THE CRY OF MILLIONS!

OH, MY BACK! STOP IT NOW. SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have not found relief. About the first of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost paralyzed me. When I read of the Golden Female Pills, I immediately commenced using them. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I was able to state that I was a new man. I will recommend the pills to all afflicted as I have been.

G. A. TUPPER, Proprietor Occidental Hotel, Santa Rosa, Cal.

OCCASIONAL.

A ROMANCE.—The Walla Walla Statesman tells the following: Fourteen years ago Robert Connell left Scotland to make his fortune in the great West. As he stepped aboard his ship he left his affianced, Janette, to wait for his return to claim her. The years went by and the fortune, for which Robert strove in the United States, was as far away as at the beginning of their separation. Within the past few years, Robert's worldly prospects improved so greatly that he wrote for the patient girl back in Scotland "where the bright waters meet," and she consented to come to these strange shores to wed her long absent cavalier. She shipped for Australia where she visited friends, then touched at Samoa Hawaii, and this morning met Mr. Connell in St. Paul's church in this city where the recter, the Rev. V. Marshall Law, made them "man and wife" at 7:30 a. m. The couple looked very happy as they wandered about the city in the fresh morning air, waiting for train time.

IN THE SOUTH.—The following from the Oregon City Courier is a good illustration of the average law suit: Papers were served on Tuesday by the sheriff on Mr. Sussauer of Gandy for a new rehearing in the suit against him. A dismissal took place in this case at beginning of this term of court on account of absence and negligence of Mr. Williams, the Portland attorney employed by the prosecution. Mr. Sussauer, has already expended nearly $400 in lawing and Mr. Mathew is not in the least tired out. In fact, he can stand it as long as Sussauer's purse. The latter, desirous of having partnership in trouble, has filed complaint against Doc Knight for selling liquor, whereas old man Mathews smiles at the whole affair.

SATURDAY, APRIL 23.

The circus showed yesterday afternoon Cottage Grove to a small audience.

Dell Johnson, of Portland, a competent druggist, has accepted a position in T. J. Craig's drug store.

Mr. A. Traxler has traded his town property on Willamette and 15th streets for Mr. Scribner for 100 acres of farm land six miles west of Eugene.

Sell's circus will sail from Australia for San Francisco, May 10th, expecting to arrive in that city about June 15th. They expect to play in this valley in July.

Hon. Geo. E. Chamberlain, of Albany, Attorney General of the State of Oregon, spent last night in Eugene. He is a first-class lawyer, a gentleman in every particular and should be re-elected to that important office.

Springfield Messenger: It is generally conceded by good men in both parties that P. J. McPherson, democratic candidate for county assessor, will be re-elected. A man who has given such general satisfaction, deserves a second term.

Hon. E. P. Coleman was in town today. His health is improving so that it is probable he can take part in the canvass. He informs us that the candidates of the four parties have been invited to meet in Eugene next Saturday to arrange the programme of the county canvass.

Five Salem hoodlums went to the home of Aunt Rachel Brooks, a colored woman living just below Salem, and confiscated some of her yellow-legged chickens. Being tracked down, one of them turned state's evidence. Result, two of them were awarded sixty days in the county jail, and the other two ordered to leave the county.

Clay Humphrey has a reputation, away from home, of killing game for the market. He took a couple of days' outing at Hen Owens' ranch this week and on returning found an order from Portland for four dozen jack snipes. The party, with the aid of a small boy whom they employed, got enough birds to keep them from going hungry.

Portland Welcome: The arrival of fourteen car loads of rolled oats in this city from Iowa is a sad commentary on the energy and enterprise of Oregon farmers. Oats to Oregon would be a good deal like carrying coal to New-castle if our agriculturists in the state would get a move on themselves. Albany Democrat: Don't lay everything to the farmers. There are plenty of oats for the manufacture of rolled oats; but we have no factory. Pitch into the capitalists.

The following is from Meeker's hop circular: We have tested the different formulas for destroying hop lice, and find that the most effective combination is that used by the English hop growers, viz: Quassia chips and whale oil soap, follows: 7 to 9 pounds quassia chips to 6 to 8 pounds whale oil soap, 100 gallons of water; steep the quassia chips in a few gallons of cold water about one hour, then boil five minutes and add the soap. It will take for thorough work, 45 to 65 pounds of whale oil soap and 100 to 150 pounds of quassia chips to the acre.

The Astoria Town Talk says: Geo. Noland, of this city, has been nominated Presidential elector on the democratic ticket. The democrats are well pleased, and will sustain him to man. He is a popular, painstaking young lawyer, without a blemish on his party record. He is connected with no ring in dirty politics, nor has he ever been. In the last citizens movement in this city he took an earnest and active hand, refusing office, and keeping out all persons who were known to be bitter partisans. Mr. Noland is a conscientious and able man. He is well appreciated and respected. It is safe to say that he will give the republican candidate a hard rub in his own country.

The people of the state are interested in the selection of the president-elect of the state agricultural college, Prof. J. M. Bloss, of Topeka, Kansas. He succeeds the late highly esteemed President Arnold. Dr. Bloss is an American born educator of a good record and came highly recommended by the best authorities. Since 1869 he has been continually employed in school or college work, most of the time as superintendent of city schools. He was state superintendent of public instruction in Indiana in 1880, and has been for the past five years in charge of the city schools of Topeka, having 120 teachers under him.

Yaquina Jetty Notes.

Newport Republican: About one hundred and eighty feet of tramway has already been constructed since pile driving commenced and the work is going on steadily and rapidly as possible. Considerable time has been lost by the boys working at the handling of the rock and they are beginning to complain. The gang on the pile driver struck for higher wages Tuesday. It seems they want $3 a day and were receiving but $2.25. The piles cannot be driven at all as the rock is so hard, but they are put in position, braced and tied thoroughly and then rock is at once put in about their feet and thus holds them securely in their position. The work is therefore just as substantial but not so much can be accomplished. There is a reef to be crossed about a hundred feet from their present position and when that point is reached it is expected the rock will be found of a softer nature and that the piles can be driven six or eight feet. It is to be devoutly wished, for the work will proceed much more rapidly if this proves to be correct.

On Boston Authority.

Two young ladies got into an electric car yesterday afternoon. One was pretty; the other wasn't. All the seats were taken. Two young men were sitting together. They spoke German. Said one to the other in (German):

The other replied (also in German): "I am going to give my seat to the pretty girl."

"Well, I suppose I must give mine to the ugly one, then."

Both young ladies accepted the kindness, and thanked the kind young men—in German.—Boston Herald.

Violent Wind and High Storm.

Oregon City, April 24.—A violent wind and rain storm has raged here all day, tearing down signs and awnings. The roof is reported blown off the boiler house at the Crown paper mill and a building one mile east of town was damaged. In places, large trees have fallen and obstructed the road. Two large cottonwoods blew down on Fifth street, just off Main, one lodging against a tree, which kept it off Trembath's saloon.

Carried Over the Edge.

SEASIDE, Wash., April 24.—The six-year-old son of W. Day, while walking along the river bank near the Centennial mill, at 9 o'clock this evening, slipped and fell into the river. The stream was very swift at that point and it is supposed the body was carried over the falls.

Judge Bennett.

The Dalles Chronicle, an independent paper, with republican earmarks, makes the following deserved notice of Judge A. S. Bennett: "The nomination of Hon. A. S. Bennett to the supreme judgeship, by the democratic state convention yesterday, reflects the highest credit on a party, that like its great rival, too often allows other considerations than merit and capacity to direct its nominations for public offices. Judge Bennett is a self-made man. The high place he now occupies as a lawyer and a man, he has won for himself by the assiduous cultivation of a naturally high order of mental endowment and by unbending devotion to right principles. No one who knows Judge Bennett will question his sterling integrity or eminent ability. Should he gain the distinction of being elected in a state so overwhelmingly republican, the interests of the people will be as safe in his hands as in those of any other within the confines of the nation. More than this we can not say for anyone and less than this is undeserved from one who has known the judge from boyhood."

The Portland Telegram makes the following comparisons between the nominees for supreme judge: Between Alfred S. Bennett and Frank A. Moore, in point of legal ability and capacity for this position, no comparison can be drawn. Or if we made it and only stated the truth it would be fairly startling. Moore is a justice of the peace lawyer, with no practice before the supreme court; a local politician, living all his life in a little town where no law is known or heard. Bennett is a hard worker, a man who in the last few years has had charge of and tried more important cases in the circuit and supreme courts than any other man east of the mountains. He is a self-made man. Nobody ever helped him. While digging out his legal education he taught school, sometimes scarcely knowing where he was going to get the next pair of shoes or the next meal. But he won, as such men always do, because they deserve to. Today, in the brief space of ten years, he is the foremost lawyer of eastern Oregon. He has the largest and best library of any lawyer outside of Portland, and what is more, he uses it. He did not get it for an ornament for his office. Besides that, and more than all this, he is a true, faithful man. He never cheated or wronged or took advantage of a client or any man.

In Wyoming, as in other regions where there are great open pastures and big cattle ranches, there is an irrepressible conflict between the owners and employees of the big ranches on the one hand, and the small ranchers and settlers on the other. This conflict in Wyoming has reached a general appeal to arms, and the dispatches are telling how the "stockmen"—that is the big ranchers—undertook to drive out or kill off the "rustlers" or small ranchers and rovers who are disputing the ranges with the "stockmen." Two "rustlers" were killed, and a sheriff with a big posse (composed principally of rustlers) undertook to arrest the men who did the killing. The latter appealed to the military authorities and a force of soldiers was sent from Fort Wyoming to protect them from the dreaded fury of the "rustlers." The "stockmen" claim that the "rustlers" are cattle thieves and live by preying upon the large herds. There may be thieves among them, but on the Pacific coast ranges there has been much stealing of mavericks for and by the big ranchmen as there have been from them. It may be much the same in Wyoming.

This city being interested in paying the following remarks will be read with interest. They were made by a person in the East who has had some experience in the matter. He writes: "Asphalt paving is a failure for the following reasons. The company will keep it in repair for five years. After that time it will require constant care. It wears in holes and the material is a patent and has to be made by an expert and no one except the company has a right to make and put it on, so they charge all they want and the people can't help themselves. It is a very dangerous street when it is wet or frosty. If the company should remove their factory from your town I don't see where you would go for repairs or what it would cost you. We think vitrified brick makes better paving than any other material."

How can any man raising a surplus for export and exchange, before realizing on the product of his labor, be benefited by a tax on his exchange? When a farmer exchanges 10,000 bushels of wheat, for which there is no market in this country, for 10,000 pounds of French silk, for which there is a market, where does the benefit to him of the 50 per cent. tax on the silk come in? The benefit to the Paterson weaver is apparent, but why should the farmer want the tax imposed?

An abundant fruit crop is promised. There have been frosts this spring but so light as to inflict no damage.

The railroad subscription list is moving steadily ahead.

It is estimated that at the next presidential election there will be more than 11,500,000 men who will have the right to vote.

Lane county has been honored in the matter of the selection of district nominees by both the republican and democratic conventions.

Mr. Pullman allows his daughter, Miss Julia, the handsome sum of $1000 per year for selecting names for his palace cars and sleepers.

A great deal of satisfaction is expressed at the better prospects of the Siuslaw railroad. The feeling of the community is unanimous in its favor.

The capitalists and heavy real estate owners of Eugene must remember that the subsidy to the railroad must have their support to make it a success.

D. R. Murphy, chairman, and C. N. Wait, secretary, of the state democratic central committee fitly represent the young democracy. They bring to the work an enthusiasm that is founded on their belief in the justice of the principles which they advocate.

All the objections to the subsidy asked by the Siuslaw & Eastern have been set aside by the offer of the company to complete the road before payment is asked. There should now be but one voice among our citizens. The amount asked should be subscribed in short order.

The proposed Grant monument in New York will be an edifice a hundred feet square surmounted by a pyramid, the whole to have a height of about 200 feet over all. The interior will be a hall capable of seating 1000 people. It will be a very imposing structure, and will cost $200,000.

The Siuslaw railroad will benefit every producer, consumer, real estate owner and business man who is within reach of the road. Lower rates and direct transportation to the seaboard will be secured. Low freight rates will bring manufacturing establishments and increased population. The faith of our own people will be firmer in the future of the town, while it will recommend itself as a desirable location to newcomers.

The proposition now made by the Siuslaw & Eastern Railway and Navigation Co. should meet with a hearty response from the people of this town and Lane county. The money asked will not be required until the completion of the road, and by that time every subscriber will have more than realized the amount of his subscription in increased values of land and general business prosperity.

The selection of Geo. A. Dorris for the nominee for prosecuting attorney of this district is an excellent one. Mr. Dorris has made a good record as a criminal lawyer, is a hard worker in his chosen profession, and could be depended upon to convict criminals at the least possible cost to the state. We believe that if he is elected no indictments will be found without good cause, and then few guilty men will escape.

A clean and competent judiciary is one of the best safeguards of the state. In selecting a man for the high position of supreme judge the capacity of the man should be inquired into. No voter who is informed on the merits of the candidates will support a village politician in preference to a man whose faithfulness to the interests of the people has earned him the ill will and hostility of railroad corporations.

Albany Democrat: R. M. Veatch, the democratic candidate for congress in this the first congressional district, is a man of splendid natural ability and strong personal integrity, ardent devotion to the interests of the masses rather than the classes. He was educated at the agricultural college of this state, has served one term in the lower house of the legislature and is now one of the state senators of Lane county, elected by a large majority in a county that has 250 republican majority. Every farmer and laboring man in the district should vote for him.

Salem Journal: The rapid growth of the population of the state and constantly increasing stream of immigration from the Eastern states and Canada renders the condition of nearly all Oregon state institutions quite overcrowded. The state prison has now 400 convicts and at present ratio of increase the next legislature will have to provide for from 600 to 700 before the next biennial period expires. An additional wing of at least one-half the present size of the prison will have to be built, and a hospital has almost become a criminal necessity. At the asylum for the insane the conditions are much worse, as it is doubtful if the wards of Blackwell's Island are any more crowded than they are at the institution at Salem. The asylum here is well equipped with lands and the cottages on the farms accommodate some to afford relief. But in winter and bad weather the state of affairs at the asylum will be a terrible. With the present rate of increase from 609 two years ago to 742 yesterday there will be needed almost another new asylum before the end of the next biennial term.

The state prison has now 400 convicts and at present ratio of increase the next legislature will have to provide for from 600 to 700 before the next biennial period expires. An additional wing of at least one-half the present size of the prison will have to be built, and a hospital has almost become a criminal necessity. At the asylum for the insane the conditions are much worse, as it is doubtful if the wards of Blackwell's Island are any more crowded than they are at the institution at Salem. The asylum here is well equipped with lands and the cottages on the farms accommodate some to afford relief. But in winter and bad weather the state of affairs at the asylum will be a terrible. With the present rate of increase from 609 two years ago to 742 yesterday there will be needed almost another new asylum before the end of the next biennial term.
