There was a Christmas tree and entertain ment in the Baptist church at Springfield, Christmas eve. The programme, consisting of vocal music, recitations, addresses, and music by the band, was listened to by a large and attentive andience, after which Santa Claus delighted the children by giving each Claus delighted the children by giving each one caudy and nuts. The tree was hand-somely decorated, many of the presents being as useful as they were pretty. The citizens of Springfield deserve much praise for their trouble and expense in order to make the evening an enjoyable one, which will long be remembered, especially by the children.

Before the issue of another Guand the year 1890 will have been numbered with the years that have been. To some it has brought pleasure and to others it has brought Over the country there has waged no calamities but it has given in return told blessings to the toiling millions. One Union and will continue to be until time has been no more. Humanity has constantly marched upward and onward until its powe is felt as it acts with wonderful force in veloping the natural resources which nature has placed within its reach. In entering upon the year i891 we will endeavor to chronicle the constantly changing events of the neighborhood. We bid one and all "A Happy New Year."

The Railroad of the Future.

The popular railroad of the future will be the single rail, elevated electric. To avoid the possibility of accident by collision the elevated line, with two single rails seems to be the only hope. To economize in the ground occupied for track and right of way the elevated single track meets all require-ments. It can be built for loss than half the ost of the old style, requiring no grading, ballasting, ties or poles for the electric wires and need not be fenced to avoid killing stock Farmers can plow their fields and raise crops underneath the track. It will be more durable, as none of the timbers except the posts will come in contact with the ground, hence will not decay so soon. The track will be less liable to damage from floods, snow and sand. The machinery for operating and the cars themselves will be so improved as to be less than half the weight of those now in use and I have no doubt many of us will see this kind of railroad operated with safety at a speed of two miles per minute on long rans. Jacob C. Spores Dead.

Another of Oregon's pioneers passed away last Sunday morning. This time it was Ja-cob C. Spores, who resided near the McKende bridge, about six miles porth of Eugene He was born in Montgomery county, N July 23, 1795, and arrived in Oregon Sep-tember 5, 1847, coming that fall to Lane county, being the first settler in the portion county, being the first settler in the portion of the county denominated as the McKenzie river settlement. He was a veteran of the war of 1812 and was a pensioner of that war. At an early day Uncle Jacob Spores and his ferry were known far and wide, and it is said m that he had a peculiar faculty of carrying on satisfactory negotiations with the Indians of his neighborhood. He had been twice married; in the first instance to Miss Eliza Hand, August 11, 1816, and secondly to Mrs. Nancy Trimmer, June 20, 1842, who survives him. At the time of his death he was the second oldest man in Lane county, being 95 years, 5 months and 5 days old For several years he had been totally but enjoyed good health. He passed away without a struggle. He leaves numerous ons, daughters, and other relatives, besides hosts of friends to revere his memory.

We will state in this connection that the oldest man living in the county is Hosea Brown, who resides in Siuslaw precinct, near Cartwright postoffice, he being in his ninety-ninth year, and is still in good health. He is also a veteran of the war of 1812.

FOR TEN YEARS .- Mr. John Briggs has anded the Albany Democrat a tabulated weather report for ten years, which will be published in a few days. It shows the total rainfall for the past year to be only 41.30 inches. The highest for ten years was 62.12 inches in 1881, the lowest 31.54 inches in inches in 1881, the lowest 31.54 inches in 1889. The average for ten years was 43.30, which should certainly take away from the valley the title of Webfoot. The heaviest snow fall was 36 inches, equal to 3.6 inches of rain, all in December, 1884, the lowest 1 inch in 1883. The average fall of snow for the ten years was 17.68 inches. Over half the average rainfall was in the three winter months.

HEAD CHEESE .- A number of our peop were taken suddenly ill Saturday and Sur day from the effect of eatin head cheese procured at one of the market head cheese procured at one of the markets. From the symptoms, the medical profession treated the patients for poisoning. All of the patients have recovered, but each were severely affected. It is due to the butchers to state that the meat was prepared cleanly and as usual, and they are much perplexed over the cause of the sickness of those partaking. An analysis of the meat would have been made by a chemist, but unfortunately all of it had been eaten. A family at Albany this week, who had eaten head cheese, was similarly affected, and upon an analysis it was found that acid vinegar was the sis it was found that soid vinegar cause.
