Last Tuesday as Mr. King was working on a house near Florence, the building sud-denly collapsed. Mr. King was caught between some of the heavy timbers and both legs broken. He is at the Morris hotel kindly cared for by friends. He is receiving medical attendance from Dr. O. F. Kennedy. Mr. A. M. Erickson and his cousin Charles were on the building at the time it fell. The former gentleman was badly cut about the face and his right wrist sprained, but the latter escaped without injury.

On Wednesday evening, about 9 o'clock, a large lamp suspended over the editor's cases, and containing about a gallon of kerosene oil, fell from its hangings while lighted, struck the lower case thence to the floor. In an instant a sheet of flames reached to the cetling of the composing room, a large bundle of exchanges ignited as well as the lower part of a news stand and the walls of the building. Rubber coats, coats, shawls central flames, thus partly smothering them until assistance arrived and the fire was extinguished. ALMOST A WRECK!

The Fault of a Negligent or Drunken has selected Eugene for their annual The steam schooner Record, the property of Kimball, Stevens & Co. of San Francisco, while crossing the bar of the Siuslaw river, outward bound, ran ashore Thursday of last week. At the time a heavy gale was blow-ing and it was feared for a time that she ing and it was feared for a time that she law to attend the encampment. The city would be a total loss. However, luckily the pays the regiment $1200 to defray a portion winds abated and she was landed high and dry on the sands, but not until 50,000 feet of lumber and 27 cases of dried salmon had been thrown overboard. Work was immediately commenced to again pull her back into the river, which was successfully accomplished, and she was beached last Sunday to make repairs. She was badly strained and lost her propeller and rudder, entail ng a damage to her estimated at $2,000. After a few repairs the vessel will sail for San Francisco. A considerable quantity of the lum-ber was picked up by wreckers and saved. says: One of the principal objects of the We are informed that the going ashore of the vessel was not the fault of the meeting of the Board was to take final action as to where the regiment should hold the bar, but was the work of either a drunken or negligent captain. It appears that where she went ashore was at least one-half mile north of the channel. The stramer Geo, H. Chance arrived in over the bar the evening prior and found found fourteen feet of water on the bar, and so reported to the captain of the Record. When leaving the captain said he pich their tents on the 27th of Jane and receives a bad impression of the spirit intended going north of the channel, and main in camp until July 5th. # Delinquent Taxpayers.

The Lane County Pomona Grange recent ly resolved that the list of delinquent tax-payers should be published, and appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. F. M. Nigh-swander, J. M. Stafford and A. C. Jennings to meet the Commissioners' Court and ask for the publication. The committee per-formed the duty assigned them, Wednesday, and the court made the order. The delin-quent list runs back to 1885. The names of expayers delinquent for that year will published in the Eugene newspapers next week and the week thereafter with the amounts due the county. The succeeding years will be published in the order in which they come two issues each.

The Grange is determined that the names of those who have not paid their taxes shall be known to the public. This action of the court will undoubtedly facilitate the payment of delinquent taxes that have dragged along from year to year. Those in arrears should pay up, or they will undoubtedly see their nes unpleasantly prominent in print.

Prizes drawn. According to the agreement of Meser Frasier & Berry, the drawing for the prizes in the Frasier & Hyland addition took place at Rhinebart's theatre Saturday evening The holders of tickets selected a committee to supervise the drawing consisting of W. R. Walker, R. M. Day, Geo. Belshaw, Dr. McCornack, E. T. Awbrey, W. L. Cheshire and J. H. McClung. The tickets placed in the boxes were similar in size and the drawing was done by little Joel Ware and Dr.

The first prize, the residence on the trac with seven lots, was drawn by John D. Ken-nedy, of Coburg, ticket No. 123. The second prize, a large barn with seven lots, was drawn by Mrs. M. E. Fisk, of Eugene, ticket The third prize, a cottage and four lots, was drawn by Alice Tibett, of Tacoma, ticket The manner in which the drawing was conducted was satisfactory to all the holders of tickets, the high character of the gentlemen on the committee being a guarantee of a fair and impartial management.

I am authorized to receive sealed bids un til May 30, 1891, for moving the Goshen school house. Particulars on application.

Goshen, Or., April 29, 1891. B. F. KERNEY, Clerk. ABSTRACT COMPLETED. - A. E. Wheeler has completed his contract with Lane county for the furnishing of a complete abstract of the lands and maps of the county, with present lands and maps of the county, with present owners' names. The books contain 627 pages, 13x14 inches, on fine linen paper. The abstract of property is type written. Each township map is made separate, and shows the exact shape and description of each piece and parcel of land, and the owner therof. The work is a credit to the com-piler and will be of untold value to the offi-ers and people of Lane county. Military Wagon Road.—As will be seen by the Commissioner's Court proceedings, that body has appropriated the sum of $250 toward the fund for the improvement of the military wagon road across the mountains to southeastern Oregon. Nearly $1,900 in coin has now been raised, which amount will put this important thoroughfare in better condition than it ever was. Wm. B. Pengra has been selected as superintendent of the work. The five companies in Marion county will assemble in this city on the 27th of June and be conveyed by rail to Eugene. The Link-ville company will march to Ashland thence by rail to the camp ground, and the boys rom Coos bay will march across the moun tains to Roseburg and take the cars the re-

Salem should have raised at least $2000 to encourage the encampment to be held in close vicinity to her borders, but Eugene began early in the matter and outstripped the capital city. This insures a big celebra-tion on the 4th of July at Eugene, and there will be the largest crowd ever present or such an occasion outside of Portland. It was Salem's turn last year to have the militia, but she failed to secure them owing to lack of finance and the same condition of things prevailed this time.

Staces — Eugene is rapidly gaining a reputation as a staging center. Three times a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, four horse stages leave Engere, generally loaded with passengers for Florence on the seaccast and Foley springs near the summit of the Cascade mountains. They carry a considerable number of passengers for way points. Mr. Bangs is contemplating putting a daily line on the McKenzie routs. There will be a large number of mining men and prospectors to carry to the Blue river mines. A stage line making two trips daily connects Engene and Springfield. A daily line runs to Coburg, arriving in Eugene in the morning and leaving shortly after the arrival of the two o'clock local. Besides the mail line the two o'clock local. Besides the mail line to Florence Mr. Whisman has a four horse waterworks in Eugene the town has been inflicted with the poorest street sprinkling ser vice ever known, when it should be better ouncil. It is a constant source of danger quiring pedestrians to be continually on the watch to escape involuntary baptism. Some side streets, Seventh, Eighth and part of Ninth, receive but little attention, consequently a wind brings the dust from the unprinkled portions to the detriment of every usiness house. It has been suggested that the city should take charge of the sprinkling service, as is done in many other towns of this size. Willamette street should be sprinkled from the depot to Tenth street, and Seventh, Eighth and Ninth at least between Olive and Oak. Tanks could be erected at different points from which to draw the water, and coming encampment. Salem, Eugene, and wagon could sprinkle the streets above indi-Yaquina Bay, had heretofore been talked of cated and probably more.

> The McKenzie wagon road and who built it: This road was built by a citizen of Lane county by the name of Felix Scott, a brother of Judge Scott, of Eugene. When he started out to build this road in 1862 he took with out to build this road in 1862 he took with him eight large freight wagons, seven hundred head of cattle, and furnished twenty-five men whom he paid for their labor, and the only assistance he had was furnished by citizens of Lane county in the way of money and provisions. Mr. Scott moved his entire train, including cattle and wagons, as the work progressed, until he reached Eastern Oregon. This I wish to state was the start of the McKernie wagon read, and it was Oregon. This I wish to state was the start of the McKenzie wagon road, and it was traveled for years afterward as a free road. I publish this card for the information of the public.

AN INSULT TO EUGENE.

Since the completion of the system of The President's Train Stops 20 Minutes-Benjamin Does not Appear
-The Citizens Indignant at the Affront.

Eugene is not in a happy state of mind at count. Tuesday she was justly wrathful and digmant at the insult received from the presindigmant at the insult received from the presidential party. According to the programme President Harrison, the good Wannamaker of $400,000 fame, and Uncle Jerry Rusk of the agricultural department were to devote fifteen minutes of their time to a reception to be tendered them by the people of Eugens and Lancounty from 0:15 e'clock to 6:30 Tuesday morning. Mayor McClung received a dispatch authorizing the annumement, and Senater ing. Mayor McClung received a dispatch as thorizing the announcement, and Senater Eakin, who was one of the legislative committee that met the presidental party at Ashland, also received assurance that Eugene would be remembered by the President.

The fire bell rung at 5 o'clock that morning, also as a began to gather and son a throug of people began to gather at the depot, many of whom had come from unless in the country for the especial purpose of welcoming the President. Although the rain fell all the time the people were in good humor—we mean before the train left. At least 2000.

At 6:10 the sestibule train of Pullman cars At 6:10 the restibule train of Pullman cars rolled in, the engine decorated with flags and evergreens, bearing in front a portrait of the President. The brass band played, the crowd cheered and bombs were fired. The reception committee, consisting of Mayor McClung, T. G. Hendricks, S. H. Friendly, J. D. Matlock and S. M. Yoran were at the rear platform to perform their duty. No one on the train appeared. They waited and waited with the same barren result. Some one discovered a same barren result. Some one discovered a negro porter; several saw Wannamaker through negro porter; several saw Wannamaker through the window complacently reading a paper. Twenty minutes elapsed without anyone show-ing up, when Conductor Kearney came to the rear platform, gave the starting signal and the train pulled out. Expressions of indignation at the contemptible manner in which they had been treated were heard on every side from the citizens who had patiently stood in the rain while Harrison was, presumably, enjoying his bed.

Mayor McClung, S. H. Friendly, J. D. Mat-lock and S. M. Yoran of the reception Com. went aboard the pilot train, and to them after-ward President Harrison claimed that a dis-patca had been sent the previous evening noti-fying them that he could not appear st Eugene. No such dispatch was received, and taking all the circumstances into consideration the conclusion must be reached that the Presi-dent thought far more of his warm bed than of the attention of the 2,900 people who were standing in the rain to receive him. If the reception had not been intended the train would not have stopped in Eugene twenty minutes when other points lower down the valley were urgently pressing their claims for more time.

The G. A. R. members, Company C. O. N. G., and a company of lads from 10 to 12 years of age, under command of drill master Mr. Sachs, the latter company firing bombs, were Sachs, the latter company firing bombs, were present.

H. C. Humphrey had made arrangements with a McKenzie fishing party for trout for the presidential party, and when the train stopped a basket of as fine trout as ever were lifted from the water was placed aboard the train. Later in the day the following telegram was sent after the presidential train:

"EUGENE, May 5.—Send back the basket of trout and we will send suckers instead.

All week and Loan Co. has undergone a complete transformation the past week. All week carpenters, frescoers, paper hangers and carpet stretchers have been engaged effecting the change and when completely furnished it will be without question the handsomest office on the coast. The room is 25x80 feet with full French plate glass front shaded with draped curtains. The ceiling has been handsomely painted and the side walls hung with beautifully figured gilt paper upon which hang some rare landscape paintings by master artists. An elegant brussells carpet covers the floor of the office, which is divided into seven different apartments separated by a turned post and rail, imitation walnut fence with double swinging gates leading into each apartment from the main aisle, which extends the entire length of the office. The building will hereafter be the headquarters and main offices of the Sinslaw & Eastern Railway & Navigation Co., together with the real estate and insurance business of the Lane County Land and Loan Co. Mr. Frasier has been elected Auditor of the R. R. Co. and Mr. Berry, Superintendent of the same, but they will continue their real estate business which will be under the management of a competent and reliable man. Each of the various offices will be furnished differently; the Auditor's office will be in black walnut, with leather upholatered furniture; the General Manager's in solid oak, the Supt's, in anitor's office will be in black wainst, with leather uphoistered furniture; the General Manager's in solid oak, the Supt's. in antique ash and so on through the list, Handsome glass signs suspended from the celling will designate each department.
