I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have brought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was sent over a get up alone, to rest on my clothes, when I immediately commenced using the DR. HENRY'S KIDNEY PILLS. I had an almost instantaneous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will commend the pills to all afflicted persons who have been.

Rev. I. D. Driver went to Portland on the local this morning. He will preach at the Centenary M. E. church tomorrow morning, lecture for the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening and on Tuesday evening will deliver an address before the Epworth League in one of the M. E. churches there.

M. Volk, assistant chief engineer of the S. P. Co., was in the city Thursday. From him we learn that the ties which were removed from the west side for the Woodburn extension, have been replaced and now sufficient ties are on hand to build the west side road, but he did not say when the road would be built. We might as well state the facts and be done with it.

Roseburg Review: John Weaver of Myrtle Creek, sold his dried prunes and those belonging to the estate of the late Henry Adam this week to Chicago parties. The price received was 91 and 10 cents, the silver selling highest. Mr. Weaver had 2200 pounds of the dried prunes so that they will do very well for a year when the prunes were considered a failure. A day or two later they could have sold to Portland parties for 10 and 10 cents. John Hall sold other fruit growers out there some time since and realized a good price. The prunes this year were of excellent quality.

The present silver policy of the U. S. was designed in the interest of the single standard. Over $45,000,000 of silver notes are issued annually, the bullion representing the same being deposited in the treasury. This silver is paid for by the government in gold, which is the only legal metallic tender, therefore the treasury is being depleted monthly of gold making it more valuable. If free coinage was allowed but little more silver, according to the present production, would be issued as money, the drain on gold to that extent would cease, and it would soon become the equal of yellow metal, thus relieving any stringency in our monetary system.

The Denver News asks if any nation ever put itself in such a humiliating position as the United States has done in going to Brussels and asking permission to coin its own money.

Dated Sept. 1, 1902.

M. B. JENSEN, Sheep Inspector.

DISORDER.—George Grove Leader: Some one has stolen the tools from the quarry four times. We have purchased the tools for the use of the quarry and that they think such a thing is becoming common.

PROPERTY SOLD.—Sheriff Noland, yesterday, at Springfield, sold the personal property, under attachment, belonging to Geo. H. Thurston. The horses brought from $5 to $20 per head; the $200 hay bales brought $100 and every other article sold at corresponding low rates.

5,187 NAMES.—Since publishing the estimate that there were 4,500 names on the Lane county assessment roll 1902, Deputy Chief of Burdick has made a count of the names on the roll, and finds 5,187 thereon. A goodly number of taxpayers considering the population of Lane county.

The new jail of Lane county, which will be ready for use in about a week, is the neatest and best constructed in the state. It took an immense amount of talk, however, to get it.

Jay Gould's will is a silent witness that he died with his clutches on the millions, most of which was secured by indirect robbery. Not a dollar of his vast wealth was given to charity, benevolent purposes, or any object outside of his immediate family.

The appearance of the grounds around the Lane county public buildings has been greatly improved during the last few weeks at a comparatively small expense. While the court is at work the streets next the hitching racks should be well graveled. In some places horses sink almost to their knees in the mud.

"How shall we correct the habit of falsifying?" is a question recently discussed at a meeting of the teacher's association of Whitman county, Washington. The result of the presidential election was a long step in that direction. Even the president's message now acknowledges that the consumer pays the tariff tax.

The report of Postmaster General Wannamaker shows that at the lowest per cent of expenses for postoffices of any state in the Union is for Oregon, being 35 per cent. of the gross receipts. The highest is for the District of Columbia, which is 76 per cent. The average for the whole country is about 50 per cent. This includes the free delivery system, but not the mail routes.

The inspector general has a good word to say for the Indian soldiers in Uncle Sam's employ. They show, he says, remarkable aptitude for military service, are amenable to the discipline, generally of good habits, proud of being soldiers, and, considering their ignorance of the English language, their progress in drill has been extraordinary.

Reports made to the horticultural board show that there are at present about 35,000 acres in the state planted with fruit trees, the annual income from which is about $1,250,000. In five years from now, when all trees now planted are bearing, it is estimated that this amount will be increased to $3,000,000.

The water power of Niagara falls is estimated at 16,000,000 horse power, at least five times the horse power now employed in the world in manufacturing. Electrical appliances will take the place of coal in generating light and motive power, and before another generation passes it is probable the problem of producing heat without fuel will be solved.

A $5,000,000 company, controlling 700,000 acres of land, has been incorporated in western Wyoming. The syndicate has purchased 100,000 acres from the Union Pacific to reclaim 40,000 acres of which, a ditch will be constructed this winter. The main canal from the Green river will be 120 miles long. This is said to be the largest irrigation enterprise ever projected in the West.

The fruit interests are receiving the usual attention this year and a large number of trees will be planted. It may be well to remind the orchardist that planting must be followed by careful cultivation else money and the use of his land is thrown away. The possibilities of fruit culture in the Willamette valley can hardly be overestimated but it must be treated with the care and attention that make other lines of business successful.

The Washington Post, independent, calls for an act of congress fixing the date of meeting of that body in March. It says that something must be done to get congress more closely in touch with the people, and that where a year and a month elapse between the election and the first regular session of congress, the verdict of the people as expressed at the polls does not receive its effect soon enough. There is much in this suggestion.

An immense hop field is being planted on Burdick's ranch, about one mile west of Coyote station on the Columbia river. One thousand acres of land lying between the bluff and the Columbia river will all be utilized in the undertaking. Posts and material for constructing drying houses, etc., are already on the field. Water for use during the dry months will be elevated from the Columbia river into a natural basin or reservoir on top of the bluff by means of steam and wind pumps.

Hon. Fred Douglas has received so many inquiries after the election from members of the colored race who are anxious to learn his views as to the probable effect of democratic accession to power, that he has put his answer in the form of a printed circular. There will, he thinks, be made by the new administration no disastrous assault upon the enterprise, industry and welfare of the colored race. As to the effect of the election of Cleveland upon the condition of the colored people of the South, Mr. Douglas says he is free to say that he has his fears as well as his hopes. One thing I may with safety say is this: "It will be very hard to make the condition in the South much worse than it is now, and has been during the present administration."

Public School Entertainment.

There will be given an entertainment by the public schools of Eugene, on Saturday evening, December 17, at Rhinehart's theatre. The programme will be out in a few days and promises to be, as heretofore, interesting in every particular. The object in giving the entertainment is to raise a small fund to contribute towards Oregon's Educational Exhibit at Chicago, steps having been taken by the leading educators of the state to have Oregon duly represented in that line of work. Although this alone should bring out a large audience, we are assured that those attending will not only contribute to an enterprise worthy of the support of every public spirited citizen, who has the interests of Oregon at heart, but he will get his money's worth.

BANK REORGANIZATION.—We are authorized to announce that a new bank is in process of organization under the name of the Eugene Loan and Savings Bank with an authorized capital of $60,000—with $20,000 paid up. The new bank succeeds to the business of the Eugene National and the change will probably take place about Jan. 1st. F. W. Osburn one of the incorporators, will be retained as cashier of the new bank.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The following is a report of Coon Range school, district No. 57, for the term commencing September 19 and ending December 9: No. days taught 57; No. days present 619; No. days absent 98; total No. enrolled 15; average daily attendance 10; Jacob Gillogie was neither absent nor tardy. General department good.

DISORDER.—George Grove Leader: Some one has stolen the tools from the quarry four times. We have purchased the tools for the use of the quarry and that they think such a thing is becoming common.

The cotton belt of the South is very fortunate. Cotton has advanced to 10 cents per pound. A gain of at least $100,000,000 to that section.

The official examination into Prof. Briggs' alleged heretical utterances and beliefs is quite as much of a trial to the public as was secured by indirect robbery. Not a dollar of his vast wealth was given to charity, benevolent purposes, or any object outside of his immediate family.

Steve Elkins, the secretary of war, makes a recommendation in his report that should not be carried out. He advises that the small military posts be abandoned and the regular troops concentrated and concentrated near the large cities. There they could be used by the Carnegies and the Vanderbilts to intimidate or shoot down strikers.

The annual report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Rathbone shows 4105 new postoffices were established during the year, a greater number than any previous year except 1890, when it was 4427. The year closed with 66,119 postoffices in the United States. The largest increase in the number of new postoffices is in the Southern states.

The masses of Europe are agitating the silver question and it is probable that before many months the monetary powers will be compelled to give the people the white and more common metal on an equal basis with gold. There is no gainsaying the statement that there is a tremendous public sentiment in its favor throughout the United States.

A New York paper requested Governor Penoyer to wire his views on the subject of immigration. He answered in his characteristic way: "If the United States are to be restricted to a narrow gold basis instead of a broad metallic money basis, the constitution, then, in order to have sufficient money for our people, it will not only be necessary to entirely restrict immigration, but also to expatriate some of our citizens."

During the first year of the Harrison administration, the estimate for pensions was $89,500,000. This year's addition to the rolls of 199,908 names increased the pensioners to $79,069 and amount needed for the next fiscal year to $165,000,000. But the pension commissioner reports that if the list continues growing with the present rapidity that will not be enough and there will be a deficit of some millions.

The French chamber of deputies are attempting to let sunlight shine upon the crooked transactions in relation to the Panama canal. It seems that several in connection with the scheme have made surprising dividends to their own advantage, and some of the deputies desire an accounting. But investigation in relation to the fraud practiced may be fruitless of results, except to mystify the transactions and shield the thieves.

The Southern Pacific moves very slowly in filling up those mud holes at the depot. The railroad commission has compelled the company to build a depot and side tracks at Tangent and it might be well to refer the mud hole to them. Considering that the monthly receipts of the Eugene office range from $9000 to $12,000 the accommodations afforded teamsters and truckmen the care of depot grounds are very shabby and reflect little credit on the railroad management.

It is but a short time until the meeting of the legislature, and the Eugene charter is to be amended. Steps should be taken to do so intelligently. The city council is expected to take the initiative in the matter as the experience acquired by the members render them acquainted with the wants of the town. Then the citizens could be informed of the changes proposed and a full discussion could be had on the merits of the proposition. No secret star chamber changes are wanted.

Having failed to beat Cleveland at the polls, the Oregonian's Washington correspondent has sweet revenge in exposing to the world the most secret thoughts and expectations of the democratic party and president elect. Hardly a day passes that he does not get them into a seemingly inexplicable tangle. Such talent is rare, and we are surprised that the great papers of the East, with a national circulation, have not discovered this brilliant reportorial gem blossoming as it were like a toad stool in a manure pile.

The diagonal street leading from the Huddleston residence to the Blair line is in a horrible condition. Last winter it was almost impassable, and it will be lucky if it does not become so the present one. The city council sought to improve the street during the summer but could not obtain the necessary majority of frontage to the petition. Steps will now be taken to amend the charter so the council will have power to order the improvement of any street without petition. This cannot be done however until the legislature meets and in the meantime the city should patch up the worst places. This is an important road and is used more than any other leading into Eugene. A visit to the end of Fifth street will convince the street committee that no delay should be made in repairing the highway.

Springfield Items.

Message, Dec. 10.

Following are the officers of Springfield Lodge No. 70, I. O. O. F., for the ensuing term: A. W. Dugan, N. G.; V. W. Harshbarger, V. G.; W. F. Hunnicutt, Sec.; W. B. Pengra, secretary. A. S. Walker, treasurer.

E. M. Carpenter returned from Stockton, Cal., Wednesday morning. His uncle, Levi Chestnut, did not return with him, but will stay at the Springs during the winter. He is still in very poor health.

Mrs. Nancy Johnston, wife of Edward Johnston, proprietor of the Springfield Hotel, accompanied by her sons, William and Benjamin, and daughter, Emma, arrived from Eugene, Mich., last Thursday.

C. A. McMahan of Thurston informs us that the new church will be 32x32 feet in size with a 2x25 ft. addition, the two parts of the building being connected by folding doors. The structure will be a nest one when finished, and will be ready for dedication in about three weeks.

Hazlett, the tramp printer, known to nearly every newspaper man in the northwest, ended on Saturday, carrying considerable grave looks than he did four years ago. After throwing in for us he left for Cottage Grove.

Mrs. Hanna Maxwell is having a new dwelling built on the lot north of her residence. A half dozen more of good substantial residences are soon to be built by the leading business men of the town.

Died, at Thurston, Tuesday, December 9, 1892, the 6 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wyatt. The funeral services were held Wednesday conducted by Rev. N. Alley and the little form was laid away in the Smith cemetery.

Blasphemous Names Expunged.

The acting commissioner of the general land office has administered a rebuke to the class of professors who make a practice of showing their love of blasphemy in naming their claims.

Two would-be humorists in the Okanogan (Washington) district recently named their claims the Holy Moses and Jumping Jesus, and made filings under those names. The register, and the receiver of the Waverlyville, Washington, land office have just received letters from the acting commissioner saying that these names have been duly stricken from the certificate and receiver's receipt, and will not be mentioned in the patent when issued, being considered indecent and blasphemous, but that other names may be substituted.

GROWING POTATOES.—In many of the gardens of Eugene there are luxuriant growths of potato vines, a few top-leaves only being slightly blackened by the frost.

Majority for the Populists.

BISMARCK, N. D., Dec. 9.—The official returns in the recent vote of Nelson county give a sufficient majority to elect all the Weaver electors. Their pluralities are: Burnett R. Williams 59, Bondstedt 16. The only unsettled contest in Emmons county, but a recount there would slightly increase the Weaver plurality.

Clarence Taylor butchered his legs Thursday.

B. A. Hjalmar is suffering with a sore throat, the effects of a bad cold.

O. Y. Cooper, of Albany, was calling on friends in town this week.

The engine house, that the S. P. R. used to use, for its engine was burned down Thursday. The only pile left to remember the narrow gauge now in the water tank.

Mr. Deadman, of Harrisburg, was in town Thursday interviewing J. C. and Giles Smith.

Mr. E. E. Kregel, of Independence, is in the city. Mr. K. represents the handle works of Independence. He says they make all kinds of handles of the finest second growth oak, to say nothing about railing and flooring.

Miss Eva Alford is recovering from her recent illness, and will be able to resume her work again in a few days.

Christmas is coming and Wm. Vanduy is ready for it with a vast line of holiday goods.

The magic lantern show was a success financially, Thursday evening.
