

CITY AND COUNTY.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11, 1892.

GLOOMY PROSPECTS.

Pessimistic Views of a Close Observer.

EGUENE, OR., June 7, 1892. EDITOR GUARD—What is to become of Eugene? I understand that the Crouch Dynamo Manufacturing Co. are about to move their establishment to Portland, on account of the expensive freights accruing from the shipments of metals in here, and out again in the manufactured article. A competing line of railroad would lessen this freight tariff nearly 40 per cent. This seems to me to be the only reason under the sun that new manufacturers will not locate here, because our shipping facilities are so limited that if an article could be manufactured here, the excessive rates of transportation to market would more than eat up the profits. We can never hope for manufacturers to permanently locate here until transportation facilities are advantageous.

The same cause places the farmer at a disadvantage, not only in the shipment of his products, but in keeping the price of his products lower, for manufacturers bring to market the larger and the larger the profit of a city the better the profit on the products of the adjacent farms for the greater the home consumption. Without manufacturing or something more than we now have, how can we sustain the present population; and besides we notice every now and then an item in our papers about extra work the Southern Pacific is putting on the Woodruff-Springfield branch and the Woodruff-Intimated that as soon as the Y is put in across the river at Springfield, that branch will be used as the main line. Even now they have cut off several employees between Eugene and Woodburn on the main line. Is Eugene to be left in the cold in a few months? Are the men who hold ten per cent. mortgages on most of the adjacent farms to be out of their pockets in a few years?

A CLOSE OBSERVER.

Goshen Items.

June 8, 1892. Mrs. Horace Hampton is quite sick. Miss Ethel Brewer is stopping in Eugene. Noland went ahead of his ticket in this precinct. Mrs. Eby and parents visited Harrisburg first of the week. Many attended the picnic at Pleasant Hill Saturday and had a pleasant time. There were 62 votes cast in this precinct with thirteen electors absent from the polls.

Over one-sixth the electors of this precinct failed to vote. Some were at the polls and would not. A. J. Keeney is in attendance at a protracted pioneer picnic in the vicinity of Halsey, Linn county, this week. B. F. Keeney and W. L. Wheeler, republicans, were elected justice and constable of this precinct with a small majority over Jesse Cox and C. H. Matthews, democratic candidates. Mrs. Belle Dodson and children and sister, Zetta Gray, started for their home at Baker City, Oregon, Monday accompanied by Mrs. Frank Hampton.

Hampton Bros. started with about 60 head of their cattle across the mountains yesterday. A. M. Osburn also started with his cattle to his summer range at the same time. In many of the ballots cast here it was impossible to determine the elector choice for some of the offices. This was especially the case in respect to the representatives, where in many cases four were voted for.

When the young gentleman and his lady, of Dexter, attempted to keep ahead of our young mail carrier near here Saturday, they found that "Wis" is almost too familiar with the ribbons for them.

Florence Notes.

The West, June 3. Free steamboat transportation election day. Tug Lillian has been repainted and is looking very slick. School has been suspended in the Florence district until September 1st. This long vacation is because of Prof. Martin's illness.

Wid McGee returned from Eugene last night bringing his family with him. They went out to Hegets Head this morning where they will remain several months. A sawlog seven feet six inches in diameter was recently sawed at the Cushman mills. It was the largest log ever taken in at the mill, and as logs of this size had not been figured on a portion of one end of the log was knocked out when the log was hauled in.

M. E. Saubert had the misfortune this week to smash up his saw mill engine in a horrible shape. Some bolt or something came loose in the cylinder and the whole business went to pieces. Mr. Saubert is undecided as to whether he will repair the old engine or buy a new one.

The site chosen by the Odd Fellows for their cemetery is situated on the south side about three-quarters of a mile back from the river on Mr. Colter's homestead. Mr. Colter has given the lodge five acres of land for this purpose and agrees to sell any greater amount they may desire at any future time. The ground will at once be surveyed, platted and put in shape.
