

Eugene City Guard.

SATURDAY, JAN. 28.

The silent reaper has been gathering in some notable men of late days.

The exchange that suggests that wives of legislators be allowed mileage to the capitol at Salem will meet with little sympathy from the lady clerks.

The cabinet appointments are not innocuous. They mean a vast amount of work if the positions are filled sincerely, besides the salaries are not sufficient to defray the cost of living in a manner commensurate with the positions.

The mossbacks of Portland, the men who came there in an early day and grew rich by the natural enhancement of value in property, are objecting to free bridges. They will meet the fate of all those who oppose public improvement and enterprise.

A late issue of the S. F. Examiner has an article on unusual rides made by men in the course of military duty. None, however, exceeds that recorded in Brown's history of Oregon, that of an Indian boy carrying a message during the Cayuse war of 1848, 100 miles in twelve hours.

About $40,000,000 is paid every year in Germany for the creation and preservation of forests; 200,000 families are supported from them, while something like 3,000,000 find permanent employment in the various wood industries of the empire. The total revenue from the forests amount to $14,500,000, and the current expenses are $5,500,000.

The North Carolina legislature has under consideration a measure that ought to be taken up in every state, particularly in the South. It is a bill intended to put a stop to lynching. It has been favorably reported by the committee on judiciary. It imposes a penalty of $500 and a term of imprisonment on any person convicted of complicity in lynching. The governor is authorized to send a judge and an attorney immediately to any place in the state where a lynching occurs to try any one apprehended for being concerned in the offense. The authorities of a county where it occurs are to be held responsible for not suppressing such unlawful doings.

The Corvallis Times says that the total number of clerks employed at the legislature is ninety-one. The pay ranges from $4 to $10 per day. They will cost the state this session, more than $20,000—a sum largely in excess of the pay of all the members of both houses, mileage and all. In view of this it is not surprising that disgraceful scenes of begging and buttonholing have been enacted at Salem by unwomanly and unmanly applicants for clerkships. The booty held out for them to scramble after was unusual, and if they barked and jumped for it like so many canines after a piece of meat the commonwealth need not be astonished. That the members liked the sport and were prone to encourage it, is proven by the fact that they voted down the resolution fixing the pay of clerks at $3 per day, a rate of compensation that would have been effectual in securing the services of a sufficient number of clerks, viz. about twenty, thoroughly competent for the duties required of them. If the pay were placed within reason, the behavior of applicants would be reasonable; it was made extravagant and men and women trailed self-respect and dignity in the dust in a struggle for booty. And taxpayers whistle for $15,000 overpaid them.

The crusade against the corset continues with unabated vigor, much, no doubt, to the perturbation of the corset maker. Woman has been gradually undressed during the last twenty years. First came the cry, "Away with the hoopskirt" and gradually this projecting wire fence has lessened in circumference until it degenerated into the long bustle. Then followed a hot and furious agitation against the bustle and it grew less year by year fading by stages from the long bird-cage affair into a piece of stiff cotton and then this too had to go. Woman's attention was next drawn to the large number of cumbersome skirts she wore, and one by one these dropped away until in the course of evolution the multitudinous petticoats evolved into the rudimentary silk tights. The petticoat grew closer and closer to the figure and became thinner and thinner in texture until in nature's wise time the heavy petticoats became the beautiful woven and close-clinging tights. Against the abandoning of hoops, bustles and petticoats there were many and bitter protests, especially among women of spirituelle figure. A final stand is now made against the discarding of the corset. Unlike the above cases, however, the protest as to the casting off of the corset comes from those of quite opposite cast of figure. All women cannot have waists such as that of the Venus of Milo, and if they did it is quite manifest that all men would not think such waists ideal.

There is no lack of aspirants for the offices within the gift of President-elect Cleveland.

The game laws are being strictly enforced at Spokane. This applies to all kinds of game.

The flag carried by Pizarro and his followers during the conquest of Peru will be a notable object in the Venezuelan exhibit at the world's fair. The sword of Cortez will be exhibited from Mexico.

Judge Martin, dem-pop. Elected. TOPKALA, Jan. 25.—The legislature met in joint session. The republican members of the house declined to answer roll-call. Ninety-one responded to their names—eight more than a quorum. Eleven of these members (pop.) of the house were given seats through courtesy. Without these there was no quorum.

When the senate roll was called the entire populist strength went to John Martin, and O'Brien, democrat, also voted for him. The result of the joint ballot was finally announced: Martin 56, Colburn 4, Hanna 1, Snyder 1. The president announced, Martin was elected United States senator. Before he had done this, however, Senator Baker, republican, demanded that the republicans be given a chance to vote. The president ruled that the vote having been announced no further vote could be received.

Mrs. Lease disgusted. Mrs. Lease and Mrs. Diggs, who have been prominent in the councils of the people's party, are furious over the election of Judge Martin as senator. "You may say for me," said Mrs. Lease, "that the election of Judge Martin is the death blow to the populist party in Kansas. I renounce my allegiance to it." Mrs. Diggs said: "When the populist party elected Judge Martin senator, it committed suicide. From this ashes, however, will arise a party not to be dominated by political tricksters, which will carry out the will of the people."

The Sheridan Bank Suspends. McMENVILLE, Jan. 25.—On receipt of the Oregonian yesterday containing the news of the failure of the Gervais bank, the Sheridan bank of the United States Banking Company closed its doors and refused to pay the checks. L. H. Reeves, the secretary of the corporation, was here today to consult its attorneys. Telegrams were shown from the president of the corporation, now at Kansas City on his way to Oregon. If he does not arrive in a week or ten days, the local officers will make an assignment and depositors be paid pro rata. It is learned that the bank had $200,000 in the bank at Sheridan, and nearly enough securities to meet the amount of deposits, estimated at $200,000. The affair is talked of everywhere in financial circles, and there seems to be confidence in Reeves. The concern has been trying to do a banking business on the money of depositors. Good financiers are glad to see a state bank inspector is gladly needed.

MORE ATTACHMENTS SERVED. SALEM, Jan. 25.—Five more attachments were served today upon the Citizens Banking Company's aggregate and property at Gervais. The aggregate of these five claims is about $300,000, and more are in process of law.

A LOST LOCOMOTIVE.

An N. P. Engine Plunges Into the Columbia River at Kalama.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 25.—About 3 o'clock this morning Northern Pacific freight train No. 53 ran into the ferry crossing the Columbia at Kalama. As soon as the train was safely landed on the ferry, the engineer and fireman, together with the other members of the train crew, went to supper at the lunch counter on the boat as is their custom, and remained in the lunchroom until the ferry neared Hunter's landing, on the south side of the river, when they resumed their respective positions on the train, all except the engineer and fireman. They did not, for reasons which are not stated, climb back into the cab of their engine, and the reason was that the engine could not be found. It had been attached to the train and when she started, but had run off the end of the ferry and into the Columbia river somewhere between Kalama and Hunter's landing.

No one knows just where, as the engine has not yet been located so far as is known here. It is supposed to have broken away from the train and run off the boat of its own accord, as it is hardly probable any one on the ferry would have uncoupled it up. As no one seems to have seen it start, however, no one knows just how the accident did occur. The circumstances connected with it are very peculiar, and the whole affair is shrouded in mystery. No one was injured and aside from the delay in securing another engine to bring the train into Portland, no damage was done except the loss of the engine. The Northern Pacific officials here are very reticent regarding the matter, but the news above given was obtained from other and authoritative sources, as is generally the case under similar circumstances.

VERY ILL.—Dr. T. W. Shelton, accompanied by his father-in-law arrived here for a winter trip, Friday morning. He is very ill and had to be carried to his residence from the train.

BORN.—In Eugene Jan. 26th, the wife of A. J. Phillips, a girl.

BORN.—To the wife of Irving Barlow, near Jasper, Jan. 25, twin girls.

Winners Shaken Up. WINTERS, Cal., Jan. 25.—There was an earthquake shock here last night at 9:40 o'clock, and another about 1 this morning. Both were light.

Contract Expires. SALEM, Jan. 25.—Today the ten-year contract with the Northwestern Foundry for state prison labor expired, and as a result Sept. 1, 1910, the penitentiary has 275 idle men on its hands. It is the duty of this legislature to provide employment for the state's prisoners.

The indefinite postponement of the further installation of the Eugene bridge A. O. U. W., caused by the inability of the orator of the occasion, D. Solis Cohen, of Portland, to attend is to be regretted. The gentleman is an eloquent orator and a pleasant evening would have been in store for our people.

The DEARD office carries a good stock of legal blanks.

Goshen Items.

Jan. 25. Uncle Joe Eaton is dangerously ill. Mrs. Jos. Eaton is afflicted with the mumps.

Rev. Clark and Rev. Coffman are conducting a series of religious meetings in the U. B. church of Goshen.

Rev. Hamilton Wallace, of Cottage Grove, preached in the M. E. church here Saturday evening and Sunday.

Wm. Bamaley and family have moved out of the Ferguson house in the northern part of the precinct, while Jos. Smith and family have moved from the village into the same.

Aunt Winna Davis is slowly recovering from a serious illness.

The Southern Pacific Company is having some curbing done in the ditches of Camas swale, south of here, through which its road extends.

Mr. John Bakely, of Lowell, spent last evening in this vicinity.

Miss Grace Husaker, of Dexter, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Honey.

The district school closes Friday.

A recent letter from an attending physician of the insane asylum states that A. J. Keeney is worse.

Mr. and Mrs. Cabow have been keeping house for W. D. Keeney for the past two weeks and some of the boys have been looking about for some "musical instruments."

Mrs. B. F. Keeney and babe have recovered from their illness.

Mr. Willis Mulkey will soon complete Uncle Charles Bennett's new dwelling.

Senator W. F. Matlock, of Pendleton, and wife visited with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Swaggart, Sunday.

George Stewart and Lester Swaggart attended a dance at Cloverdale Friday night.

We are informed that Mrs. Cyrus Bennett has not heard from her husband since his arrival at Heppner, except through newspapers.

Mrs. M. J. Edmundson is preparing to engage in hog raising somewhat extensively and has erected a substantial drying house.

Mr. Jos. Smith and little daughter visited relatives down the valley last week.

Chas. Smith had one of his horses killed by a freight train a few days since.

Frank Hampton and wife, of Eugene, have been visiting relatives here.

Mrs. O. E. Thompson and little niece were thrown from a cart last Sunday and sustained some bruises, but nothing serious.

Mrs. Taylor and family, we are informed, are about removing to their farm in California next summer.

Uncle Jesse Cox still holds his hope for high prices, which we hope he may realize. His are of extra quality.

John Kitchin visited relatives at Colburg last week, returning Monday.

Henry Matthews is having some grubbing done preparatory to breaking ground for a ten-acre field west of his house.

F. B. Dillard has sold his Petaluma incubator to V. B. Matthews, and Mr. M. has one lot of chicks hatched and the incubator full again.

Will Keeney is having his 40-acre farm fenced.

Goshen will be represented in the coming teachers' examination for certificates by several young persons.

The Legislature.

Alley's bills to amend the charters of Eugene and Florence are now ordered to third readings.

Baley's postage bill for $450,000 was defeated in the senate by a vote of 17 yeas to 11 nays. Both the Lane county senators voted against the bill.

The Springfield charter has passed both houses and is now ready for the action of the governor.

Oregonian: "A delegation of 12 from Eugene, argued against the proposed county of Mineral, alleging that enough republican precincts are taken from Lane and Douglas, to make each of them democratic." This is a mistake. The delegation was divided politically and the grounds for opposing were that there was no sense in division, and the agitation was merely the work of town boomers.

First readings: By Alley, for county board of road supervisors.

The Local Market.

The following quotations for the local market are for cash unless otherwise stated. They are correct as far as reported can be made.

Table with market prices for various goods like wheat, flour, sugar, etc.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that I have sold a one-half interest in the drug store formerly known as the E. R. Luckey & Co. store, to Volney Hemenway.

The firm hereafter will be known by the name of Hemenway & Noland, and will continue business at the old stand.

All accounts due the firm of E. R. Luckey & Co., T. J. Craig, and J. E. Noland, are due and payable to me.

All parties indebted will please call and make a settlement, as I wish to close all old accounts.

Eugene, Jan. 28, 1893. J. E. NOLAND.

To Hop Growers.

EDITOR EUGENE GUARD:—Having been informed by the call for a hop meeting that would appear in the GUARD of today, will you please allow me to say to the growers through your paper not to be persuaded to purchase quassa or any other supplies until they know what the hop meeting will develop.

There is likely to be quite a pressure brought to bear upon growers within the next few days to buy supplies. But stand firm under and be sure to be on hand at the meeting. You may hear something that will make you hop right along in your business.

GROWER.

Notice of New Survey.

The "Beautiful" Again.

At the meeting of employees of the Oregon Pacific railroad, held in Albany last week, Judge J. C. Fullerton, who was present, made the following statement: "I will see to it that you get your money. If the road is not sold on the 6th of March, I will order a new sale for whatever it will bring, if it is only enough to pay you your money."

Lanterns. Cheap lanterns. Good lanterns. All sizes, all prices, 25 cts up. All kinds of lantern repairs.

F. L. CHAMBERS. $25 worth of goods at Day & Henderson's for $25 cash.

The Sinclair stage went out with five passengers this morning.

It is now thought that the Blaine county division scheme is a "dead duck."

Prinville Review: It is reported that a few cattle on Lower Crooked river have died from starvation.

With every $25 bill of goods bought for cash at Day & Henderson, they will give a present valued at $10. This will only hold good while the present invoice lasts.

Corvallis Times: Every precinct in Benton will probably be represented in the "hogroiling" department at the legislature this week on the county division question.

Dr. J. C. Gray and R. L. Willoughby have formed a partnership for the practice of dentistry, with offices in the Exchange block, formerly occupied by Dr. Gray. These gentlemen are well up in their profession and we predict they will enjoy a successful patronage.

Get your sleigh ready. Clean your sidewalks and awnings. W. E. Brown is working in the clerk's office today.

Some sleigh-riding was indulged in on the street this afternoon.

The commissioners' court will hold an adjourned session tomorrow.

One of the street cars was propelled by a double span of mules this afternoon.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Sloan took place this afternoon from the residence of her son, J. M. Sloan, to the Masonic cemetery.

The street car line is using snow plows and by hard work is keeping the track clear for traffic. Mr. Holden is a rustler and is deserving of a good patronage for his enterprise.

A Umatilla county horse raiser recently found seventeen of his horses spirited away from the range in Umatilla county, taken to Dakota and sold. He had to resort to an action at law to recover his horses.

Senator Huston would impose a fine of $50 to $500 on the individual who points a gun at another individual. This bill is a blow at the liberties of the dill'n-know-it-was-loaded man and the esteemed foot-pads and burglars of the state. It ought not to pass.

We have received a copy of the second biennial report of the Oregon State Board of Horticulture. It is an interesting volume, and illustrates the benefits to be derived from a horticultural society. Among the contributions are one on "Soil Types of the Willamette valley," by Prof. Condon, "Berries" by D. W. Coolidge, and "The Future of Horticulture," by Rev. D. E. Loveridge.

Corvallis Times: Multnomah county has accepted the rise in the assessment made by the state board of equalization and clerks are engaged in the work of extending the rolls. Lane county has done likewise and the county clerk has reduced the levy three mills. Judge Hufford, of Benton, when interrogated on the subject, said: "If no one protests we shall be compelled to make the extensions. We are without authority to do otherwise; if we were assured that the delinquent taxes of the O. P. would be paid, I would be in favor of reducing the levy."
