Verily the life of the county clerk is full of pleasing incidents. It is amusing, however, when a staid old batchelor is called upon to decide from appearance as to a girl's marriageable age. This happened in this city yesterday when Bert Roberts and Lulu McAbse, from near Junction, appeared before County Clerk Walker and made application for a marriage license. BLAINE COUNTY.—Oregonian: The house passed the bill making a new county to be called Blaine by a vote of 33 to 10. Three populists voted with the republicans. Blaine county will have Junction City for its county seat, until its election can be held. Blaine county will be bounded on the south by a line running due west to the Pacific ocean from a point seven miles south, and on the north by a similar line 18 miles north of it. Upton says he favored the bill because he thinks the people in the limits of the proposed county wanted it and should have their wishes. The democrats opposed it because the new county might give a republican senator. The bill will probably die in the senate committee on fisheries to which that body consigned it. Alley is chairman and hates nothing so much as the Blaine county appearance of county proposition.

The above shows the ignorance of the Oregonian reporter or the legislature. If created, said county would certainly be heavily democratic.
