SAVED THE TRAIN. George Richardson is Waylaid by Train Robbers, but Revives.

George Richardson, formerly of Texas, but who has worked for various owners in this vicinity during the last winter, was on Wednesday morning going to southern Oregon. He was walking, probably to save his money, and last night while on his way over the hill in Douglas county an adventure occurred which may cost him his life. As he tells the story, it was about 9 o'clock when he was crossing a trestle he was attacked by a number of men. Richardson is a middle aged man of good physique but he says the first man that attacked him was a much larger one, so much so that during the encounter when he was trying to defend himself the big man shook him around as if he were a kitten. While he was defending himself another man came up, telling the first to "kill him, he was nothing but a d-d tramp anyway." Others then came in sight and he thinks he counted five in the gang but, besides two knife stabs, he soon received a heavy blow from the butt of a revolver, which felled him to the ground stunned. He was thrown over the end of the trestle about 15 feet below, and then the gang left him, supposing him to be beyond any interference with their plans. As it was they were mistaken for he soon revived and, although stupid from the blow and weak from the loss of blood he managed to stagger down the canyon and up the other side, thus avoiding further contact with the robbers. For about half a mile on the track, Richardson limped preventing his going further he lay there waiting and when he heard the north-bound overland, which arrives at that point about 12 o'clock, he set fire to his handkerchief, thus flagging the train.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON RESIGNS. After Nearly Seventeen Years Service in the State University.

At the meeting of the Board of Regents of the State University, at Portland, Thursday, J. W. Johnson, President of the University, handed his resignation to the Regents, to take effect September 3, 1893. The board accepted the resignation after complimenting him on his work and zeal in promoting the influence and standing of the university. The board desires to create a chair of languages and will probably ask Prof. Johnson to accept the position, but he has not yet signified his intention in the matter. Prof. Johnson took charge as the first president of the university, October 18, 1876, and has served nearly 17 years. That this work has been well done is attested by the scores of graduates matriculated, who uniformly speak words of praise in his behalf. For several years past his health has been failing and he does not feel that in justice to himself he could longer fulfill the arduous and responsible duties of president. The Regents now have the task of selecting Prof. Johnson's successor. It will be no easy task to accomplish, but they have considerable time in which to make the selection. We doubt not that they will be careful and make choice of an educator of talent and executive ability.

A Heavy Suit. Thos. Swift, and J. P. Currah guardian, have commenced a suit in the circuit court against A. W. Haskell and his wife, asking that court to set aside a deed executed and made by Thos. Swift to A. W. Haskell, Nov. 4, 1880, conveying an undivided one-half in and to lot 6, block 9, on Olive street, just north of 4th street and 705 acres of land lying on a few miles southwest of Eugene. The complaint alleges that said property was worth at least $5000, and at said time Thos. Swift was 73 years old and had been sick for over a year thereto prior and was mentally very weak and had no knowledge of the nature of said deed or conveyance, but was then and there insane, incompetent and not capable of understanding the nature of the same, and that said A. W. Haskell at the time he received and accepted said deed knew that said Thos. Swift was wholly and entirely incapable of doing business and that the said deed was without consideration and was procured by the said A. W. Haskell, by force, fraud, undue influence and persuasion. And that on Jan. 7, 1892, Haskell procured another deed from Thos. Swift for the remaining one-half interest in 341.94 acres of the above land, of value of $4000, the same allegations being made as above. L. Bilyeu and J. F. Amis appear for the plaintiff.

Board of Regents. The regents of the University of Oregon met at Portland last night and transacted the following business: The board accepted the resignation of Professor J. W. Johnson, to take effect October 31, 1893, and as soon thereafter as his successor may be elected. Regents Failing, Arthur and Hovey were appointed as a committee to recommend some suitable person to fill the position left vacant by Professor Johnson's resignation.

Professor J. W. Johnson was elected to the professorship of languages, the chair held by him now. Mr. A. G. Hovey was appointed a member of the executive committee in place of Rodney Scott, term expired. R. S. Bean tendered his resignation as a member of the same committee, and Joshua J. Walton was appointed in his place. The old university building was named Deady Hall in honor of the late Hon. Matthew P. Deady.

Suitable resolutions expressing regret at the death of Judge Deady, late president of the board, were passed. Hon. Henry Failing of Portland was elected temporary chairman. Regents Failing, McArthur and Beckman of Portland were made a special committee to consult architects and mature plans for the two dormitories and to report to executive committee at Eugene as to their adoption and construction of the building this summer.

DISCHARGED.—E. E. Looft, son of the charge of Florence on the charge of marrying his niece was taken before Judge Fish, this morning on a habeas corpus proceedings. The man's attorney, Geo. A. Morris, claimed that the commitment issued by the Justice of the peace at Florence was illegal and of no force, as instead of mentioning Looft's name, it committed the State of Oregon to jail, and also that the commitment showed that the man had been held to await the action of the grand jury without bonds, while the offense is a bailable one. Judge Fish, after considering the case, ordered the discharge of the prisoner. Looft says he will work about here and is on hand if the next grand jury wants him.

RESIDENCE.—The residence of the Rev. J. D. Driver, at the residence of his father, George Hall, in Eugene, this morning at 6 o'clock, of consumption, after an illness of several months. The deceased was born at Chateaugay, N. Y., July 18, 1870, and was at the time of his death 13 years, 7 months and 15 days of age. The family have the sympathy of many friends for their affliction. The funeral will take place from the family residence, corner of Ninth and High streets Saturday afternoon, April 1, at 2 o'clock to the Masonic cemetery, Rev. J. D. Driver officiating.

SOCIETY CHANGE.—The fraternal societies of Eugene have been making some changes in their meeting places. The Knights of Pythias have moved from their old quarters opposite the Hoffman House into the Odd Fellows' Temple, and the Woodmen who have been using Wilson's Hall have leased the Odd Fellows' Temple. The Good Templars have vacated Mount's hall and leased the hall vacated by the Knights of Pythias.
