QUASSIA AND SOAP .- Writing to Wm. Brown on the subject of washes for the destruction of the hop louse, Prof. F. L. Washburne, of the state agricultural college, says: "I see no reason why quassia and soap should not be used right through the season being core and to make the season being core and the season being core an sleep natural. Castoria contains no and soap should not be used right through the season, taking care not to use an un-necessary amount of soap. (The idea of the soap is to cause it to spread and hit every lonse) This has been used and is recommended, as I understand it, when hops are in bur. I should not recommend using kerosene emulsion on hops while they are in bloom or bur. The same applies to any wash containg tobacco."

SHERIFF WILL NOT SELL .- A compromise has been entered into between the creditors of the defunct grocery firm of Handsaker & Clow, of Junction, and the stock will not be sold by the sheriff. The Junction creditors retain the goods, paying the sum of $200 and turning the books over to the Portland creditors. The Salem Journal of Thursday has the following concerning the death of Mrs. H. S. Simon on, aged 36 years.

Deceased was a native of Wurtemburg, Germany, having lived in America since her youth. She was married to Harry S. Simon six years ago, and has been a resi-dent of Salem about four years. After an illness of about one week, Mrs. Simon passed away at 5:30 o'clock this morning after suffering severely. She has two sisters and one brother living on this coast, Mrs. L. Hirsch of this city; Mrs. S. H. Friendly of Eugene, and Mr. Adler of Baker City The deceased wilt be buried at Portland to morrow, in the Jewish cemetery, the family accompanying the body down on the morning local train. Mrs. Simon had a circle of warm friends Mrs. Simon had a circle of warm friends in Salem. She was finely educated in her native language, and aside from being an exceptional housekeeper, was considered a brilliant woman by a host of admiring friends. Her death will be severely felt by all who know her.

A Freak of the Forest. A natural curiosity of the Washington forest has been found by Freeman Slater, better known as "Slide," in a thicket between Port Blakeley and Eagle harbor and sent to the Post-In-telligencer office. It is a fir sapling about eight years old grafted on another sapling of the same kind about five years old. Apparently the larger of the two small trees had been broken gene were going to keep warm this winter to see the amount of wood that is coming to town.

C. J. Stuart, of Albany, representing the O. P. R. R., was in Eugene last night arranging for an excursion to Yaquina bay, in the near future.

Mr. Derech is been for Eller, the control of the two small trees had been broken off and fallen from some height and impaled itself on the smaller one lengthwise—in fact, in an exact line with it. In this position they grew together, the thin end below and the thick one above, remaining perpendicular.

This freak of nature will be sent to the world's fair as part of the Wash-ington exhibit.

self to a level with the tower excavation. It is estimated that from six to seven thous-and cubic yards of rock and earth came down which will cost several thousand dol-lars to remove. By removing this there will still remain the danger of the balance of the wall, or in fact, the whole mountain, coming down, but should it do this it is prob-able all would slide of its own accord, into to the sea and should this be its movement there will then remain just what the lighthouse people most desire, a solid rock foundation for the tower.
