THE CRY OF MILLIONS!

OH, MY BACK!

STOP IT NOW!

SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was unable to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when I immediately commenced using DR. MILEY'S KIDNEY PILLS, to my relief. I immediately commenced using the pills. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the pills to all afflicted as I have been.

A company has been organized to build a $10,000 hotel at Springfield.

The Examiner drawing did not material- ize because of the loss of Lane county sub- scribers.

Hon. D. R. N. Blackburn, of Albany, is a candidate for supreme judge before the publican state convention.

In the Maxwell will case Miss Emma Dorris as stenographer has received the compliments of court and attorneys.

The farmers are now busily engaged in plowing and seeding grain. Lane county will have a large acreage of grain next year.

The offices of the Electric Light and Water Company were removed to the cor- ner room, up stairs, in the Christmas block today.

Roseburg Plaindealer: Editors Richmond and Bayard Handy, passed through Rose- burg on their way to Grants Pass, their future scene of labor in the journalistic field, Monday night.

A marriage license was issued by County Clerk Walker last evening to Elmer Ever- ton and Minnie B. Palmer. The young lady's parents consent to the marriage, she being only 17 years of age.

Deputy County Clerk Burr is busily engaged correcting the assessment roll to make it conform to the corrections made by the state board of equaliza- tion, and also correcting the tax.

The Mongolians are at war here and we may expect the highlanders to open up their business in Eugene at any time. Two Chi- namen, Cook Jim and Gambler Charley had a fight last night and were arrested by Police- man Witter.

A newspaper man named Burke was frozen to death in Chicago last Thursday night. He was a brother of the under secre- tary of the state with Lord Con- rad, who was assassinated in Phoenix Park, Dublin, several years ago. "Newspaper men are often frozen out on this coast but, it doesn't kill them."—Astorian.

Corvallis Times: L. L. Hard, formerly of this city but now of Roseburg, is under- going a financial embarrassment. He has made an assignment for the benefit of cred- itors and his interests in the electric plants, both here and in Roseburg, have been transferred to the Thompson-Houston Electric Company, of Portland.

The total amount of Harney county's taxable property is $1,974,690, an in- crease of $194,634 over the amount as returned by the assessor. The total amount of taxable property in that county, as equalized by the state board, is $210,320, 168, or $23,325,891 greater than the amounts returned by the several assessors.

A learned physician has a two-col- umn article in the last Scientific American on influenza. His cure is bicarbonate of soda, 30 grains in a tea- spoon full of milk every three or four hours. This salt has many advan- tages, it is not readily soluble, to make it difficult to break up in the system. It is also readily eliminated, and thus soon leaves the system.

It is said that the meaning of the two syllables wa-la, found in so many Indian names is not known and the syllable is not found in any living Indian language. As it is applied in at least five instances, to streams of water, it is quite probable that it means a river or creek water. Hence we have Willamette, Smoothwater, Pwalla, Sandy or Cold Water; Toothwater (Deschutes), Fallingwater; Unatilla, Treo- less water, Totowalla, Small water; and Wala-Walla, many waters.

Salem Statesman: The county court today made the tax levy for the 1891 taxes. The total levy, including cash and notes, is 19 1/2 mills, as against 17 1/2 last year. The levy is as follows: State, including uni- versity and military, 5 mills; school, 5 mills; county purposes, 7 1/2 mills; road, 2 mills; indigent soldiers, 0.2 mills. The court adopts a new system of paying road tax, it heretofore being payable in cash and levied the same as other taxes. As compared with last year this makes the levy practi- cally but 17 1/2 mills.

Many people throughout the state are still under the impression that all ballots have to be printed on paper fur- nished by the secretary of state through the county clerk, as heretofore. This law was, however, repealed by the Australian ballot law, which provides distinctly the style of ballot to be used, and the paper necessary can be procured anywhere. The official ballots, however, are not to be peddled about the streets as formerly.

Said Mr. Samuel before the Engi- neers' Club, Philadelphia, on the pavement question: The best pavement for city traffic is one with an 18 inch concrete foundation, overlaid with 2 inch planed flooring, thoroughly covered with asphalt or bitumens, and, on top of these, cedar blocks set on end, with half inch joints filled with beach pebbles and asphalt. It gives a sure footing for horses, is comparatively noiseless and easily kept clean, and can be repaired in places without inter- rupting traffic or breaking the rest of the street.

The Boise City Statesman's Custer county correspondent gives an account of a terrible double murder at Challis on the 4th inst. Lewis Kestler told Geo. Jacoby he wanted the money due him for a load of wood. Jacoby said he did not have it and could not then settle the bill. Kestler said he would take it out of his hide. Jacoby then whipped out a revolver, and at the same time Kestler drew a large bowie knife, and catching and holding Jacoby's weapon he cut his adversary's throat. The jugular vein was severed and the blood gushed forth in a perfect torrent. Jacoby staggered under the mortal blow. A moment later he reached for himself and shot three or four times at his murderer. Some of the bullets took effect and at 8:30 Kestler died, Jacoby passing away some hours previously. Both men were quite prominent.

Ashland Tidings: When the heavy snow-fall of holiday times came it caught the Hungry creek miners short of provisions. They had kept a trail open over the mountains to Shattuck's ranch, about ten miles, but the big storms led the snow from three to six feet deep along their trail, and they had a desperate time getting it opened. J. W. Briner, who was in town this week, gave the Tidings an account of it which is calculated to cure any ordinary case of infatuation for the adventure of a trip through the moun- tains in their winter garb. Some of the Chinese miners had butchered twelve head of hogs at Shattuck's, and Briner, Alex. Tyler and about a dozen Chinese had succeeded in getting through from Hungry creek to Shat- tuck's. They each took a pack of meat upon its back and started to re- turn to the mines. Nearly all of them were worn out before getting through, and Alex. Tyler would have laid out in the snow and probably perished had not Briner helped him through. Two of the Chinamen fell by the way, and their wouldn't or couldn't go back for enough to help them through. Mr. Briner found one of them after he had been out in the snow two days and three nights and carried him to a cabin near the trail. The poor fellow was crazed by exposure and had taken off and thrown away nearly all of his clothing when he was found. He was made as comfortable as possible, but died the next day. The other Chinaman wasn't found, and will not be till the snow melts.

$25,000,000 is the sum that has been expended out of the U. S. treasury during the past year.

The "fierce light beats on the throne" but it does not seem to deter the occupants from committing errors to which ordinary mortals are subject.

Portland's action on the state assessment as equalized by the state board will not be to her benefit in the future. The fraud practiced by her on the rest of the state will be remembered with a vengeance.

Attorney-General Chamberlain and Robert Clow, for the railroad commission, and Referee Holmes and Stenographer Williams, togeth- er with the Union Pacific attorneys are at Omaha, to conclude taking testimony in the rate cases.

The paid attorneys of Portland have rendered elaborate opinions adverse to the work of the state equalization board. The next legis- lature of the state meets in January and may be depended upon to equalize the question of taxation.

The mining interests of Lane county will not be allowed to languish during the coming season. The Blue river and Bohemia min- ing districts will be developed, and will undoubtedly prove profitable investments. These mines need roads by which to obtain supplies.

The next republican national convention will consist of 898 dele- gates, of which 450 will be required to nominate. Oregon will be en- titled to eight delegates. The democratic committee will probably, as usual, decide upon the same num- ber, being two for each senator and representative in congress. If Alas- ka sends and is permitted to seat two delegates the number will be an even 900.—Telegram.

The Oregonian in a burst of gener- osity suggests Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal as fit candidate for the democratic nomi- nation for the presidency. Mr. Watterson is one of those men from the Southern boundary who has contributed to a great extent to keep the democracy in the rear by expressing his autocratic domineer- ing views too freely. The conven- tion may be depended upon to settle the question satisfactorily.

Chief Justice Fuller is said to contemplate the punishment for contempt of the three newspaper correspondents who surreptitiously obtained and published in advance the findings of the supreme court in the Boyd-Thayer contested elec- tion. The court would do better to find the leak through which the information escaped and effectually plug it up. Correspondents merely fulfill their mission when they col- lar the news wherever they can find it.

Here is the way, the Indepen- dence West Side takes off that famous aftermath of the banquet: About the only consolation that we can draw from the meeting of the Oregon democrats in Portland is that they have no "boss" politician or "boss" newspaper in the state. Every fellow was trying to run his own boat. We neither indorse the obstreperousness of that meeting nor that $5-a-plate champagne ban- quet. A four-bit plate of good grub is about all an ordinary dem- ocrat of the Jeffersonian-simplicity type can pay for.

Multnomah county has never paid her just proportion of state taxes. In the single item of mort- gage taxation she has defrauded the state of over a hundred thou- sand dollars, assessing her mort- gages in plain violation of the law at but 50 per cent. of value. It is no argument in her favor that she pays a large proportion of the state taxes. The property is there and should be assessed equally in prop- ortion with other communities. The 20 per cent. system of assess- ment in Multnomah is an outrage on every other county in the state.

The sudden filling of the state reform school makes the words from the Iowa governor's message very suggestive: I have found as a rule upon inquiry of parents who have caused their children to be so confined on the charge that the child's real offense consisted in his playing truant when sent to school, or that he would run away from home and mingle, as they express it with "bad boys" or "bad girls." They seem to have labored under the delusion that if sent to one of these places their associates would be "good boys" or "good girls," while the truth is there is not a place in all the state outside of these schools where any boy or girl could find one-tenth as many vic- ious children assembled together. All familiar with the management of these institutions will readily concede the devotion of officers and teachers to the work assigned them, and yet in spite of everything pos- sible to be done these places are prisons instead of schools, from which nearly every inmate years to be released with all the intensity of childish desire. I would change the law so that no child could be sent to one of these institutions un- til he had violated a penal statute of the state. I would make it the duty of the court by which he was sentenced to distinctly state in its judgment the precise offense of which he is guilty.

The papers of Portland easily find an excuse for dull times on the Sound. They think there has been a boom over there.

Although Horace Greeley died nineteen years ago letters to his address are still received now and then at the New York Tribune office.

The Portland Telegram is badly informed when it says that stock in the Willamette valley is in bad condition. Good beef is brought from the range every day.

The estate of the late Samuel J. Tilden will pay a tax of $300,000 under the inheritance tax laws, showing the possibility of revenue in those measures, and New York state, too, is almost out of debt.

The gripman of a St. Paul cable car was frozen to death the other day while at his post of duty. Minneapolis says almost every- thing means that can be thought of, of her sister city, but certainly is not responsible for the statement.

The U. S. government protege at Santiago has caused considerable trouble and excitement. His recall at the downfall of Balmeada would have been a wise act. However all the proceedings go to show that his superiors at Washington are direct- ly responsible for his course of ac- tion. He is a puppet moved by wires from the capitol.

General Benjamin F. Butler has always had an eye out for the main chance. He is reported to be worth several million dollars. Besides possessing an abundance of real estate in Boston, Washington City and Chicago, he owns the big Craig ranch near Pueblo, Colo., the largest ranch in the state, has 150,000 acres of coal and mineral lands in Virginia and controls part of the Mora grant of 600,000 acres in New Mexico.

Roseburg Review: The people of Grants Pass will wish they had never got acquainted with Rich- mond & Handy before these news- paper tramps move on to the next town. They have behind them a long string of unpaid bills which are augmented in each successive community where they reside. They lack both principle and ability and attempt to make a super- abundance of "cheek" answer both these defects. Our only desire in writing this is to give the people of Grants Pass fair warning, which they will find from experience is true.

East Oregonian: The Salem Statesman actually believes that the protective tariff raises wages. It is funny that wages in Oregon are higher than they are in New York where both states enjoy the same protection. Wages depend on the ease with which laborers have access to productive land. In Oregon access to land is easier than in New York, hence wages are higher. In America access to produc- tive land is easier than in Europe, hence wages are higher on this side of the water. Protection has nothing to do with it. That delusion was exploded years ago, but a Salem newspaper, of course, has not yet learned of it.

The supreme court of the United States has rendered a decision in the case of Charles Counselman, who was committed for contempt by Judge Gresham because he re- fused to answer the question put to him in a prosecution under the in- terstate commerce act as to whether he had received a rebate from a railroad company. The supreme court decides that Judge Gresham was in error, and that Counselman cannot be compelled to answer a question which would criminate him. It is believed by railroad men that, owing to the great diffi- culty of procuring convictions in the interstate commerce cases with- out the testimony of the parties themselves, this decision practically renders it impossible to convict general officers or shippers. There have only been two or three convic- tions since the act was passed, and it is said that even these would have been impossible under the decision just rendered.

The following letter shows that its author is a man of sense, a man who has the courage of his convictions. It is just what every man in the country should do who finds himself out of harmony with his party on this question. Every pro- tectionist in the democratic party should vote with the republicans on the tariff question and every tariff reform republican should vote with the democrats:

RITZVILLE, Wash., Jan. 2, '92:

Mr. R. J. Neergaard, Secretary Adams County Republican Com- mittee, Ritzville, Wash.—Dear Sir: I hereby tender, through you, to the republicans of Adams county, my resignation as chairman of the republican county committee, to take effect at once. My reasons for this course are that on national matters I am no longer in accord with the republican party on the tariff question, which seems now to be one upon which the party has concluded to stake its existence. And on state matters its record in the constitutional convention and first and second legislatures is such that I cannot approve by further indorsement.

Respectfully Yours,
D. BUCHANAN.
