

Eugene City Guard.

SATURDAY JUNE 30, 1891.

Portland will have a new set of bosses. Will the new ring be any better than the old?

Oregon, or rather the Willamette valley, is getting an extra share of rain this season.

The fifteenth annual commencement of the University of Oregon is now a thing of the past.

Lieutenant C. J. W. Grant, the hero of Manipur rebellion, who led 80 men against 4000 and was twice wounded, has been decorated with the Victoria Cross.

State Comptroller Colgan, of California, has refused to sign the warrant granting $300,000 for a World's Fair exhibit. He claims the act is unconstitutional.

Commencement week in Eugene brings many graduates back to their alma mater. Pleasant recollections of the past are revived, and the social gatherings keep up the friendships first entered into years ago.

The McKenzie and upper Willamette rivers are dangerous streams, as is evidenced by the frequent loss of life in Lane county by drowning. The currents are swift and strong, the bottoms rough and rocky. It seems that considerable of the loss of life could be avoided by reasonable care.

The indications are that wheat will bring the grower better prices this year than for several years past. The partial failure all over Europe will give American wheat a good market. Already the shipping market is active, a number of charters having been made to carry grain where none were engaged at this time last year.

A representative of a Boston house dealing in bonds had papers served on him last week while in Vermont by the state inspector of finance, ordering him not to sell or offer for sale his securities, except he took out a license under the new law passed by the legislature of Vermont last November.

McKinley will carry the Republican banner in Ohio this year. Personally he is popular, but it is not probable that the voters of Ohio will reverse the verdict they gave last November against high protection and monopolies.

At the funeral of the late James H. Turner, held Saturday, at Pendleton, under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, another prominent citizen and Mason, L. M. Figg, while engaged with his brethren in performing the last sad rites of the order at the grave, was himself stricken with death.

Thomas A. Edison, the famous electrician and inventor, is prepared to startle the world with the exhibit he will make at the World's Fair in 1893. He has two or three electric inventions in course of construction, one of which is now perfected. He proposes by means of this invention to throw upon canvas a perfect picture of anybody, and be able to reproduce his words. He has reproduced a prize fight on canvas showing not only the contestants with their exact expression, but the entire audience and the various emotions that were visible on their countenances, and the blows, mingled with the shouts of the people, were also heard.

The plan of disappearing from the gaze of the world, and more especially from the view of his creditors and bondsmen, after a sufficient amount of speculation had been indulged in to make it an object, is becoming distressingly fashionable, especially among officials. The treasurer of Alton, Illinois, is the latest devotee of this fashionable plan. He was found $10,000 short in his accounts after his protracted absence had attracted public attention, and his bondsmen have the pleasure of making this amount good.

The people of Rhode Island may after while elect their governor by popular vote. Senator Garvin last week presented a joint resolution proposing an article of amendment to the constitution of the state providing that hereafter a plurality only of the votes cast at any election shall be necessary to determine such election, and it was referred to the committee on special legislation.

A Eugene gentleman interested in the Santiam mines was over in that section a few days since. While on his way home he met a large boiler for the mill at the Albany and Salem mines well up in the mountains. A gang of men were ahead improving the road, so, no doubt, the boiler by this time is at its destination.

New York, June 17.—Mate Bishop of the steamship Alvo which arrived from Haiti to-day, states that on June 6th, vessels which had been at Port au Prince during the insurrection reached Navassa, and reported President Hippolyte shot and killed by insurgents.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The United States treasury statement issued today shows the net cash balance only $1,235,000, which are the lowest figures yet reached.

PORTLAND, June 17.—About fifteen delegates from different counties of the state, met at the Chamber of Commerce this morning to discuss the proposition of raising money for the purpose of collecting an exhibit of Oregon products to be sent to the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893.

BRLEN, June 16.—The high price of cereals is being maintained on account of bad weather in grain-growing districts, especially in the Harz mountains and the Tyrol, where snow recently fell.

LONDON, June 16.—The census of England and Wales show a population of 29,000,000, an increase of 3,000,000 in the last decade.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Slavin knocked Kilrain out in the ninth round at Hoboken, New Jersey, last night. Kilrain was fearfully punished and was virtually beaten in the fourth round.

MCMENVILLE, June 16.—Charles Link, brother of Sergeant Walter Link of this city, was drowned in the log reservoir at Jones' mill on the headwaters of the Neatoos last night while handling logs for the company.

The next meeting of the Northwest Firemen's Association will be held in Victoria, B. C., September 27, 28 and 29. That is a long trip to make; $3000 in prizes will no doubt take several teams there. The tournament is becoming more Washington than Oregon.

A Successful Worker. Work cannot be successfully continued unless there is an active mental interest in it. If the mind is not clear, bright and boyant, then the work is drudgery and the worker is a machine. An occasional dose of Moore's Revealed Remedy will put the body and mind in such harmony that the hardest tasks will seem as play.

LOST. A red leather pocket or fly book containing fishing tackle was lost Thursday afternoon, June 11, between Eugene and Coburg. The finder will receive a reasonable reward by returning the same to the Guard office.

NEW SALOON.—Perry McNail has leased one of the vacant rooms in the Titus block and in a few days will have it fitted for a saloon. The fixtures are now on the way, and Mr. McNail will be here to-morrow.

FOUR DOLLARS EXPRESSAGE was the price in California in '49, says the pioneer article in the May Century. Now you may have a big box of oranges all the way across the continent for about that sum and a letter for 2 cents, and there are people who think it ought to be 1 cent.

ON JULY 5th a monthly publication will be begun in Portland devoted to the interests of horticulture and floriculture. It will be under the editorial management of Prof. E. R. Lake, of the State Agricultural College. The name will be Fruits and Flowers, and D. H. Spurns will be publisher and proprietor.

THIS MORNING, when a crew of men with pick and shovel were making their way to the line of the sewer, we could realize that Eugene will soon be supplied with a system of sewerage that will go far towards removing the surplus surface drainage, and the filth and excrements that now poison the water and pollute the air.

ANOTHER BRUTAL PRIZE FIGHT, this time in New Jersey. Slavin, the Australian champion, punches Kilrain until he is almost beyond recognition and knocks him out in the ninth round. The winner of this brutal pastime only gets $10,000 for his few minutes work. That amount would hire the average minister or school teacher for nearly ten years.

Mrs. M. J. Train and daughter of Albany, have been here attending commencement exercises.

WHEN BABY WAS SICK, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Crushed to Death.

Monday night about 11 o'clock as the steam schooner Augusta was slowly steaming along the dock at the foot of A street, in Portland, preparatory to making fast, Andrew Johnson, a deck hand, was fatally crushed between the boat and the piling supporting the dock. From the statement of Captain Paul Schrader, of the Augusta, it appears that Johnson was standing on the forward guard outside of the rail, as the steamer slowly glided along the dock. The night was somewhat dark and the mate had warned Johnson that he had better look out. Scarcely had he given this warning when a scream rang out on the air, and the other deck hands jumped to Johnson's assistance and hauled him on deck. He suffered great agony and died at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning.
