

Eugene City Guard.

SATURDAY, MAY 27.

Fashion will have its way. It keeps purveyors of feminine articles of apparel at work however.

That Albany Chinaman who stabs two of his "cousins" is assisting Uncle Sam in the work of deportation.

Eugene will have a large advertisement in the meeting of the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in 1894.

From all accounts Oregon is ahead at the world's fair in the horticultural and wheat exhibits. She has the ability and resources too to keep ahead.

A river excursion from Eugene is something that has not happened for years. If the river keeps at a fair stage, which seems probable, the Eugene folks will have that chance on a commodious boat.

Emperor William says he will not call the soldiers out as usual in June on account of the harvest period and elections. The world will be uncharitable enough to think the former has little to do with his decision.

The Northern Pacific railroad is again advertising Washington and its northwestern routes. A few years ago it advertised Tacoma in every part of the United States, so that it was known where Portland had never been heard of. But for this advertising Tacoma would now be a city of 15,000 inhabitants.

H. H. Warner, the proprietor of the "safe cure" remedies has failed in business. For many years he was known as the greatest patent medicine advertiser in America and he accumulated a vast fortune. Afterward he dropped his advertising and has steadily lost money from that date, until now he furnishes another example of a man who tried to do business without the assistance of printers' ink.

Eastern philanthropists should remember that the Chinese were given every opportunity for a period of one year to register. They did not do so under the advice of the Six Companies, by whom they are held slaves. They have knowingly violated and set our laws at naught, and should be deported. The necessity of enforcing the law becomes more apparent when the nature of the Chinese is considered.

The Umatilla Indians will soon be full-fledged citizens of the United States. The allotment of their lands in severity has been approved, and next June the right to cast a ballot "all the same white man" will be theirs. The number of voters on the reservation at the present time is not known, but there will be enough of voters to hold the balance of power in that county if they will all hang together. The politician has now a job on his hands, wondering how he can capture the votes of poor Indians at the coming election.

Grand Prairie grange has discovered that some roads should not be graded. We should like to see the authority, engineering or otherwise, that does not lay down the principle that practical roads should be elevated and drained. We have traveled extensively through Lane county and have without exception found level roads in winter like canals, full of water, and ruts caused by the presence of water. Of course all roads are good in summer. If the members of Grand Prairie grange wish to see the practical effects of grading let them come to Eugene where graded streets with heavy travel are in splendid condition while adjoining streets on the level are shunned because of their condition. The farmers of Lane county should assist in carrying out the order of the court. It will be thousands of dollars in their pockets annually.

There are no graded roads in Lane county at present to speak of and the farmers are not aware of the immense benefits their construction would entail.

An example of tardy justice in the Almy case is especially noteworthy. He was convicted in 1891 of the murder of Christie Warden, but by means of appeals and the kindly intervention of the New Hampshire statute, which provides that one year shall intervene between the imposition of the sentence and execution of the murderer, the hanging did not take place until a few days ago. In the meantime, as much fuss was made over him as was made over Carlyle W. Harris, and Governor Smith was ceaselessly importuned in Almy's behalf, mainly by Dr. Mary Walker, of New York, who endeavored to show that a conspiracy existed to secure Almy's death. The evidences of Almy's guilt, however, were too complete to admit of executive interference, and there is nothing to criticize in his trial, conviction and execution but the interminable delay between the sentencing and the execution of the murderer. Much of the salutary lesson taught by the infliction of capital punishment consists in its being inflicted before the intimate association of the prisoner with his crime has been permitted to die out of the public mind.

There has been considerable gush and bosh written over the Infra Eulalie, who is visiting the world's fair. Congress made a superb exhibition asinity when it extended an official invitation to royalty to visit our shores. Here one man is as good as another and sometimes a little better.

It is a matter of congratulation that the cloth for the uniforms of the Oregon National Guard will be manufactured within the state. The Albany woolen mills secured the prize against all competitors. Oregon has many fine water powers, abundance of cheap raw material, and should not send abroad what can be produced at home.

The Eugene Guard man says in Salem dirty beds are charged for at world's fair rates. Wonder where the GUARD editor slept when he was in Salem? Let him give an account of himself—Salem Statesman.

In the Willamette hotel, the principal one in Salem, of course. They paid $3 for the bed, by courtesy we call it such, and the privilege of seeing a few napkins, and a nigger walk about the dining room.

Rev. Blair and family are expected to return home June 1. We are pleased to learn that his health is very much improved.

Miss Bassett Fetterly left Sunday for Grants Pass.

Died—Sunday morning, Anna, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Davis, aged 1 year and 1 month. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, the remains being taken to Cottage Grove for interment.

Born—To the wife of Mr. E. O. Corson, May 20th, a son.

Married, at Creswell Hotel, Sunday, by Rev. E. Gittins, Mr. J. C. Perkins and Miss Maggie Oment. As both the contracting parties are residents of Cottage Grove the question would naturally arise, why they sought a refuge at Creswell but thereby hangs a tale part of which will not be told. It seems that their friends wanted "to see the fun" but the bashful young twain proceeded to Creswell by foot, not wishing to face the music in their own quiet city but their friends would not be outdone and came down on the local meantime to see the knot tied. They all returned to Cottage Grove Sunday evening, happier and wiser for their experience.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Curran of Cottage Grove were in town Sunday.

There will be a dance and supper at the Schmitz hop house Saturday evening, June 3d. All are invited to attend. Messrs. Winzenfeld and Schmitz, the managers, guaranteed good order, good music and a grand time.

The Epworth League gave an entertainment at the M. E. church, Sunday evening, it being the second anniversary of the organization of the league at this place. The church was artistically decorated. Many choice selections were on the programme. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, all being pleased with the entertainment.

June Weather.

Portland Telegram: "The data published by the United States weather bureau officer, R. S. Page, in regard to the operations taken during June for the last 21 years, are of interest and may aid people in forming an opinion as to the changes for the coming June."

Astoria Budget: "We wish to be distinctly understood that we want no more amateur and mildewed preachers to come prowling around Astoria with matrimonial intentions. We cannot even supply the home demand with osculatory privileges without creating an insurrection, and a frosty old saddlebagger, is, therefore, emphatically not it."
