The West, June 2. Government work on the jetty will surely close at the end of the month. We are pleased to know that Mrs. Stiles has recovered her usual good health.

On May 25, 1893, to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Neely, a daughter. On May 26, 1893, to Mr. and Mrs. John Schultz, a daughter. On May 28, 1893, to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Funke, a daughter.

Two government sews went down the river this week loaded with stone to find lodgment in the jetty. Thomas A. Clark of Meadow has traded his place to Thomas Cheshire of Eugene for town property and will move in a few days.

Mr. S. G. Lindley, a farmer on North Fork, has several milk cows that give 23 pounds of milk twice each day. One two-year-old heifer gives 17 pounds at one time.

Eugene is evidently moving in no slow pace for official gatherings. If the judgment of the majority goes, the first congressional republican convention will be held in Eugene.

Lawyer H. Y. Thompson Accused of Dishonesty.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 8.—General Manager Shelby telegraphed from Fairhaven this morning that H. Y. Thompson, formerly attorney for the Fairhaven & Southern and the Fairhaven Land Company at Fairhaven has been discharged for dishonesty. The charges against Thompson as stated in the dispatch, are that he has cashed drafts, using the company's name without authority.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 8.—L. H. Bowman was badly stung by bees this afternoon. He was attempting to live them when they attacked him, literally covering his hands. The attack was so severe he was prostrated and fell to the ground. When found he was unconscious. His body was terribly swollen, and was turning purple. It took two hours to revive him, and he is now in a precarious condition.

BOUND OVER.—Chung Wa, the Chinaman who was arrested for burglary, was given an examination before Justice Kinsey this morning and bound over to await the action of the next grand jury. In the meantime he will remain in the county jail.

Queer as Ever.

Salem Independent, June 9: Mr. Oberauer, the manager of the bicycle agency here, yesterday arranged an attachment to his wheel whereby he was enabled to carry a small rifle. He had it on the wheel the greater part of the day and met with no casualty, but last evening while his wheel was standing in front of his place of business, a boy who was monkeying with the gun, raised the hammer and the gun was discharged. The rod used for cleaning the gun was in the barrel and it and the bullet went whizzing up Commercial street. The wonder is that no one was hurt. The bullet passed near by Mr. Sargent and the cleaning rod was picked up in front of Mr. Branson's grocery store.

Two Drownings at the Metropolis. PORTLAND, Oregon, June 8.—George Widenkeller was fishing with some companions in Guild's lake. He waded out with the net until the water reached to his waist. Suddenly he was seen to pitch forward and fall. He at once sank and never arose. One of his companions swam out to the spot and diving down located the body on the bottom. Then a large fish hook attached to a line was secured and the remains dragged out. It was ascertained that he had stepped into a deep hole and being unable to swim, was drowned.

ANOTHER INQUEST. Coroner Hughes yesterday morning held an inquest over the remains of John Hacker, the 12-year-old boy who was drowned under the narrow gauge dock at the foot of Jefferson street Wednesday afternoon. "Accidental drowning" was the verdict of the jury.

A Bicycle Accident. PORTLAND, June 8.—Miss Loretta Allen, a teacher in the Lowlands school met with quite a serious accident at about 8 o'clock this morning. She was propelling her bicycle down Washington street, which was quite wet from sprinkling, and upon reaching the intersection of Washington and Second streets the machine slipped and she fell under it unable to arise.

A carriage was sent for to convey her to her home at the Vendome. At every jolt the vehicle made, the unfortunate victim gave vent to an execrating scream denoting the great physical pain that was distressing her.

Remains her destination Dr. McKenzie examined Miss Allen and found that the bone of the right arm was fractured by the heavy bicycle falling upon her. He says that it may be a very long time, if ever, before she will be able to walk again.

A MOHAWK FIRE.—At 10:30 Thursday night the residence of Wm. McCulloch at the Whitmore sawmill, on Mill creek, in the Mohawk valley, was discovered to be on fire. The mill hands responded to the alarm and by hard work extinguished the flames, but not before the roof had burned off. The loss is estimated at $250, with insurance in the State of Salem of $500 on building and contents. The loss has not yet been adjusted.

FRIDAY, JUNE 9.

A. L. Roney of Goshen was in the city today. He carries $80,000 annually for the fire department.

Portland reports a large number of Eastern excursionists.

Mrs. I. L. Armstrong is enjoying at Seaside for her health.

Deputy Sheriff H. J. Day returned home from Salem this afternoon.

Elephants in Oregon.

Albany Democrat, June 12: Recently some bones were found in the basement of the new postoffice block, just excavated. Dr. Maston sent them to Prof. Condon at Eugene, and has received the following answer:

EUGENE, Or., June 10, 1893.

MR. G. W. MASTON—Dear Sir: Your favor of the 5th and the express package to which it refers were both duly received. In response to your request I hereby send a description:

The bones are fragments of right and left pelvic bones of a small elephant. The animal lived tens of thousands of years ago when this whole Willamette valley was covered with water—the water of the "Willamette Sound" of the Champlain period. At the time of this Sound condition of this valley, these elephants lived on the foothills around the Sound, and sometimes their carcases would get washed by streams into the Sound and get covered in sediments of sand, gravel or mud. The animal to which these bones belonged was probably 9 or 10 feet high, or thereabout.

Should you find any more of the skeleton, especially the teeth, you might desire to keep the best of these bones as a collection. If so, write me.

Very respectfully,
THOMAS CONDON.

Creswell Will Celebrate.

The Fourth of July will be appropriately celebrated at Creswell. The officers of the day are as follows:

President, Hon. John Tait; vice president, W. L. Bristol, Pleasant Hill, B. F. Harding, Cottage Grove; Jas. Eaton, Goshen; chaplain, Rev. Edward Gettings; marshal, I. L. McDaniel; orator, Hon. Geo. A. Dorris, of Eugene; reading Declaration of Independence, Miss Olive McDaniel. A number of races and other sports will take place, and the hospitable Creswell people propose to give visitors a cordial reception.

What is American Tin?

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A change in the treasury regulations regarding the production of American tin plate is likely to be made before the last report of the special agent in charge of the statistics is made public. It has been the rule to count as American tin plate that which is dipped in this country, even when the plates have been imported. This method of computation has enabled Mr. Ayer, the special agent, to report that the production for the present fiscal year will equal one-third of the net imports during the fiscal year 1892.

The McKinley act provided that tin plates should be free of duty after October 1, 1897, unless the American production in some one year before that date equaled one-third of the net imports in some one year. If the production came up to the required third, the duty of 2.2 cents would be continued. This provision of the McKinley bill gives special importance to the question of what constitutes American tin plate within the meaning of the law.

Secretary Carlisle proposes to consider the matter carefully before taking final action, but it will not be surprising if he decides that plates made abroad and simply dipped in this country are not properly classified as American tin plate.

Oldest Living Senator.

BOWLING GREEN, Me., June 12.—There is now living in Augusta, Me., the Hon. James Ware Bradbury, who served in the United States senate six years, being chosen at the session of the Maine legislature in 1846 for the full term of six years, and at the commencement of the session, December, 1847 took his seat.

Among the members of this branch of the government at that time were David Webster, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, Thomas H. Benton, Lewis Cass, Stephen A. Douglas, William H. Seward and Salmon P. Chase.

Mr. Bradbury was born June 10, 1802, and is 91 years of age. He entered Bowdoin college in 1822 and graduated in 1825. Among his classmates were Henry W. Longfellow, Josiah Stevens Little, John S. C. Abbot and others.

THREATENS TO KILL.—Lane Thomas, a bartender, was arrested this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Geo. Smith upon a complaint sworn out in Justice Kinsey's court by U. S. Grant Baker for using threats against Mrs. Thomas of his wife.

Mrs. Thomas commenced divorce proceedings against her husband this morning and it is alleged that when he became aware of it he made various threats, hence the complaint by her brother. He will probably be arraigned this evening.

DON'T COMPARE.—Since home grown strawberries have begun to come into the market freely the attention is very naturally called to the comparison of the home product with that shipped in here from California earlier in the season. The strawberries grown in Lane county are of a much larger growth, do not have the shriveled appearance peculiar to the California fruit and have so much fresher and more palatable flavor that the berries from the Golden state are hardly worth the comparison.

OVER THE MOUNTAINS.—John Stewart started the large cattle drive over the mountains from the McKenzie today. The drivers are A. T. Pickard, Ed and Dale Owens, Bud Hyman, Alf Walker, Jim Taylor, Charlie Bowman and three others from near Lewiston.

WAREHOUSE.—Wm. Renshaw is making preparations to build a brick one and one-half story warehouse in the rear of his wholesale liquor store. It will be 14x99 feet in dimensions. The ground is now being excavated to a depth of two and one-half feet for the building.

CAVALRY HORSES PURCHASED.—Wm. Finizer, of Portland, has been at Bangs & Henderson's stable today, purchasing cavalry horses under a contract with the government. He bought six, the price paid ranging from $60 to $80 per head.

From New York to Boston.

Well, here we are at the supposed hub of America. We made the trip from New York in 14 hours over the Fall River line of steamers—the Pilgrim was our boat—and the Old Colony railroad. After our letter from New York we visited many places of interest in the commercial metropolis of America, among the number being Bartholdi's statue on Bedloe island, Central Park, Lincoln and Garfield parks, Grant's monument on the Hudson, Tammany hall, Castle Garden, and Ellis island, the last named being the place where all immigrants land. 5670 having landed the day before our visit, the World building, several theaters, the region of the aristocratic residences of the Vanderbilts, Astors, etc., and Morris' racing park.

The first day we were present at the races at Morris', a 5-year-old horse, ran a mile in 1:30, breaking the world's record which was formerly held by La Tosca in 1:29. Six races were run in two hours, and thousands of dollars changed hands on the results, and we did not hear an angry word spoken although over 15,000 people were present.

Princess Eulalia and party were occupants of a box and we got a good look at the little pieces of femininity which has been creating such a sensation in New York and Washington social circles. She is quite handsome, a blonde and very fair, and is a modest appearing lady. At the races we met Richard Croker, who owns New York city politically, and Mayor Gilroy. They are educated and pleasant gentlemen.

At the second days' racing one Paris mutual paid $10, and since that time we have been in mourning that we did not invest in said pool.

During our rounds of the great city we went through that portion of the city known as Five Points and Mulberry End. For poverty, filth and dirt we have never seen the equal. The Chinese quarters in San Francisco and Portland are places of cleanliness in comparison.

The ride from New York to here over the Fall River line, down the Long Island sound, is one of the grandest in the world and we felt like a king, although we were making the trip on a $3.25 scalper's ticket. The vessel, the Pilgrim, was much finer than our Potter and nearly double her size.

This morning we have visited Bunker Hill monument, Faneuil hall and Harvard college.

We forgot to mention the fact that while in New York we visited a foreign city—Jersey City. It is a pushing city.

The weather has been cool and pleasant.

The Siuslaw Bar Improving.

The steamer Roberts arrived on the 1st from the Siuslaw harbor, says the Vapula News. Captain Johnson reports having taken out three of the lumber laden schooners which have been waiting there for some time on account of the bar shoaling. The captain says the water is getting better on the bar now and he expects no further trouble this season. We hope that the next congress will appropriate sufficient funds to enable the harbor improvements on the Siuslaw to be pushed to an early completion as the rapid development of the lumber trade demands it.

TO THE REFORM SCHOOL.—Frank Weaver, the little boy who was left here by his father "Dr." Philip Weaver some time since upon removing to Nebraska, was examined before Judge Elk Saturday evening for vagrancy and committed to the state reform school. Deputy Sheriff George Smith took him down on the overland this morning. The boy was found a home with Hon. M. Wilkins but became lonesome and desired to be with his sister who was also left here. As he had no means of support and was thus made a bother to the community this measure was adopted as appearing the best for the greatest good for the boy and the community.

HORSE KILLED.—The 5 o'clock freight on Sunday afternoon ran into a culvert which had got caught in a horse in some way, just at the west edge of Fairmount. Both the horse's hind legs were broken which necessitated his being killed and he was shot by Foreman Patterson. The horse was the property of a Mr. Yeager of Fairmount and was valued at about $80.

NO GAME.—The Albany college boys are so busy preparing for their commencement next week that they have asked that the baseball game here be cancelled. They were to have played a matched game with the State university nine, at the campus in this city tomorrow.

Volume 5.

The DAILY GUARD commenced its 5th volume last Thursday and in the hurry of events it was unnoticed by us at that time.

The DAILY GUARD has built up a reputation among the press of the state as a first class country daily, and has received many compliments at home and abroad, for which we feel grateful.

Yet the home patronage is not what it should be, and the proprietors have done a great deal of work for which they received no recompense, our town subscription list should be double what it is. We know of many of our citizens who are able to take it, who prefer to borrow, or use their neighbor's paper, while advertising patronage is not what it should be in a town of the size of Eugene.

We do not speak of these matters in a captious or spiteful mood, but from a conviction that a better patronage is deserved. Our actual expenses are over $500 per month, not counting interest on the investment, the greater portion of which is paid in cash to employees and is spent in this town. Eleven persons are employed on the GUARD. We think few other enterprises in Eugene support so many.

The GUARD has uniformly given space, time, and when required, money, towards helping to build up Eugene and Lane county, for their interests are identical. It has advocated the best interests of the people even at a sacrifice of financial prospects. This has been the course pursued in the past and our readers may be assured no deviation will be made from it in the future.

Woodmen Unveiling Ceremony.

The showers yesterday interfered somewhat with the ceremonies of the Woodmen of the World camp, in the unveiling of the monument erected to the memory of their deceased neighbor, W. H. Matthews, inasmuch as it kept a considerable number at home. There was a fair turnout, however, more than thirty members of the lodge being present and altogether with friends occupied 25 vehicles.

The ceremonies of the unveiling were very impressive and eulogistic and as the symbolism of this fraternal order and those of the pioneer, there was also something peculiarly elevating about them.

The odes were sung by a quartette consisting of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McAlister, Miss Benetta Dorris and Mr. I. M. Glen. It is a part of the regulations of this order that the Head Camp of each jurisdiction furnish a fitting monument for erection over the grave of each deceased member within its jurisdiction. This one came from the Head Camp of the Pacific jurisdiction at Denver, and without cost to the local camp but upon their own part of the part of unveiling and dedication. Consul Commander S. E. McClure had charge of the ceremonies and after the unveiling an appropriate oration was delivered by Neighbor E. O. Potter. He referred to the death of their neighbor in February and observed that "an ever increasing intelligence has done much to dissipate the terrors of death, to render the last few labored steps of the journey less wearisome and to inspire within the breast of the departing traveler the well grounded hope that those who are trusted and dearest to him; for whose welfare and happiness he has planned and wrought, will not be left in strange hands nor be compelled to toil in want or beg for alms." Then followed references to the work and teachings of the order of Woodmen and to the life of the deceased closing with the assurance to the loved ones left behind that they were surrounded by friends "whose ties of friendship are the strongest human bonds."

Springfield News.

The latest enterprise on Mohawk is a paper called the Mohawk Press and is read at the White school every Friday.

The Springfield band already has under consideration two propositions to play on the Fourth of July. The boys will accept the best proposition of course.

Stray logs have been running down the river to the Eugene saw mill this week in advance of the regular drive which consists of about 2,000,000 feet.

W. B. Pengra returned from southern Oregon on the overland Saturday night. He reports everything quiet at the nickle mine, no settlement yet having been made with the men.

Rev. S. E. Milam has accepted a call from the Baptist church at Roslyn, Wash., where he will move his family at the end of his pastoral year at this place, which will be July 1. Rev. Milam is an earnest worker in the cause he represents, and the church at Roslyn will be benefited by Springfield's loss.

TO FISHERMEN.—Trout can only be taken from the 1st of April to the 1st of November, and cannot be sold or offered for sale except during the months of September and October. We are fish farmers, and our conscience is clear. We would be willing to give a benefactor, leaving a string of trout at this office, a free notice of his wonderful skill as a fisherman and vouch for it, even if the exploit was located on the upper McKenzie.

NEAT WORK.—A mounted cub cinnamon bear, and the skin of a huge black bear, dressed for a rug, with head and claws attached, are displayed at Auten's cigar store for raffle. They are fine specimens not only of the animals, but of taxidermy which we are informed, was the work of Glen Powers of McKenzie bridge.

MORHALE.—Miss E. H. Tarbet and her pupils in music gave a short musical to a number of invited guests at her studio last Saturday evening. There was a good attendance and the music which was of its usual good quality was highly appreciated.
