Will Probated.
 Daily Guard, May 25.
 The will of the late John Chestnut has been entered on record by the clerk of the county court. The first provisions are for the settlement of his body and payment of all debts. Then follows the disposition of $10,950 as follows:
 $50 each to nine nephews and nieces, $500 each to five other nephews and nieces, $500 each to eight other nephews and nieces, $500 each to eight other nephews and nieces.
 To his brother William was bequeathed $500 a year as long as he lives if surviving the testator.
 To his brother Levi all money needed for his support and sustenance as long as he lives; also life estate in the farm in Lane county, and after his death said farm to be sold and the proceeds to be divided among the remaining legatees in same proportion as the special legacies.
 The will provides that no distribution shall be made until after the death of the two brothers.
 The will was executed June 11th, 1872, and appoints E. M. Carpenter, one of the legatees, sole executor without bonds.
 It will be remembered that Levi, one of the above named brothers, died in the asylum, at Salem, this last winter, the testator surviving him.

Notie Valley Items.
 May 22d, 1893.
 The Notie creek is formed by numerous springs from the mountains and is a clear, sparkling stream with gravel bed, winding gracefully between the hills till it mingles with the water of Long Tom, near Varian P. O. The land along both sides of this creek is known as the Notie valley.
 The upper part of the valley is a beautiful prairie while the lower valley is covered with valuable timber which can be converted into boards, posts and shingles. The time is not far distant when some enterprising man with means will see the wealth in this timber, put a saw mill on the creek and utilize the timber for the benefit of himself and others, by placing on the market lumber far superior in quality to any of the lumber now sold.
 The soil is unsurpassed for richness even in the Willamette valley.
 Fruit is grown here that would tempt the palate of an epicure, while vegetables are abundant.
 The numerous openings along this valley show what can be done by persons with pluck and energy, in the way of securing comfortable homes.
 Persons in search of homes would do well to look at our fair valley.
 Our valley isn't quite the "garden of Eden" but the next thing to it.

THE COYALLS.—The snag boat which has been working four or five miles down the river for the last two days, will return to the landing at the bridge this evening, and lay over Sunday. After this the boat will remain down the river and some members of the crew will come to the city for the boat's mail for perhaps two weeks. After that time the address will be changed to farther down the river. Some effectual work has already been done.
Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment.
 A certain cure for Chronic Sore Eyes, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Old Chronic Sore, Fever Sore, Eczema, Itch, Pruritis Scabiosa, Sore Nipples and Piles. It is cooling and soothing. Hundreds of cures have been cured by it after all other treatment had failed. 25 cents per box.
 For sale by Wells & DeLoach.

WILL COMMENCE SUIT.—J. C. Young of Albany, who in 1884, had the misfortune while working for the Oregon Pacific R. R. to lose both of his legs. The company allowed him $5,000 in money and the news privilege of the road for life. But a few days ago the new managers of the road took this privilege away from him, and he will bring suit for damages.

FRIDAY, MAY 19.
 S. P. Shallen, of Portland, is in the city.

Miss Mabel Straight went to Portland on this morning's train for a visit with her sister.
 State Senator Veach came down from Cottage Grove on this morning's Roseburg train.
 Ed Bangs and Chester Noland returned home from San Jose, Cal., on last night's overland.

M. V. Rook, state lecturer for the Farmers Alliance and Industrial Union, is in the city today.
 Mrs. E. C. Test left about the same condition as yesterday. The prospects for her recovery are favorable.
 Miss Lizzie Broy of Creswell, came down on the local this morning for a visit with friends in this city.

Frank Coenen, formerly of Eugene, but now a railroad engineer of Portland, is visiting here.
 We acknowledge a pleasant call this morning from A. LeRoy D. D., of La Grande, one of the visiting Old Fellows.

Miss Nettie Kress left on this morning's stage for Blue river where she will complete her summer term of school next Monday.
 Hon. C. N. Wilkinson is home for a few days but will return to Portland next week for a few days finishing work at the headquarters of the Oregon world's fair commission.

Professors John M. Bloss, H. T. French and Dimont Lotz, of the agricultural college at Corvallis, passed through on this afternoon's local on their way to the farmer's institute to be held at Shilash tomorrow.
 Long Creek Eagle: A tenderfoot, who once visited the valley, in relating his experience in that portion of Oregon's paradise, said that "they only have two seasons in that country, July and August, and the rainy season."

The Portland clergymen who went to Astoria to investigate the charges of promiscuous kissing of females preferred against Rev. R. B. Dilworth, of that city, arrived at the conclusion that there is nothing wicked in kissing, though, perhaps, it is a trifle indiscreet, sometimes.
 The grave of little Mamie Walsh, at Milwaukie, the girl who was so brutally murdered about ten months ago, by the doctor, Wilson, who succeeded in getting her way to the farmer's institute to be held at Shilash tomorrow.

The last meeting of the L. T. club was held at the residence of Lillian Blumenthal, yesterday afternoon. The ladies arrived at 3 o'clock. The time was spent in bright talk, jolly laughter and fancy work, till five, when Miss Lillian invited them into the dining room, where a tempting repast was served. The gentlemen came in time for "dessert" at 7 o'clock. The time for the concert, when they adjourned to the theatre. The gentlemen voted it a good time, but wished they might have been the first instead of the last. The girls think that the club has been most successful. They have held "socials" at 7 o'clock, which has meant "good times" and elegant lunches. The only wish of the girls is that next year they may have another Lenten Tea club as pleasant as this.

AN OLD CLAIM.—Mr O. P. Hubbard, assistant attorney of the department of justice, was in town yesterday on business connected with the Indian depletion claim. The party interested is Job W. Ross, and some time ago his evidence was taken, but for some cause no action was taken. Mr. Ross was one of a party consisting of three families that started across the plains in 1852. They were stopped by the Indians and kept prisoners for ten days, the women of the party being compelled to do the cooking for the men. All the stock belonging to them was driven off and a quantity of other effects stolen, after which the prisoners were released and pursued their way across the then treeless plains, arriving on the coast after a trip covering a period of over six months. Mr. Ross' claim is a just one, and it is expected he will be reimbursed.—Astorian.

 L. J. Broussard, J. C. Templeton, of Halney, were the victims of an accident this morning which is likely to cause him considerable pain for several weeks. While at Chappell's stable on Fifth street he was passing behind a stallion and was just in time to catch a kick aimed at another horse which broke over his legs just above the knee. He was taken to the residence of T. D. Linton on High street where the fracture was reduced by Dr. T. W. Harris assisted by Dr. Prentice and is now resting as easy as could be expected. He is a gentleman perhaps 40 years of age, so that recovery will be slow. He is now as an agent for a hop spraying machine.

A MISTAKE.—While an exhibit was being made of a horse-power hop-sprayer on Fifth street this afternoon, a large crowd gathered to the scene, expecting to see the new machine. It was a mistake, however, as the exhibit was not a hop-sprayer, but a new street sprinkler had arrived.

While strolling through the grounds this afternoon, the impressive words of John Johnson, of Corvallis, met a guard, who talked quite intelligently about many subjects. He asked Mr. J. where he resided, and when told in Oregon, he asked what state was the place located in. He faltered, and his recovery is extremely doubtful. His representatives have asserted openly that the wheat has been sold in every manner, just the same as at an Oregon state fair, but a little more so. Even the use of lavatories is charged at 5 cents.

We are under special obligations to Dr. Lewis, of Union, W. H. Johnson, of Salem, Mr. Johnson, of Astoria, and W. N. Matlock and wife, of Pendleton, world's fair employes for Oregon, who kindly showed us many interesting sights on the grounds.
Martin's Marble Works.
 An industry the importance of which the people of this city are some times disposed to overlook, is the Marble and Granite Works operated by W. Martin, Willamette street north of Seventh. His trade extends over a territory larger than might generally be imagined. From Linn and Benton counties on the north to Coos and Douglas counties on the south this establishment is also well known as it is here in Lane county. Orders are continually coming in from this large territory, and as good work is being turned out as is put up in Oregon. Several specimens of artistic work are now to be seen at the display rooms of this concern, mostly granite work as they have been making a specialty of this kind of work the present season. At present they are putting the finishing touches on granite monuments for the estate of S. B. Eakin, Sr., one to be erected for Eugene E. Skinner and wife, by their daughter Mrs. Phoebe Kinsey, a larger one for the Finley's, and another for a family by the name of Brown, at Sheeds, in the same county.

 He came to Lane county from Lane county in 1851, and by his courteous treatment endeavored himself to the entire community. His wife and seven grown children, five daughters and two sons, survive him, and have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

FROM OREGON TO CHICAGO.

Our Special Correspondent Outlines the Trip—Visits the Fair.
 Chicago, May 17.
 A happy party, consisting of a portion of the Oregon Press Association, left the metropolis of Oregon for the "Windy City of the West," Chicago, Thursday night, via the Turkey Falls railroad. Nothing of moment occurred on our journey to mar the pleasures of the trip excepting the dust of Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska, which is something dreadful to a native born Oregonian. It will sift in at the windows of the best constructed palace car in the world. East of Cheyenne for a distance of 750 miles the flyer makes an average of 55 miles per hour. The party arrived in Omaha Sunday afternoon, dusty and somewhat enervated. After registering at the Hotel Paxton the party concluded that a little stimulant would clear their throats from the horrible alkali dust, and they wended their way to the hotel bar, when to their surprise it was learned that every saloon in Omaha, a city of about 150,000 population, was closed, the snow-covered streets of the accommodating landlord, he told the gang to follow him and a drink they should have. He led them to the cellar, then to a dark room and that which they were looking for was obtained at the regular Pacific coast price, 10 cents per drink. At that same hour we were surprised to learn that in Council Bluffs, Iowa, located in that great prohibition state, over 100 saloons were running with open doors, and a large number of Omahans were visiting their twin sister city for the purpose of indulging in the forbidden stimulant. To satisfy ourselves of the truthfulness of the statement, we visited the Iowa city, and found that large numbers of saloons, probably over 100, were running with open doors, notwithstanding the prohibition law. The mayor of the city informed us that each saloon keeper was fined $20 per month, which was promptly paid, the same virtually being a license.
 Monday evening we left for the marvelous city of Chicago, via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, arriving in said city Wednesday. It is a great city, full of life, vim and energy. We are stopping at a hotel about the same size and excellence of the Hotel Portland, and the rate is from $2.50 to $3 per day, American plan. We went to the fair this afternoon, and were much surprised at the extent of the buildings and exhibits. Nearly every inch of the world is represented. In fact the foreign exhibit seems to be more extensive than that of the United States. Oregon certainly carries away first prize on its horticultural exhibit. In fact, California does not compare with it. Idaho, I think, makes the next best showing. The display of wheat made by Geo. Belslaw and M. Wilkinson excites the curiosity of all visitors and we think Lane county will again carry off first prize in this great product. They furnish the entire Oregon wheat exhibit. Many of the other states and foreign countries. Their representatives have asserted openly that the wheat has been sold in every manner, just the same as at an Oregon state fair, but a little more so. Even the use of lavatories is charged at 5 cents.

We are under special obligations to Dr. Lewis, of Union, W. H. Johnson, of Salem, Mr. Johnson, of Astoria, and W. N. Matlock and wife, of Pendleton, world's fair employes for Oregon, who kindly showed us many interesting sights on the grounds.

 The first grand jury of the new county of Lincoln made this morning report. "We, the grand jury of Lincoln county, Oregon, having completed our labors as specified by law, ask to be discharged."
 Dr. John M. Bloss, president of the state agricultural college at Corvallis, will deliver an address at the graduating exercises of the public schools of Eugene, which will occur on Friday evening, May 20th.

Lebanon Advance, May 19: The Porter Bros. bought 523 head of young cattle in this vicinity within the month. They left Friday with them for Creswell, where they will pasture them a while and then drive them to Eastern Oregon.
 J. H. Bristow received a severe kick from one of the stallions at Baugs & Henderson's stable, last Saturday evening. He was struck in the back and disabled for a time but it is thought nothing serious will result.
 M. F. Parker left on the local this morning on his return home to Florence. He goes to Yaquina and from there on the tug Roberts, as he holds the position of purser on that boat which plies between that bay and Seaside.

While strolling through the grounds this afternoon, the impressive words of John Johnson, of Corvallis, met a guard, who talked quite intelligently about many subjects. He asked Mr. J. where he resided, and when told in Oregon, he asked what state was the place located in. He faltered, and his recovery is extremely doubtful. His representatives have asserted openly that the wheat has been sold in every manner, just the same as at an Oregon state fair, but a little more so. Even the use of lavatories is charged at 5 cents.

We are under special obligations to Dr. Lewis, of Union, W. H. Johnson, of Salem, Mr. Johnson, of Astoria, and W. N. Matlock and wife, of Pendleton, world's fair employes for Oregon, who kindly showed us many interesting sights on the grounds.
Martin's Marble Works.
 An industry the importance of which the people of this city are some times disposed to overlook, is the Marble and Granite Works operated by W. Martin, Willamette street north of Seventh. His trade extends over a territory larger than might generally be imagined. From Linn and Benton counties on the north to Coos and Douglas counties on the south this establishment is also well known as it is here in Lane county. Orders are continually coming in from this large territory, and as good work is being turned out as is put up in Oregon. Several specimens of artistic work are now to be seen at the display rooms of this concern, mostly granite work as they have been making a specialty of this kind of work the present season. At present they are putting the finishing touches on granite monuments for the estate of S. B. Eakin, Sr., one to be erected for Eugene E. Skinner and wife, by their daughter Mrs. Phoebe Kinsey, a larger one for the Finley's, and another for a family by the name of Brown, at Sheeds, in the same county.

Died.
 Dr. W. M. Orsedy died at his residence near Silver Lake, after an illness of a month, of catarrh of the stomach, on May 12, 1893. The doctor was born in Missouri, Aug. 21, 1819.
 He came to Lane county from Lane county in 1851, and by his courteous treatment endeavored himself to the entire community. His wife and seven grown children, five daughters and two sons, survive him, and have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.
FRIEND.
