On Monday our justice of the peace, Mr. Abe Axtell was asked by a hurrying messenger to cross over the river on urgent busiess. The squire hastened acress the river especting to find some old grizzled comrade in trouble about his pension, but to his sur-prise be found, not an old scarred veteran, but a fine looking young man and a beautiful young lady in camp, surrounded by a good traveling outfit, Jersey cows and other surroundings indicative of thrift and culture. The young gentleman introduced himself a The young gentleman introduced himself as George Applegate, and it proved to be Mr. George Applegate, son of Gen. E. L. Applegate, on his way to his farm on State creek. He produced a license and said he wished to be married to the young lady there present, whom he introduced as Miss Annie Barnhardt. And there with a gentleman and lady who seemed to be traveling companions as witnesses, in the grove on the bank of Rogue tiver, a short distance from the south end of the bridge. Mr. George Applegate was marthe bridge, Mr. George Applegate was mar-tied to Miss Annie Barnhardt, and as man and wife they started for their future home on the banks of the ever flowing Slate creek -Grant's Pass Courier. The young gentle-man was born and raised in Lane county, and is known by many of its citizens.

The Oregonian Railroad.

We clip the following editorial from Wednesday's Oregonian:
An undertaking of the greatest importance to our state is the Oregonian (Huntington) railway. It is to traverse the state from northwest to southeast. Starting from Port-land it will take a southeasterly direction through Multnomah county, then turning south will pass twelve or fifteen miles east mutton sheep at the Pine Opening on the Military road, which he drove across the mountains for a market. The price not being satisfactory he will return them to his into Eastern Oregon. The direct line will continue to a connection with the Central Pacific in Nevada. A lateral line will pass through Middle Oregon into Idabo, and another line will be extended through the Klamath country into California, and importance. He calls at the farmer's house and salutes the lady about in this way: "Good morning, madam. I have just met your husband and purchased a calf from him. He could not change this $20 bill and told me to call at the house and get $15 change." The good woman, supposing it to be all right, gives him the requisite change and he departs, saying he will call in a day or two for the calf. When the husband comes in and is told of the transaction, he concludes there is some mistake; but as he concludes there is some mistake; but as he has the $20 bill concludes that he is not out much. But when he undertakes to pass the bill he discovers it to be a rank counterfeit, then he knows it is not right.

It appears that the crop of suckers is always equal to the demand. We thought the sharks had worked fraudulent timber land schemes in this vicinity so often that it would be impossible to find any one who would take stock in any scheme, that was not, on its face, legitimate. However, we have found that we were mistaken as the following will show: It appears that W. A. Caborn and partners came here about three months ago and commenced business. They located about forty people on claims up the McKenzie river, making many allur-ing promises. They received from each of the parties about $22 to pay expenses of filing, etc., besides charging each one the con veyance to the land and board while so en gaged. Of this sum they paid out $8 and pocketed the other $14, thus making $560, ess expenses. In addition, these same parties, so we are informed, located 100 people from other portions of Oregon and Washing ton, receiving probably $50 from each or an average, thus cleaning up about $5000 on this transaction. The first proofs were advertised to be made at Roseburg on last Wednesday, and about fifteen of those who had "contributed" were on hand to make the proofs required by the United States, but Cabron and Welch failed to put in an appearance, so the proofs were not made. Those who filed, are out quite an amount each; but are considerably

BOUND OVER.—The irrepressible Van Al-stine is again in trouble. He was cleaning out the ranch where he lives on South Wil-lamette street Friday afternoon when Deputy Marshal Gambel was sent for and made his appearance. Van Allstine set up a claim that his domicile was outside the city limits and the marshal had no jurisdiction, supporting his claim with a chopping axe. Cambel retired and a couple of deputy sueriff sarrested the belligerent Van Allstine and took him before Justice Henderson, who held him in $300 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. Not having the necessary friends to go security, he lan-guishes in the hotel de Noland.

DIED.—O. A. Lithgow died of consumption in Eagene, Friday, Sept. 19, 1890, aged 36 years. He came to Eugene several months ago from Chehalis, Wash., in hope of restoring his declining health by a change of climate. A widow and five children survive him. The funeral took place to the Masonic cemetery Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias, a the auspices of the Knights of Fythias, a number of the members of that order com-ing from Albany and Corvallis, aiding the resident members. AUCTION.—I will sell at public auction at my place one-half mile east of the High Banks on the McKeozie 8 miles from Eugene on Friday, Oct. 10, 1890, at 10 o'clock a. m., the following described property: 3 cows, 4 steers, 2 heifers, 2 calvos, 1 mare 8 years old, 1 horse 4 years old, 1 sucking colt, 1 hor, 2 wagons, plow, harrow, hay rack, set of harness, and household furniture. Terms Cash. PAYING UP.—The Oregon Pacific a few days ago paid its employees for June, and it is now liquidating for July and August, which will be in full, as under the custom, pay is not due until the 15th to the 20th of each month, for the preceding month. The public can draw their own conclusions as to what this commendable conduct means, the Albany Democrat adds.

Value of Larch.—The larch lumber cut by the saw mill at Bridal Veil sells readily at $22.50 a thousand, and the individual that has a quarter section of larch timber in the foothills of Lans county need not work any more, when it becomes accessible to market.

For Sale.—320 acres of land, team, har-ness and wagon, ten head of cattle, farming utensils and household furniture for sale at a bargain. Inquire of A. S. McClure, Room 7, Grange Building.

I have for sale on my ranch at Cloverdale, three miles east from Creswell, thirty-five head of cows, several of them with calves and giving milk and others soon to come in. 16 last year's heifers, also a full blood young Jersey bull.
