The Pendleton East Oregonian says that good wheat land in Umatilla county has advanced largely in value, particularly in the eastern end, where it commands $40 and $45 per acre, several farms being sold at that figure near Athena. An illustration comes from Gerking Flat. Two or three years ago Harvey McDonald bought the Quinn place for $4000. He raised two crops on the land, and made enough to pay for it, getting forty bushels to the acre this season. Tuesday he sold the place to E. H. Sanders for $8,250. H. Sanders for $8,250.

Harvy Walker, the Bonanza stock-man, was killed last Thursday on the steep grade seven miles east of Parker's station on the Ashland-Linkville road. He was returning home from Ashland with his wagon and four mules. They were all broken this summer and two of them were driven for the third time. Recent rains have made the road very slippery and his team ran off with him and threw the wagon off the grade, and he falling under the wagon was instantly killed. Junction Times, November 6: The south bound overland came very near meeting with an accident at this place Thursday evening. A number of empty freight cars were left on the incline switch and a few minutes be-fore the train was due, they started down the grade. Emmet Butler chanced to pass by and boarded the cars, put on the brakes and succeeded in stopping them within a few feet of the open switch. The night watch had previously made his rounds and but for the timely arrival of the party referred to, quite a serious wreck might have followed.

The Journal says that speaking of the Argus newspaper which suspended publication at Oregon City 28 years ago last April, the Oregon City Enterprise says: "It was in the Argus office that feminine help was first utilized in printing on the Pacific was first utilized in printing on the Pacific coast, where now it is so common as to be unnoticed. But few offices in the United States at that time had availed themselves of this kind of assistance, which since proved so useful and efficient. Although young, these girls, Inex and Helen, daughters of Mr. W. L. Adams, became finished compositors, and for years, under their deft fingers, the busy types noisily rattled and mang of mutation." The Jury Disagreed.

Albany Herald, Nov. 8. Alter being out all night the jury in the Ingram murder case yesterday reported that they were unable to agree. Four stood for murder in the first degree, four for murder in the second degree, and four for acquittal. Judge Boise ordered the jury discharged and the case continued until the next term of court. No application was made for ball and the prisoner was remanded to jail. Considerable feeling has been aroused in the neighborhood where the killing was done, where the prevailing sentiment is that he is guilty.

A HOSPITAL NEEDED .- A hospital is need A HOSPITAL NEEDED.—A hospital is need ed in Eugene. Harily a week passes that the doctors of Eugene have not applications for persons desiring of entering such an institution for treatment. A movement should be made to establish a hospital. If one of our religious bodies would agitate the matter we are confident that our citizens would gladly contribute a handsome sum of money to procure its permanent establishment.

FOUR INDICTMENTS.-Mrs. Emm Spaulding, formerly of Eugene, but now of Portland, has been indicted, four times by the United States grand jury for sending obscene letters to Miss Mary Pogue, of Eugene, on February 23d, last, Her trial will come off in Portland about the first of next month,
