Bind Dog.—One of the best bird dogs in Lane county is owned by Park Zumwalt of Irving precinct. An old and experienced cock Chinese pheasant will not be set by a dog, but will keep running at almost the speed of a horse. Mr. Zumwalt's dog has evidently studied the nature of the bird and found a way to bring him to a stand. After a hot chase of a couple of hundred yards he leaves the scent and makes a wide circle around the bird, two or three times. Not being pursued the bird stops, and then the dog comes back to the scent, follows and easily sets Mr. Chinaman

The Bearskin Industry.

Bernard McArthur, of the Grants Pass Supply House, says the Courier, has bought and shipped fourteen bearskins within the past week. The original proprietors of these skins were of the brown, black and cinnamon variety and roamed the neighborhood of Williams cre k and headwaters of the Applegate. The hides were not as valuable as those killed during the winter. Although bears have been quite numerous throughout the mountains this year we hear of very few depredation by them. They like hogs and sheep when roots and berries give out, but in winter they hole up in some hollow tree and sleep until the Bernard McArthur, of the Grants Pass up in some hollow tree and sleep until the frogs begin to squeak in the spring. ## An Atleged Duel.

Albany Herald: W. S. Johns, who has recently had some trouble with David Holthes, who was arrested for trying to kidnap John's stepdaughter, says that he fought the latter a duel with revolvers on Wednesday, Mr. Johns, familiarly known at "Warm Spring Johnny." It was a bloodless, but highly exciting affair, according to the latters story. The cobatants arranged all the details, and met along in the graveyard; also in the rain. They fired four shots. Johnny, who is an old army scout, and a good shot, winged his man, he says just burning him on the leg, giving him all the satisfaction he wanted. The public has no information of the scrimmage.

6. Tilmon A Howard vs S N Howard, On Information From Sheriff Noland the Horsethieves are Captured.

On Saturday about noon Sheriff Noland arned that the two Creswell horsethieves had passed through Albany in the morning, and he immediately telegraphed Sheriff Croisan, of Salem, to be on the lookout. The Salem Statesman of Sunday tells of their capture as follows:

Sheriff Croisan has, through that eternal sheriif Croisan has, through that eternal vigilance which is securing for him so many conquests, succeeded in effecting the capture of a couple more horse thieves. They arrived in Salem yesterday at about 5 o'clock and an hour later were in jail here.

On the night of October 27th two mares were stolen from the pasture of Daniel Stanton of Crossell.

the right flank about the size of a dollar, and the other was a white mare with a few white hairs in the face. The stolen team was hitched to an old hack, with panel bed, painted black and had on old work harness and new bridles.

The outfit described above, driven by two men, arrived in Salem on the Scio road late yesterday afternoon, having been camped for a time a few miles from Salem. Arriving here, they stopped near Goulet's livery stable, where they offered a couple of saddles for sale. Bert Hensley spotted them, and while the suspects crossed the street and were selling the saddles at Huffman's stable Hensley telephoned to the sheriff. After Mr. Huffman bought the saddles he "smelt a mouse" and informed the city of ficers, who watched the wagon while Hensley kept his eye on the thieves, who went to the Rocky Mountain restaurant for supper. Deputy Sheriff Waln accomplished their arrest as the fellows left the restaurant after supper. He escorted them to the county jail, where they are held awaiting instructions from Sheriff Noland, of Lane county, on whose instructions the arrest was made.

The names of the men arrested, who are thought certain to be the right ones, are Charles Henry and F. S. Phillips, and from letters in their pockets it is learned one is from Nebraska and the other from Kansas. They are each aged about 35 years. Sheriff Noiand went to Salem Sunday on the local train and brought them here on the overland. Mr. Stanton, the owner of the team, also went to Salem and identified the horses. Sheriff Noiand says besides the the team, also went to Salem and identified the horses. Sheriff Notand save besides the saddles and the Stanton outfit, they had possession of another back and team which it is thought they have stolen. The men claimed they were hired by a stranger to to drive the outfit to Portland for $10. The grand jury is investigating their cases today.

A Pendleton Romance. A late dispatch from Saratoga announced that Mrs. Henry C. Scotts, of Greenfield, Saratoga county, took a train on the 15th inst., for Pendleton, Or., there to meet her intended husband, a man whom she has never seen, but whom she is nevertheless engaged to marry, and the journey is undertaken for that purpose. Her intended is a prominent man in Pendleton and is reported to be wealthy. Mrs. Scotts is a widow and has two children, both of whom she takes with her to her new whom she takes with her to her new home. As an evidence of good faith, the man whom she is to marry sent her money to pay the expenses of the

Mrs. Scotts, arrived safely in Pendle-ton on Tuesday evening and was mar-ried to her intended, who is none other than G. D. Richardson, the well-known restaurant man. It was like trading knives "unsight and unseen."

Over the Bluff.—While Henry Bolen and wife, of Mohawk, were at Judkins point Monday morning on their way to Eugene the Roseburg local train came along frightening the horses so they became unmanageable and they went over the bluff at a point where it is about fifteen feet high. Mrs. Bolen was rendered unconscious by the fall. She was brought to the residence of Mr. Schumate in this city, and Dr. Shelton called to attend her. It is not thought the injuries will prove serious no bones being broken. Mr. Bolen was not injured. The horses and wagon escaped with little damage. Although a number of people on the train saw the accident, it was not stopped to pick up the injured woman and bring her to town. The place is a dangerous one and several accidents have occurred there before. A strong fence should be built along the line of the bluff.

Ans Massed.—Saturday evening about 6:30 o'clock, a brakeman had his arm mashed while coupling cars at Henderson station, formerly Springfield, on the Southern Pacific railroad. He was brought here at once by the train and taken to the Hoffman House, where the company's surgeon, dressed the wound. He found the inner bone of the left wrist badly crushed, but the doctor is of the opinion that the hand can be saved. The injured man went to Roseburg, where he resides, the same evening on the overland train. A Miller coupling was the cause of the accident.

INDICTED FIVE TIMES. — Saturday the grand jury indicted Fred Reed, the timber land man who has been in jail several months, four times, on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses. Reed is one of the most notorious timber land swindlers on the entire coast. His victims can be found all over Oregon, California and Washington.

At three o'clock the grand jury returned the fifth indictment against Reed for the same offense.

An Arrest.—An old man, quite drunk, was arrested Saturday evening by Policeman Witter, having with him 25 pounds of giant powder. He was landed in jail with due care. Monday morning he put up $10 bail to appear in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, but furfeited it. INDICIPATIONS.—The grand jury Saturday returned two indistments. One against Thos E. Russell, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on Dr. J. C. Gray. He was arraigned this morning and took his day to pirad. R. J. McDonald, for obtaining money under false pretenses, in taking subscription for newspapers without due authority was also indicted.
