Florence Notes.

The West, Sept. 26. The published account that a saloon is to be established at Florence is not true. For the past two weeks the run of salmon in the Siuslaw river has been greater than ever before, and the price paid for catching about the same as last year. The steamer Lillian has been improved in the matter of having her pilot house moved back of the first mast. This gives additional deck room, and now she can carry teams and wagons without using a scow. A serious accident occurred near the farm of L. B. Carter the first of the week. Mr

W. Custiss, recently from Elberon, Iowa, w. W. Custiss, recently from Elberon, lowa, was placing the rafters on his baro, when he stepped on a brace which gave way, throwing him to the ground, a distance of about twenty feet. At first it was thought the injuries sustained would prove fatal, but we learn as we go to press that he will probably get off with a dislocated hip and two broken ribe.

Jumped to Death.

An unfortunate occurrence took place at the insane asylum at Salem, Wednesday, resulting in the death of Miss Mary Elizabeth Seal, an inmate, aged 37 years, 6 months and 28 days. Her relatives in Eugene were notified at once, and the remains were notified at once, and the remains were brought here on the overland train Thursday evening. The funeral took place from the family residence, corner Fifth and High streets to the I. O. O. F. cemetery Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The Salem Journal of Thursday gives the following account of the manner of her death.

Dr. Harry Lane, superintendent of the asylum for insane, and his corps of assistants were thrown into an unusual flurry of excitement last evening by Miss Mary E. Seal, a patient from Eugene, jumping from a fourth story window about five o'clock in the afternoon and sustaining severe internal injuries and a shock from which she died some three hours later. Miss Seal had been an inmate of the asylum some six months and had been watched very closely at all times as the tendency of her disposition was suicidal. But she had her rational times and was a steady helper in the sewing room, where she made herself very useful. The authorities of the institution had given her a leave of absence to visit her relatives in Eugene, from which she had just returned and W. Holloway is by common consept the resumed her work in the sewing room. At leading jewsler and best watch maker south of Portland.

Lane county, from the exhibit published elsewhere in this issue, seems to be in a bad state financially. The indebtedness on un-paid warrants and to the school fund, which money has been wrongfully used for county ourposes, is $20,507 83, while the assets are $684 42 in cash, and $17,333 63 in delinquent taxes.

The above showing does not indicate the full financial strait in which Lane county finds herself for the first time in many Within a few months payments for bridges now in course of construction will become due amounting to about $54,000.

Add to this estimate $10,000 for a county jail and the whole liabilities will amount to about $84,000, not considering delinquent

This amount, however, has been princi pally incurred by the building of subs bridges to replace those lost by last winter's flood. Lane county is rich in resources and will not be materially harassed by her indebtedness.

Silver Prunes.

The quality of the silver prunes that are grown in Lane county cannot be excelled in any country. This week we inspected some that were grown on S. P. Sladden's fruit farm adjoining Eugene and dried in his dryer. Mr. Sladden grades his prunes according to size and quality. We weighed and counted prunes from the boxes as they were prepared for packing with the following results: No. 1 weighed 15 to the pound, No. 2, 18: No. 3, 20; and No. 4, the culls, 27. Thousands of acres of land in this county are as well adapted to prune culture as Mr. Sladden's, and the trees when six years old will yield from $200 to $300 per acre. Our poorly paid wheat farmers should turn their strention to fruit growing. The quality of the silver prunes that are

ACROSS THE MOUNTAIRS.—A. M. and Chester of his home and is slowly recovering. A correspondent of the Gervais Gazette, gives the particulars as follows: "S. Veatch, a freight conductor on the S. P., came about as near being killed last Thursday as he will ever be until the closing "of this new day." There were four trains here at the time and his train was on the siding, switching in to let a passenger train get through. He was standing on a flat car which was loaded with lumber. The engineer too suddenly stopped the train and the caboose over-rode the flat and fell on Conductor Veatch. It seemed hardly possible for him to get out alive, but he did, although badly bruised. The caboose was badly smashed."
