man's breast, and the heads are large, full and heavy; the yield, taking the entire field, being something over forty bushels to the acre. In order to harvest this Mr. Shirley has invested in an immense machine called the "Harvest King," a combination header and thrasher, which requires the strength of twenty-two horses to furnish the motive power. The machine was in operation upon our arrival, and attracted our particular attention. It is a marvel of mechanical skill and ingenuity, and does its work with an ease that is astonishing. It cuts a swath ten feet wide, heading and gathering up the grain without waste, threshes it, cleans it, divides it into three grades—the first being the largest and best grain; the second, grains of smaller size, and the third, broken grains which make good feed—and then deposits the grain in sacks. Two men are kept constantly sewing the sacks and casting them of the machine into rows convenient for being gathered up with wagons. It requires five men to run it, and cuts twenty or twenty-five acres per day. The most of the field was broken for the first time last summer but was not seeded till this spring. We are told that there is a peculiarity about this land that makes such a course necessary.

Sunday Welcome: The establishment of a new Democratic daily newspaper in Portland is becoming more of a certainty. If arrangements now under consideration are satisfactorily concluded the new paper will make its appearance with the advent of the new year, and if it does it may be relied upon as having come to stay. The enterprise will be strongly backed financially and will have a complete staff of able writers and news gatherers. Its telegraph service will be the most complete and readable of any newspaper in the northwest and will be furnished by special correspondents. Oregon is sadly in need of this kind of a paper and the Democracy of the state doubly so. The one discouraging feature of Oregon is that with all its advertised greatness, the principal city with a boasted population of 80,000 only supports one daily newspaper, while Seattle has four or five first-class daily journals that are a credit to the enterprise of the Queen City.

Union Scout: Some of the laws of Oregon are peculiar to say the least. For instance: The county court calls in a physician to examine a man as to his sanity. If the physician finds that the man is insane and commitment papers are made out he gets a fee of five dollars; if the man is found to be all right he doesn't get a continental red cent. Again: If the sheriff has four prisoners in jail he is allowed five dollars weekly for each one, making twenty dollars per week for the four. If he is unfortunate enough to get another prisoner, the board of each is reduced to three dollars per week, making fifteen dollars per week for the five. These and other similar laws that could be mentioned indicate what an acute penetration our Solons are possessed of and shows what an immense pressure of brain power is carried around inside the cranium of the average legislator.

"Why do you Americans put five cents on a letter to Mexico when two are enough?" asks a business man writing from the City of Mexico, says the Springfield Republican. "Is cash so abundant in northern homes that you can so waste it? Pray tell your people that only a 'phule' will put any more postage on a Mexican letter or paper than on one destined for the United States—also why the postal treaty? One-half my correspondents thus foolishly contribute to Uncle Sam's exchequer." This advice is well timed. Most people know that letters to Canada need bear but 2c postage for each ounce or fraction thereof, but it is less generally known that the same rate applies to letters sent to Mexico—which is too often regarded as a "foreign country."

Two prize fighters, Higgs and Sayers, are in the Umatilla county jail serving out a fine of $1000 each for engaging in a little mill on the reservation, recently. They had their choice, one year in the pen or $1000 fine. They chose the latter. This is without doubt the first instance in Oregon where the law on prize fighting was enforced.

For the first time in many years the Sunday law was brought into effect and the saloons in Corvallis were closed on Sunday last. It is needless to say that many of our citizens were very much inconvenienced.—Leader.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs! Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boecher's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

For Sale.

80 acres of fine beaver dam land for sale. Easy to clear. Land adjoining and of same character produced last year 6 tons timothy hay per acre. Two spring branches on the premises. No swampy land. Good out-crops. For terms and information, apply at this office.
