Independence West Side: J. W. Laughary last week killed a lot of corn fed hogs which averaged 166 pounds each. They were yearlings. It is not often we see corn fed hogs in Oregon. All farmers can easily raise corn enough to make their pork.

Jacksonville Times: Mrs. G. B. Dorris, of Eugene, who has been here on a two weeks visit to her mother, Mrs. Hoffman, went to Ashland on Saturday in company with her sister, Mrs. D. Linn, of this place, for a few days visit with relatives there.

It is said that the timber on the upper Kalama river is so dense that when the trees are sawed off they just stand on the stumps, not having room to fall. A young Swede by the name of Yon Yonson sawed off rev-en acres of trees on his claim and is now waiting for the wind to blow them over.

Pendleton East Oregonian: Senator Matlock left on Wednesday night's train for Portland where his wife and son, Wesley Matlock, have been sojourning. They will not go to California, unless the trip is deemed necessary for Wesley's health. Mr. Matlock will return soon to look after bushings matters.

A Bilki.—Prineville News: Last Saturday a scoundrel and swindler, who called F. W. Wesley, was arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses. He laid in jail until Tuesday, on which day he was given a hearing before Justice Bell and discharged. The man came to town a day or two before he was arrested and represented that he had been sent here to examine the Ochoco mines. He had a pony, saddle and bridle and some money. He put up at the Prineville house, got acquainted with C. S. Smith, told the story of his mission, got a little "full," played a game or two, got broke and borrowed cash from Mr. Smith, offering to draw a check for that amount. In all he got into Smith about $70. Then he struck genial Bob Harrington and borrowed $25, offering his pony for security. Then when it got dark he spirited the pony out of the stable and left. A warrant was issued for his arrest and Sheriff Booth caught his man in the Upper Ochoco coun ry and returned him to town, and his hearing resulted as above stated. As it is not a crime to borrow money, no case could be made against him, but that he is a great swindler goes without saying. He left on Wednesday for parts unknown.

Election Coutest.

The Junction Times has the following concerning the forthcoming election contest in that city:

It seems that the city election is really to be contested. Attorneys for both sides have been here gathering up facts and while both sides are a little quiet as to what is being done, it seems the matter will get into court. The grounds for the contest will be that the judges of the election refused to receive ballots of those who had failed to pay their tares, the city charter, it is raid, making such provisions, claiming that the said portion of the charter is contrary to the constitution of the state. Attorneys Walton & Skipworth has been retained by the contestants and L. Bilgeu by the defendants. As far as we have been able to learn the legality of the tax declared delinquent by the city council, should be actiled. This is conceded by all those with whom we have talked and a number have stated that their tax money is ready on proof of the legality of the tax. And if it is not legal, it will then be known and all wrongs can be rightened and if legal and just, the tax can these be collected. We regret very much this embroglic but it accems that Junction is not the only place that has a contest on its hands.

A. J. Higgins & Co., of Row River, are running lumber down the river tied up in bunches. This is a new experiment here, and if successful will add very much to the chespness of the transportation of lumber.

On the Row river about two miles east of town, the county road has been entirely washed out, and the owners of the property near the old roadway positively refuse to allow any passage through their possessions, thus causing great inconvenience to those living above, by shutting off travel between the Row river country and town.

A party named Johnston came down from Bohemia the first of the week and reporte very flattering prospects from the "Annie" mine. He says a tunnel was put in through the side of the mountain which tapped the ledge nearly one bundred feet below the the surface, and that they have a well defined ledge with much richer ore than has been milled during the summer. The pay streak in the ledge is about six feet in width. This will yet prove to be the richest mining district in the state.

THE DALLES, Dec. 18.—Word has just reached here from Prineville, of the death of Alexander Finlayson, near that place, Monday last. Mr. Finlayson was one of the oldest and best-known sheep men in Eastern Oregon. He was returning from Prineville, after completing the purchase of a band of sheep, when his horses were frightened and started to run away. Mr. Finlayson was thrown between the wagon bed and hind wheel, so firmly wedging him in that when he was found he was dead and the wheel locked. Mr. Finlayson was of Scotch birth, and fifty years of age.
