A Walterville Letter.

EDITOR GUARD: As I have been so journing among the people of the Me-Kenzie around Walterville, I thought to send you a few little items from here hat the outside world may know that this part of the moral vineyard is in a ood state of culture, and although not s prosperous, perhaps, as many more favored localities, yet shows much en-terprise and a great deal of courage. Though hard featured in some respects such as being heavily timbered in many places, and in others covered brush and scrub timber, and ing so located, too, that one must either ferry the river or scramble over rough, stony hills for many miles to a bridge across it so as to reach the railway or the county seat, yet we find many many many men. All of which goes to prosperous men. w that there is a good foundation here to work on, which means of course, a rich soil.

Hops form a considerable portion of the farming industry here and are reported to me as in good condition; and while not so many acres are under culwhile not so many acres are under cul-tivation as in other years, yet the crop will doubtless yield a large income. Hay has done well, and by the rains which have fallen so copiously within the last ten days grain will yield a fine return. I see fine wheat and oats, some barley, and splendid corn. The ist mentioned crop is looking especially well on Robt. Millican's farm. Another crop of much value and imortance to the people here is sawlogs, which are sent by water to Corvallis, Harrisburg and Coburg, and in return they receive many thousands of dollars yearly, and as all those living here are loyed in some way in the work, either as laborers in the woods, teamsters on the roads, or raising crops to feed men and teams, a large amount is thus kept here. Numerous fine schoolhouses (used also for church purposes) attest the en-terprise as well as prosperity of the various districts.

Mr. James Kennerly has lately set up a portable sawmill on Frank Post's e, where he is doing a fine a business in a small way, having all the orders he can attend to, both for rough and dressed lumber.

Adam Ritchie has lately finished a large feed barn and stable and will erect a large store building soon. These of course cannot be claimed by any place but Leaburg. But as the places are only a few miles apart and the peoform one community, I mention them all together.

Mr. Kennerly intends to build a new house and barn soon on his place in the last named village.

On Sunday, the 17th inst., Rev. Sweeney preached to a large concourse at Camp creek in the forenoon, administering the rite of baptism to several persons, after which the people re-paired to the Walterville school house where he delivered a good sermon to an overflowing house, seats and aisles falling to furnish room for all present. Fine music was rendered by the choir among whom I specially noted Mr. Ellis Chapman, of Cedar Flat, with his viol, who seems as capable of making music with that as with his saws. There were other fine performers as well, but I don't know the names, so make no further special mention.

of the young folks to learn the science and art of vocal music, it would appear as though a singing teacher would well to come here for three or six months. Instrumental music teachers are numerous nowadays, but vocal teachers are seldom met with. E. J. CRAWFORD.

Portland paper: A sister of D. J. Moore, residing in Victoria, writes him that the attuation of the small pox epidemic in that city is not half stated by the authorities e there are only 25 cases of smallpox in the posthouse, she says there are at least 100 cases in the city. The posthouse is located almost in the heart of the city, and have the people living in the vicinity moved to other sections of the town or out into the country. She also charges the au thorities with negligence and carelessness in the removal of patients, who are taken through the streets in broad daylight.

No DOME THIS YEAR,-Salem Statesman: It looks very much as if Oregon's state house would not be ornamented by a dome this year. Work was to have commenced on July 1 and now the month is near-ly gone and nothing has been done, while all the hands have been withdrawn. The Portland Bridge Co.contractors—placed their order for the steel with Carnegie and the recent great riot and strike at Homestead have so delayed that the material has not yet been shipped and cannot now reach here in less than sixty days. This would bring it so near into the rainy season that it would be poor judgment to leave the capitol without a roof at that time, and then it would make of the state house an iron foundry during the session of the legisla ture in January. It is likely the board of capitol building commissioners will not let the work proceed until next

SUDDEN DEATH.

Francis B. Dunn Dies this Morning Unsuccessful Attempts to Pass Bogus from Heart Disease.

Daily Guard, July 20

F. B. Dunn is dead! Such were the words that startled our citizens this morning about 8 o'eloek.

It appears that Mr. Dunn arose this morning in his usual health and partook of a good breakfast. After his meal he took his cow to a pasture near at hand. A little after 8 o'clock he returned to his residence, and speaking to his wife said, "That cow has jerked me terribly and I am afraid I am hurt," at the time having his hands on his breast. He walked up the steps to the porch and just as he entered the house he threw up his hands and ex-claimed "My God!" falling to the floor dead. Doctors were immediately summened, but life had passed away before their arrival. We learn that Mr Dunn had been complaining of heart troubles a short time since, but noth-ing serious was anticipated. A rupture of some of the organs of the heart caused his death. Francis B. Dunn was born in Athens, Illinois, Dec. 24, 1833, In the year 1853 he drove an ox team across the plains, arriving in Albany, Linn county, Oregon, without a dollar, in August of that year. He began to face the world by clerking, exchanging in the following year, for a like position with J. L. Brumley, in Eugene, then a town with but few houses. By strict economy he was enabled in the following year to start a business of his own on a small scale at Springfield, removing to Eugene in 1864. By industry and close attention to the sphere of life he had chosen, he had built—up one of the most extensive mercantile houses in the valley. At the time of his death ne was the owner of over 4,000 acres of land. He was married to his wife, Miss Ann C. Christian, who survives him, Dec. 27, 1855 in Eugene, Oregon. He leaves seven children, Mrs. Chas. Williams, Mrs. Geo. A. Dorris, Mrs. G.

The deceased held many positions of trust during his lifetime. He was one of the first trustees of Eugene, being appointed under the charter, and after that he was elected a number of times to that position; he served two terms as

O. Yoran, Edna and Amy Dunn and Frank and Fred Dunn, all residents of mayor.

He was a prominent Mason, belonging to the Knights Templar, and had been Master of Eugene Lodge, No. 11, A F & A M several times. He had also occupied many prom-inent positions in the grand lodge of that order. He was a member of Eugene lodge Ancient Order United Mr. Dunn was a man that in all the relations of public and private life gained the esteem and confidence of his fellow workers. A long and event-ful business career, with all its trials and difficulties, left no stain on his rec-ord for unswerving integrity. He ord for unswerving integrity. He helped build up the city of Eugene, in which nearly all his years of manhood were spent, aiding liberally every pub-lic enterprise. He was not unmindful of the obligations charity imposes upon the more fortunate citizens and contributed freely to that object. His death will be heard of with regret by a large circle of acquaintances all over the state, and is sincerely mourned by the people of Eugene.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on Oak street near Eleventh, Friday afternoon, July 22, 1892, at 2:30 o'clock, to the Masonic cemetery under the auspices of Eugene Lodge, No. 11, A. F. & A. M., the Knights Templar acting as an escort.

OREGON SCHOOL CHILDREN.-The state land board will meet in a few days to make the apportionment interest on the state irreducible school funds for distribution among school districts of this state. The capita last year was $1.45, but as no estimates have been made on the amount of school funds on hands in the state treasurer's office it cannot be conjectured what the per capita will be un-til the board meets. Last year the total number of school children in the state was 105,622, as against 111,770 this year, which is an increase of 6148.

CONFIDENCE MEN ARRESTED.

Daily Guard, July 20.

On last Thursday, July 14, two men arrived in this city having come from up the McKenzie river, where their series of The first they came to notice was at B. F. Finn's place near Leaburg and it is supposed they came through that way from Eastern Oregon, At Mr. Finn's they bought a cow for $50 and in remuneration gave him a check for $60 on the Portland Savings Bank They received as change a check from Mr. Finn for $10 on the Eugene Na-tional Bank of this city. They left the cow with Mr. Finn, where it remains.

The next place they attracted notice was at Walterville, where they purchased some goods of C. H. Baker offering him in paynent a check on the same Portland for $114. As the purchase was rather a small one for this amount, Mr. Baker refused to pay them the balance in cash. They made such a poor mouth, however, that the genial merchant gave them $15 in money keeping the check as security un-could send to Portland and get it Arriving in this city the next day they presented the check given them by Finn at the bank specified, having previously dotored it to make it read $210. The bank re-fused payment as Finn did not have that amount on deposit at the time. They then went to the First National Bank and made another effort to get the check cashed, again meeting with a refusal. Then they tried to buy goods at several stores with a check for $54.50 in order to get the balance in cash but were refused. This check was on the same Portland Bank as the others, and when they went to Starr & Griffin and bought about $25 worth of hardware they were given the balance in cash. They took some of the goods with them and were to call for the balance on the next morning. Mr. Baker was in the city the

The Confidence Men.

Daily Guard, July 21. Deputy Sheriff Day returned with the confidence men, G. B. Brown, and Chas. McIntosh, on last night's train, and lodged them in the old jail cells. They were arrested about three miles south of Corvallis. The pistol miles south of Corvallis. The pistol and knife, purchased of Starr & Griffin were found on their persons, and Brown had $15.10 in money and McIntosh $35. They also had a good supply of bank checks. They were identified by Walter and Drew Griffin, Charles Littlefield and Lee Teutsch and others as being the right men. In fact Brown ordered the sheriff to turn over the $15 taken from him to Walter Griffin, saying he had spent the bal-ance, thereby admitting his identity. They were arraigned before Justice

Kinsey on the charge of forgery, in raising the Finn check from $10 to $210, this morning and plead not guilty. Brown claimed that his name was ty. Brown claimed that his tash J. R. Chambers and McIntosh that his name was James Smith. The examination was then set for Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, providing that the witnesses can be procured by that time. E. O.
