

The Primary Election Enactment.

The primary election bill, passed by the last legislature, applies to all incorporated cities of 2500 inhabitants; it will therefore be necessary to conduct all primaries in Eugene hereafter in accordance with the provisions of that law.

Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, was one of the very few men in the party who knew early last year what the Reed caveat and the McKinley bill would do for the republicans, and he declined to be a candidate for re-election and hunted up another job.

Senator Dolph, in order to ascertain the amount necessary to carry out his amendment for experimental artesian wells in Oregon, addressed a letter to the agricultural department, and received a reply stating that the full plant for boring water might cost $45,000; that a 1000 foot well could be sunk for $1800, and a 1500-foot well for $2400.

The Unatilla reservation lands are at last to be opened to settlement. The date of sale is fixed for about April 1st, thirty days notice to be given through the newspapers.

In the absence of the county judge any justice of the peace is now authorized to commit an insane person to the state insane asylum. This law was passed by the last legislature, and is an excellent one.

World: Mr. McKinley goes back to the records of Washington and Jefferson to defend the protective principle. But Washington did not live to see even a 20 per cent tariff, though our "infant industries" were then a hundred years younger than they now are when Mr. McKinley has given the monopolists a 50 per cent average.

Of Interest to Hop Growers. E. Meeker & Co., the large hop shippers of Washington, have issued a circular giving statistics of the hop output in the states of Oregon and Washington. They estimate the yield of Oregon to be 35,000 bales and Washington between 40,000 and 50,000.

The disastrous results to both growers and dealers who scrupulously fulfilled all contracts, coupled with the threatened loss of a portion of the crop by vermin, thus rendering the quality uncertain for future crops has put a stop to the practice of contracting for future deliveries, and it is to be hoped it will never be revived.

This firm has been notified by their London dealers to put their hops in small bales and not press them so firm. They say there is a good reason for this in that hard pressed bales never make good summer use hops; and this desirable quality of the Northern Pacific growths of Oregon and Washington is that which has given such a prestige on the London market as to enable the active sale in that market.

At the price hops were selling at during last fall the 25,000 bales would put about a million and a quarter dollars in circulation in this state; yet hop growing is only fairly begun in Oregon. The prospects are for a much larger acreage planted in hops for the coming year than there was last year.

Lakeview Examiner, Feb. 19: Friday about midnight snow began to fall, and it continued to fall without a minute's interruption for forty-eight hours. Twenty-eight inches of snow fell, and the first which fell was very wet. The snow melted, amounting to 3.23 inches of precipitation. This was the greatest snow fall in so short a time ever known here. Travel was interrupted in every direction.

There were several Republicans in the legislature who quietly opposed the "Collins-Minto" raid on Superintendent Downing to oust him from office, by taking the appointing power from the governor and placing Collins in his place, purely a partisan thing, for several good reasons, among them the following: That the appointing power has always been in the hands of the governor; that when the late George L. Woods was governor, the Democrats had the legislature, and they refused to take this power from Governor Woods.

The last legislature did justice to women when it enacted a law providing that the mother, a widow, could appoint a guardian of her children by will. Heretofore that right was denied her.

Sherman on Religion and Politics.

The religious papers are indulging in a squabble over Gen. W. T. Sherman's religious belief. The old hero definitely settled this matter for all time in a letter in the North American Review, of December, 1888, in which he said:

An Abstract Contest.

The Corvallis Times gives the following concerning the fight over the payment of the claims for abstracts of the lands in Benton county: A controversy is still pending between taxpayers and county officials in regard to a contract made and entered into between Markley & Dunstan and Benton county, wherein the former agreed to make a present ownership book for said county, for which they were to receive one per cent. of the assessed valuation of all property heretofore not on the tax roll.

Albany Democrat: It now looks as if the state would never own the locks at Oregon City. Senate and house bills on this subject were both smothered. Weatherford's senate bill, one that met the case and gave power to the governor at the proper time to make a demand and assume possession of the locks, went into the "ring," received a black eye, and died in the hands of its committee, a fearfully mutilated bill; when called it would not obey.

At Moloc point, on the road to Fort Klammath, the ice is piled twenty feet high, says the Klammath Star. Through high winds that sweep over the lake, ice has blocked up the road and compelled teams to hug the steep and rocky mountain side. That is the point where early pliers is easily upset, while profane huris itself at very cold fact and mingles its dismal echoes with the howl of the reservation coyote.

Gilliam county shipped 175 head of beef cattle in the latter part of January from one band alone, kept fast solely on bunch grass, says a Fossil exchange. There has not been enough cold weather to put up any ice, 12 degrees below zero being the coldest so far, and only for a short time. There has been no opportunity to sleigh ride for lack of snow, and we have had a regular Los Angeles climate all winter.

J. O. Dickerson, on whom a skin grafting operation was tried some months ago, 132 brother Masons contributing skin from their arms to be grafted on a cancer wound in the hope of saving the patient's life, died at Emergency hospital, Chicago, on Monday. Dickerson seemed to improve and his strength returned, the operation was performed until week ago, when his stomach refused absolutely to take any nourishment.

High Bank Happenings. Feb. 26, 1891. Morris Levinger, of Eugene, was here this week. Chester Edwards and sister, Miss Blanche, visited in Eugene a few days last week. C. O. Matteson, of Fall Creek, was here Sunday night. He reported the snow not so deep in the mountains as it was here in the valley.

J. H. McMahon was around Tuesday taking the census of this school district. There are 42 school children between the ages of four and twenty. From the way in which the snow fell last Thursday if the wind had been blowing at the rate of thirty miles per hour we would have thought the tail end of a Dakota blizzard had struck us.

School meeting will be held Monday for the purpose of employing a teacher and transacting such other business that may come before them. A good attendance is desired. There has not been the interest heretofore in this district that should have been taken for the advancement and promotion of education in our school. To accomplish this the parents must take a greater interest in educational matters than they have in the past, for this will encourage both teacher and pupils and will cause them to work more diligently. We have as many months of school and as successful a country school as can be found anywhere; but it can be made more successful by a little effort. Remember, parents, that a great deal rests upon you.

Dancing School. Mr. H. J. Hopkins, who has just arrived from the east, will shortly open a school of instruction in dancing and deportment. He had 20 years experience in this work and is thoroughly posted in the latest figures of ballroom etiquette. The instruction will be first-class. Parties wishing to join the class will leave their names with C. H. Payne. One of the attractive features which will be introduced is the new Oxford Minuet, which combines the staidness of the English and the sprightliness of the American movement. Class hours from 8 to 10. A number of receptions will be given after class hours to which pupils will be admitted on these tickets.

Terms, including reception: Single gent, $5; lady, $6; couple, $10. One-half in advance, remainder at the sixth lesson. One term, twelve lessons. Class hours, 8 to 10; receptions, 10 to 12. One lesson each week. I should like to have a children's class in the afternoon if we can get enough to make a class. We charge $5 for each pupil. Hours, 4 to 6.

Gay, under the firm name of Perkins & Gay, is this day dissolved by mutual consent, the said D. G. Gay withdrawing from the business. Eugene, Feb. 24. Having this day sold my interest in the Central Oregon Land and Loan Co. and purchased J. H. Weider's interest in the City Drug Store I hereby give notice that I have this day entered into a copartnership with W. B. Hollenbeck under the firm name of Hollenbeck & Jones. The old firm collecting all accounts and paying all bills to date of this notice. GABRIEL JONES.
