SUPPLEMENT.

Appropriation for Surveys.

Surveyor General Byars says he has received notice that an appropriation of $15,test has been made by congress for Oregon surveys the ensuing year. This is to cover everything demanded in that line—in the tastcades, the Coast range, in the Nehalem country and all the different sections of the state. The surveyor general has already filed with him petitions from settlers for the survey of between eighty and one hundred townships in different portions of the state, but the slifficulty will be as it has been in the past to make contracts with competent surveyors to do the work at the meager fees allowed by the government. This has left a large portion of the previous apportionments unused and kept the public lands unsurveyed. Men are not going to tramp through mountainous country, covered with thick underbrush, entailing the most difficelt labor and the greatest fatigue for a mere miserly pittance and the land department at Washington does not seem to grasp the sitnation.

Or-gon gets $15,000 for the survey of public lands the ensuing year, while the new state of Washington gets $100,000 for the same purpose, and yet Oregon has much more unsurveyed land than Washington has. This item must have been neglected by our usually watchful delegation. The appropriation is entirely inadequate to the necessities.

The Mortage Census.

Some curious answers have been obtained Some curious answers have been obtained by the officers of the census bureau to the question, "For what purpose was the money raised by the mortgage used?"

A Kansas man explained that he borrowed a hundred dollars to pay "ex-penses of election," and signed his name "Busted."

Busted.

"Busted."
A North Carolina farmer with a mortgage upon 600 acres, said that "The money was used to pay for niggers purchased by his father before the war."
Another Kansas man said that he borrowed the money for the purpose of enabling him to pay "the tariff on the things I have to buy and to make up for the losses I sustain by reason of non-protection on the things I have to sell."
The returns show that the common rate

things I have to sell."

The returns show that the common rate beyond the Mississippi is from 10 to 12 per cent. Often an additional expense for the negotiating of the loan is added.

Five hundred and twenty-five agents were employed in searching the records. A large force is now engaged in compiling the information gleaned. The primary work is done through an ingenious arrangement of cards, different colors representing different facts. The mortgage returns will be more elaborate and instructive than heretofore.

Favors Disfranchisement.

In the constitutional convertion at Jackson, Mi-s., Sept. 30, the committee to which was referred the subject of memorializing congress on the repeal of the fifteenth amendment, reported a long set of resolutions. They set forth that the white and negro races, though friendly and bomogeneous for all business and industrial purposes, are widely separated by race instincts and pejudices in all political and social matters. There is no well founded hope of change. With such conditions there will ever be conflicts of greater or less magnitude concerning the control of the government of the states in which their numbers are approximately equal. Such a condition of insecurity is not only a great political and social evil, but also greatly impedes industrial development, and mammuch as white people only are capable of conducting and maintaining the government of such states, the negro race, even if its people were educated, being wholly unequal to such responsibility; therefore it is the deliberate judgment of the people of Mississippi that the only efficient remedy lies in the repeal of the fifteenth amendment, whereby such restrictions and limitations may be put upon negro suffrage by the several states as may be necessary and proper for the maintenance of good and stable government therein.

The train will be composed of new and elegant tourist sleepers, and parlor cars with reclining chairs, handsomely and appropriately decorated for the occasion.

All towns along the line will be notified in advance of the coming of our great novel excursion. We will have one or two car loads of Oregon and Washington fruits to distribute free to those who turn out to welcome us

Under the new election law of Washington, all ballots are printed at public expense, Upon each will appear the candidates for office. It is not necessary for a candidate for office to be nominated by a regular party convention, provided his name is put forward by 100 electors for a state office, fifty for a county or district office, and ten for a town, precinct or ward office. No ballots are legal except those provided by the county clerk. When a voter desires to vote he receives a ballot from the judges stamped upon the back with the official stamp, and upon which the judge must write his initials. He then retires to a booth erected for the purpose, and marks a cross before or after the name of every candidate for whom he desires to vote. When a voter cannot read or mark his ballot, one or two of the elective officers should assist him. No person except the voter preparing his ballot will be allowed within a booth except the challengers. No electioneering is allowed within fifty feet of the polls. The provisions of the act are enforced with adequate penalties.

It is said that Adam Forepaugh, Jr., has trained the pony Blondin so that he will successfully walk a tight rope suspended thirty feet from the ground.
