Eugene City Guard,

Ten fine Young Men in Furlough.

While the country has been darkened immeasurably in the East by the snow, the farmers have not spared their efforts at the work of the soil. They carry a larger proportion of the population than does the overcrowded city. The Nineteen Days of Highlands, which are the best days of the season, have truly been a time when the farmers have been working hard. They have been busy preparing the ground for the coming season, and the work has been going on steadily.

Captain John Tyler, the new commanding-officer of the 25th Iowa, writes that the new nine months has been a trying time. They have been busy with the work of the season, and the country is in the best shape for the coming summer.
