THE CRY OF MILLIONS!

OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW,
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Healey, who kindly provided me with the OREGON KIDNEY PILLS, to my relief. I immediately commenced using the pills. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state that I was a new man. I will recommend the pills to all afflicted as I have been.

ALBERTSON TELLS HIS STORY.
He and Chandler Alone were Implicated in the Robbery.

Tacoma News, Oct. 25.

Edward Albertson the Fidelity bank robber, arrived in the city last evening from Portland on the evening train in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Daggett and Patterson. He was taken at once to the county jail.

When seen by a News reporter Albertson was lying down on a bed arranged on the cell floor. He was resting comfortably and talked quite freely.

Reference to his wife and children affected him visibly and he hesitated about speaking of them further than to say that Mrs. Albertson had done right in going home. After the suffering through which she must have passed on his account he did not want to meet her in jail.

Then Albertson told the story of his crime briefly. Extravagant living, he said, was the cause of his downfall. He owned fast horses at Council Bluffs which got him largely into debt. Albertson was in debt when he came to Tacoma and never succeeded in getting out. He lived extravagantly beyond his means, trying to keep up with the style of living of his associates.

He began his crime by taking money from the bank and at last decided to make the amount of the theft $20,000 and either compromise with the bank by returning the securities or leaving the country.

Albertson stated positively that he and Chandler alone were implicated in the robbery. Neither his cousin, R. B. Albertson, of Seattle, or his brother-in-law, John W. Cochran, had anything to do with it.

He also told the story of his flight. Going to Puyallup the evening of the robbery, he there took the Portland train, going thence to Eugene and Florence. At that time he had no definite plans. Chandler joined him at Hale, 16 miles beyond Eugene, after meeting President Wallace on Brown's point. Chandler then returned to Seattle, saw R. B. Albertson, who refused to have anything to do with him or to correspond with the bank for the robbers. Finding that detectives were on his track, Chandler went back to Hale and rejoined Albertson, who was traveling incognito as E. Howard Johnson, a Chicago merchant.

The bank started over the mountains when they were betrayed by John Gargnier, a half-breed Indian, whom they had given $250 to assist them in their escape. Then the detectives captured them. Albertson said the shooting was unnecessary as he was not given time to hold up his hands before the bullet went tearing through his side. He is slightly deaf and did not understand the order given.

The bank robber stated it to be his intention to plead guilty to embezzlement and throw himself upon the mercy of the court. He realizes that a long period of prison life lives in the face, but said that if he lives to get out of prison he will begin life anew.

Albertson denied having consorted with fast women since his marriage or that he had purchased expensive jewelry as has been stated.

He spoke highly of the kind treatment he has received from Deputy Sheriff Daggett, Dr. Mackey, the physician who attended him at Gardner, and others at Gardner and en route to Tacoma, who have shown him kind attentions.

Albertson's wound is still a source of much pain, the muscles of the abdomen have been paralyzed by the bullet and the consequent effects. He was shot with a 40-90 Marlin rifle which ploughed a hole the size of a hen's egg the entire distance through his body.

In all, $10,569 was taken by the officers from Albertson and $40.50 from Chandler. As the Fidelity bank was insured by the Indemnity company to the extent of $10,000, it will not be the loser financially, except for its probable share of the expense of the capture.

Brick. Brick.

Whitcomb & Abrams, contractors and builders, have plenty of the best quality of brick at their yard 1 1/2 miles east of town, and will supply the demand at reasonable prices. They also contract for all kinds of brick work and guarantee satisfaction. Will deliver brick on order to any part of town.

AVG. HORNUNG, a well known manufacturer of boots and shoes at 820 Nolan St., San Antonio, Texas, will not soon forget his experience with an attack of the cramps which he relates as follows: "I was taken with a violent cramp in the stomach which I believe would have caused my death, had it not been for the prompt use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose did me no much good, but I followed it up in 20 minutes with the second dose, and before the doctor could get to where I was, I did not need him. This Remedy shall always be one of the main stays of my family." For sale by OSBURN & DeLANO.

For diarrhoea or summer complaint in any form there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mrs. Nancy Berry, of Adams, Lawrence county, Kentucky, says one dose cured her of an attack of diarrhoea. Two or three doses will cure any ordinary case. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Osburn & Delano.

Oct. 24, 1891.

Henry Pearson took passage on Wednesday's local on his way to Southern Oregon, where he will likely spend the winter prospecting.

Some Chinamen are here from Portland and intend opening up a Chinese laundry in the building back of Lockwood & Walker's real estate office.

Died, near this place, Oct. 19, Mrs. Jack Shields. The funeral took place in the Shields cemetery at this place. Mrs. Shields was one of the pioneers of this valley.

Dr. Oglesby recently returned from Bohemia with some specimens of quartz from a new discovery which assayed over $1100 per ton. He is highly elated over the discovery and will return as soon as the weather permits to make further developments.

Messrs. Hagga and Estman, formerly of San Francisco, have opened up a meat and packing house in the building recently vacated by L. O. Sherwood. They are both experienced men in the business and intend buying all the hogs that they can find in this section for twenty miles around. They visited many places in the Willamette valley on their way here but found none that suited as well as this. They will build a large packing house here in the summer if a sufficient number of hogs can be had.

Portland Dispatch: The work done by the Bowers Dredging Company in Couch Lake and for the Northern Pacific at Gull's lake, where they are now filling in a twenty-foot trestle one and a half miles, has demonstrated the feasibility of reclaiming at moderate cost the low lands along the river in this vicinity. W. S. Ladd has arranged with the company to fill all his property on the East Side between the Stark street ferry and Madison street bridge, comprising eight full blocks, equivalent, with the street adjoining, to about eleven acres.

Albany Democrat October 24: After another long legal sleazy before Judge Pipes, at Corvallis, yesterday afternoon the Oregon Pacific railroad was ordered sold on Dec. 9, at Corvallis, to the highest bidder, and that the receiver's certificates be issued to the employees for the respective amounts due them, so that they may be entered as preferred claims. The general opinion is that Col. Hogg and his backers will secure the road, but it is probable it will require some time bidding against the Blair bondholders. It looks now as if, through the proceeding, it will be regretted delays the payment of the men, it results in the reorganization of the road, and its construction eastward. The care is one of national interest, as will be seen by the clippings from eastern papers, and the men interested are among the leading capitalists of the East, so that, at least, the matter will not be finally solved without considerable general prominence being given to it. Whatever the present road is, but give us an eastern connection and we will have the best line crossing the continent, a fact that will never permit Coe station to remain the eastern terminus.

Protected industries pay as a rule less wages than those that do not have the benefit of protection. A case in point is that of the Oregon City woolen mills where skilled operatives get less than $2 each per day. Mechanics in other occupations, in the Willamette valley, that have no protection receive from $2.50 to $5 per day. If any one is benefited by the protection system it is the mill owner. He secures his laborers at the cheapest possible rate. The Oregon City Courier says:
As the statement has been made that weavers' wages are being reduced in the Oregon City woolen mill, it is of interest to learn that the wages of the best weavers, on the best work, during the months of August and September, were severally as follows: $51.55, $48, $46, $42, $48.87, $48, (a woman), $51, $41 (an old man), $53, $46, $48, $44, etc. It is true, nevertheless, that the wages of the girls and women who weave blankets and flannels are not over an average of $1.10 a day. The mill has piled up its product and, in sympathy with the dull and overstocked Eastern market, has been obliged to make a reduction in its wholesale prices of 10 to 20 per cent, which shows once more that protection does not keep up home prices, but that prices are regulated by supply and demand.

Baker City's indebtedness is said to be $87,345.00. This amount covers cost of waterworks, and both the bonded and floating indebtedness.

Wheat is worth 11 cents per hundred more at Tacoma than at Portland, and 17 cents per cent more at San Francisco. If there were a railroad to Astoria such a state of affairs would not exist.

A citizen of Anacortes, Washington, compares his town with Portland. That is about the same as classing Gladstone with Talking Timothy Geer, of Marion county, who just now has the congressional "bee in his bonnet."—E. O.

WANTED—to dispose of a lot of hop buyers who don't want to buy.—Salem Statesman. Still hops are "protected" by the McKinley bill at the rate of 15 cents per pound, a raise of seven cents under the said law. Our growers would be glad to sell their hops at the tariff rate.

The years gone by the Standard Oil company was satisfied with simply watering their stock, but that don't bring relief anymore, so they now water every gallon of oil put out, and this is the reason why countless millions mourn as they sit around lamps that give out a dim greasy light.

Miller, of Southern Oregon, wants the nomination for congress on the republican ticket. It takes men to fill this position, and while Binger Hermann hardly fills the bill, he is preferable to Miller. It is also said that State Senator Myers wants the democratic nomination, but a congressional bee in a poor bonnet sometimes spoils a good farmer.—Telephone Register.

The hop industry is in a bad way in the Willamette valley. The low price of the product, and the ravages of the louse, have discouraged the growers and the result will be that many hop yards will be plowed up. That such is the case causes regret as the hop industry has been an important one, scattering money where most needed among poorer families and women and children, who may earn considerable amounts and take needed recreation in hop fields during picking time.

The Artificial Rain Producing Company of Goodland, Kansas, filed articles of incorporation on the 19th. The capital is placed at $100,000, and the object stated is to furnish water to the public by producing and increasing the fall of rain by the Melbourne plan. Melbourne will do the rain producing and the company has contracted to pay him 10 cents per acre for all land watered by him next season. If next season should be as wet as the present has been Melbourne will have no difficulty in making his machine work.

The railroads of Oregon are sewing the wind and will reap the whirlwind in due course of time. They are contesting the rates that the Oregon railroad commission declare equitable. They may win but a legislature will meet one year from next January that will settle the dispute. The latest move in transportation circles is the reduction of passenger fares on the Union Pacific boat from the Dalles to Portland to 50 cents when the regular fare was $4.00. The citizens of The Dalles have a boat on the river to operate in connection with the portage road and the railroad takes steps to throttle opposition and cheaper rates. Powerful corporations are not above the reach of the people. We can pledge the Lane county representatives in the legislature, whoever they may be and of whatever political faith, to deal fairly with the people. Doubtful men will not be nominated. Our hold over senator, R. M. Veatch, has a record on public questions that guarantees a faithful observance of the trust confided to him by the people.
