Dally Guard, August 5. Just after the DAILY GUARD went to press last evening another row occurred. From a bystander we learn the following particulars: It seems that Sigel Jones, of Junc-tion, but well known in Eugene, and Geo. Earront had been wrangling in Hodes' saloon, when they were ordered ont. Earrout, who is a man about 60 years of age, came out first, Jones following a few steps behind. Then the latter pulled out of his pocket, when in front of the First National bank, a handkerchief in which was tied a good sized rock, and with an oath struck Exrrout a hard swinging blow on the top and back of the head, cutting the scalp severely. He was arrested by Special Po-liceman Morris who afterwards turned him over to Sheriff Noland, who locked him up in one of the old jail cells for the night, Jones being unable to procure bonds to await the examination set for this morning at 9 o'clock. This morning he was brought before Judge Kinsey, and on motion of his at-torney, L. Bilyeu, the examination was set for this evening at 7 o'clock at the court house. Those who saw the assault pronounce the same totally unwarranted and very cowardly. Jones claims that Earrout has been accusing him several times of steal-ing a watch from his person and that the same annoyed and embarrassed him until Rastus Brown's Death, Near Cottage Grove, Was From Natural Canses.

Daily Guard, August 11.

Dr. Harris returned from Cottage Grove this morning and stated that as there were no suspicious circumstances connected with the death of the man named Rastus Brown, no inquest

The circumstances as the doctor obtained them were as follows: Brown had returned that evening from Camp Creek where he had taken his wife to visit. He urged his children to hurry supper while he unhitched as he had a severe headache, and a cup of coffee, he thought, would relieve him. When the children came to call him he was sitting down near the barn, saying he was so dizzy he could not see. He asked where he was, and then said he would be better and come in soon. As he did not they returned to him soon and found him lying down where he was before, asleep, and breathing heav-ily. Being unable to carry him to the house they sent for some young men in the near neighborhood to assist them. As stated yesterday they ar-rived about 12 o'clock, and carried him into the house. He still continued to sleep and breathe heavily until about 4 a. m., when he died. As several members of his family have had a tendency to paralytic com-plaints, and as he had been riding so far in the scorching sun with a heavy slicker hat on his head, it is believed he died with cerebro hemorrhage superinduced by the excessive heat.

The above is the motto of the society called the Turn Verein, whose object is to advance "Physical education to its proper standard" not only the Portland Turn Ver-North American Turner band, to which be long 420 societies, with a membership of some 45,000, and representing a capital of several million dollars in property, such as gymnasiums, schools and parks. There are also social branches connected with the Portland Turn Verein, such as a debating club and male chorus, the latter under the personal direction of Mr. Louis Dammasch and are the leading attraction for older members not taking part in gymnastics. The societies of the Pacific Coast hold a convention in Fortland from the 13th to 16th inst. Although Capt. G. A. Sachs and the marine cadets and his delsarte class composed of girls are not regularly organ-ized branches of this society they have reized branches of this society they have re-ceived an invitation from the Portland So-cial Turn Verein to attend. The expense of the boys and girls going with Capt. Sachs will be paid by the Portland society after arriving there. They have also procured reduced rail-road rates so that it will only cost $6.60 for the adult members and 52.50 for the adult members and $3.30 for the smaller ones for the round trip. This makes the expense so small that Capt. Sachs informs us that up-wards of twelve of the boys and the same number of girls will attend with him.

Although it will cost the parents full fare several of them are interested enough to attend. We regret that space forbids giving the four days' pro-gram in full but it is sure to be an interesting one. Those who attend will get a clearer idea of the benefits to be derived from such training as Mr. Sachs has been giving our little folks for some time past.
